It is doubtful whether it can meet its fixed charges," said Brandeis.

"The New Haven's affairs are managed in the same reckless fashion. It has notes to meet within the next eight months amounting to between forty and fifty million dollars.

"Such management would be condemned in a railroad mining scheme." Speaking for the Boston Chamber of Commerce, Robert Homans declared that in no other part of the country had so formidable a transportation monopoly been developed as in New England by the N. Y. N. H. & H.

Discussing the situation in New England, Mr. Homans declared competition between the New Haven and the Boston and Maine, for instance, practically had been eliminated.

Lack of Competition.
The stimulus of competition being absent the service of the railroads, he said, naturally was inadequate and in many instances bad.
Edgar Rich, speaking for the Boston and Maine, declared if the road service to the public still was unsatisfactory, it was because the public was expecting a better service than it was paying for and if the demands of the public were further to be satisfied, an increase in rates must follow.

Charles F. Choate declared that while the commission's order called for an investigation of the New England railroad situation, it had investigated only the New Haven, Boston and Maine and the Maine Central.
He declared charges against the management of the New Haven found their origin in a "sour bitter, partisan and unfair."

WILSON IS HAPPY AT APPOINTMENTS

PRESIDENT GLOSSES OVER SOME SPOTS IN GIVING OUT FEDERAL JOBS.

NEW YORK AND KENTUCKY SPAT

The Visit of Chief Executive to the Senate is So Quiet It Attracts But Little Attention.

Washington, May 7.—President Wilson went to the capitol today for the fourth time and after an hour of conference with a score of senators, came away wearing a happy smile at having cleared up to his own satisfaction a number of troublesome situations that had arisen over appointments.

In New York and Kentucky factions of the democratic party for several weeks have been carrying their fight on appointments to the white house. By the nomination of John Purroy Mitchell to be collector of the port of New York, the president sent Senator O'Gorman, as well as anti-Tammany democrats here, who look upon Mr. Mitchell as an aggressive opponent of the Tammany organization.

Stands by James.
In Kentucky the president stood by Senator Ollie James by appointing Ben Marshall to be collector of internal revenue for the seventh district of Kentucky. A vigorous contest had been waged by former Governor Beckham, who supported for the place Desha Breckinridge of Lexington, a cousin of the assistant secretary of war, Henry C. Breckinridge. The selection of his choice brought keen satisfaction to Senator James.

The nomination of Gaylor M. Saltzger to be commissioner of pensions ended a long contest exerted from many sides on the president.

Talks About Tariff.
Mr. Wilson chatted briefly about the tariff situation with some of the senators and was informed that the democratic majority was working harmoniously to put the bill through.

The president's visit attracted little attention. The senate was in session while he was in the president's room. He came and went so inconspicuously that some of the senators on the floor were unaware that he was in the building.

already has been universally condemned. Business is more or less stagnated in the fear that your rates will injure industry. I hope that fear will disappear. But you are trying to disprove prosperity by threatening prosperity and if you succeed you will have accomplished the impossible. We turn over a prosperous country, where the people are happy, where there is work for all to do. Take it and see whether you can do as well as we have done for the country will judge you not by what you say here, but by the future.

As the republicans applauded, Representative Payne of New York arose. "I have heard mighty little criticism of the present law," he said. "There has been some denunciation, not much, from gentlemen who appear on this floor for the first time, and most of them for the last time. All of them say they don't like some of the provisions of this bill."

Holding Their Noses.
Shaking a finger at the democratic side of the chamber, Mr. Payne advanced across the well of the house and shouted:

"If those of you who are voting for this bill and holding your noses because you don't like the odor of it, were to vote according to your convictions, there would not be enough votes to insure its final passage."

Mr. Payne sat down and the chairman recognized Speaker Clark.

There was a roar of applause from the democratic side of the house as the speaker strode down the center aisle. Democrats and republicans alike arose out of respect to the speaker and stood until the applause subsided.

"In the language of the old hymn," said the speaker, "this is the way I have long sought."

He got no further. Applause that swept the floor and galleries left him silent in the midst of pandemonium.

After some time the noise subsided and he continued.

"A few of us have been fighting for twenty years to accomplish what we are going to do in a few minutes. We have faced a majority of 124 on the other side of the aisle. You now face a majority of 191."

The speaker congratulated Representative Underwood and the Democrats for the work in the preparation of the bill, and congratulated both sides of the house for the "courteous kindness and good feeling" that marked this consideration.

No Kick Coming.
"It seems our manners, as well as our politics, are improving in this house," he said. "No tariff bill was ever so thoroughly considered in the house. Two weeks in the democratic caucus—and they can say what they please about that caucus—brought about a unanimity in the house. We brought on no rule to limit debate or amendment. You can't kick or squabble that you did not have an opportunity to offer your ideas as to what should be in the bill. Unanimity in the house was not brought about by the lash of taskmasters. You Republicans say that the last time we passed a tariff bill we split up. This time we will pass the tariff bill and stick together."

"This bill is the consensus of the opinions of 218 men in the house, 49 in the senate and one man in the white house. We've got a bill on which we can go to the country and the country will rise and call us blessed."

"We want a wider market for our

MELLOW AS MOONLIGHT CASCADÉ PURE WHISKY

Better than Better
Cascade is a so vastly superior whisky that "better" is too weak a word for describing its purity, richness and mellowness. It is better than better. The grain used, our scientific distilling method, the painstaking process of purification and its honest aging could produce no other kind.

surplus products, and that's what this bill is going to give us."

Amid clamor that at times drowned voices of champions and opponents of the bill, the first democratic tariff in the history of the country was passed in the house at a late hour tonight.

Hurl Their Oratory.
Party leaders, primed for the final political thrust at the tariff, hurled their fires across the chamber with alternating currents of applause, reverberating through the chamber, the packed galleries frequently joining in the demonstration.

When the echoes of approving cheers had died away, after the defeat of the last republican amendment while the house was in the committee of the whole, Representative Garrett of Tennessee, chairman of the committee, turned the gavel over to Speaker Clark. Majority Leader Underwood then placed the bill before the house and moved its passage.

Prior to the vote on the last amendment Minority Leader Mann, Majority Leader Underwood and Speaker Clark were given rousing ovations.

Spirit of Triumph.
With an overwhelming Democratic majority on hand to send the bill on its way to the senate, the session tonight was marked by an exuberant spirit of triumph on the Democratic side of the central aisle.

Every member who could possibly attend was in his place to hear the conclusion of the debate on the bill and to cast his vote.

Although several Democrats had announced their intention of voting against the bill, Majority Leader Underwood and his lieutenants had plenty of votes on hand to insure its passage and the defeat of Republican and Progressive efforts to amend.

At the end of two weeks' political spellbinding and weary efforts to amend the bill, that marked its progress through the house, drew to a close, the prospect of a vote drew great throngs to the gallery.

Early in the evening all the seats were filled and the crowd had taken possession of the gallery aisles. After the gallery doors were closed the crowds continued to come, and soon scores were lined up in the corridors trying in vain to get a glimpse of the floor.

Champions Are Weary.
Down in the well of the house, Representative Underwood, flanked by his aides, democratic members of the ways and means committee, led the final movement of the two weeks' battle to pass his bill, dominating the actions of the democratic side and wearily watching the parliamentary evolutions of the opposition.

A few feet away was the leader of the republicans, Representative Mann of Illinois, with Representatives Payne of New York and Fordney of Michigan, the republican tariff experts, who for two weeks had maintained an unceasing fire of caustic criticism and amendments, and had kept up their forlorn fight to change the provisions of the bill.

The last skirmish on the details of the measure came on the administrative clause allowing a 5 per cent discount on the duty on all goods brought into the United States in American ships.

Republicans attacked this provision vigorously, declaring that it was "political buncombe," and that if it had any meaning it meant an advantage to foreign vessels and foreign shipping combines.

After an hour of vigorous debate an attempt to strike out the provision was met by a rolling chorus of democratic "noes."

Representative Mann reintroduced his tariff board amendment as a rider to the "dumping clause," which would assess a penalty not to exceed 15 per cent ad valorem on imports sold in this country at a lower price than abroad.

Representative Mann proposed that the secretary of the treasury, in arriving at a fair market value for such goods, be assisted by a tariff commission appointed by the president. This amendment was voted down after a debate of thirty minutes. An amendment by Representative Fordney to include articles on the free list in the "dumping clause" also met defeat.

The real parliamentary battle took place after the completion of the reading of the bill for amendment, when Representative Payne took the floor and presented for the republicans a lengthy motion which would have carried the bill back to the ways and means committee with instructions to alter various provisions.

It contained the republican bill for a tariff commission; the republican substitute for the wool schedule with a duty based on 18 cents a pound on raw wool; orders to prepare a cotton schedule, according to the report of the tariff body; orders to change all rates on the basis of the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad and to substitute specific duties for ad valorem rates wherever possible.

High Pay for Rabbi.
New York, May 7.—The Rev. Moses Hyamson, a prominent rabbi of London, England, and Jewish publicist, has been elected minister of the congregation Orach Chaim, one of the Orthodox Jewish churches in this city. It was announced today. He succeeds the Rev. Dr. Joseph H. Hertz, who was recently elected chief rabbi of Great Britain, and whom he recently opposed as candidate for that office. Dr. Hyamson will receive $5,000 a year, said to be the largest salary paid by any orthodox Jewish congregation in America.

The Moose lodge will give a dance tonight in their new hall in Auditorium building for all members and their friends. Entrance on Washington street.

JOHNSON HIT WOMEN

NEGRO PUGILIST BATTERED HIS WHITE WOMEN CONSORTS IN CHARGE.

Chauffeur Tells of Fighter's Meeting With Belle Schreiber—Woman Also Testifies.

Chicago, May 7.—White women who associated with Jack Johnson, negro heavyweight champion of the world, were used as involuntary partners, according to charges of government attorneys today in the trial of Johnson, charged with violation of the Mann law.

Harry A. Parkin, assistant district attorney, declared the evidence would show that Johnson directed his flaccid accomplishments against the women. "As a result of his treatment of these girls," Mr. Parkin said, "they were frequently sent to hospitals with blackened eyes and bruised bodies."

W. Jacobowski, Johnson's chauffeur, was the first witness. He told of Johnson's meeting Belle Schreiber, the woman he now is charged with having transported from Pittsburgh to Chicago, in Cleveland, and again in Detroit, and of Johnson having sent his automobile to take the woman from a hotel to the theatre where Johnson was appearing.

Lillian Henderson of Pittsburgh, the second witness, told of Belle Schreiber's leaving Pittsburgh in August, 1910.

TO GET LABOR LEADER HERE

Central Trades Council Will Invite Either John Mitchell or Samuel Gompers.

Definite decision to try to have either Samuel Gompers or John Mitchell as the guest of honor and the principal speaker on "Union Labor Day" at the 1913 Cotton Palace was reached at the regular meeting of the Central Labor Council last night. At that time on motion a committee composed of A. H. P. Corneliusen, E. F. Hooks, Edson Williams, W. C. Carry and W. H. Gramling was appointed to confer with the Cotton Palace directors with reference to inviting one of the distinguished labor leaders to Waco on labor day at the palace.

The matter was brought up by Mr. Corneliusen in a letter to the president of the Cotton Palace some days ago and the association promised him all the assistance possible in securing one of the leaders of labor. Last night the Central Labor Council put its brand of approval on the project and will make a strenuous effort in that behalf.

Union labor members in Waco and officers of the Cotton Palace feel assured that they will be enabled to bring one or the other here on that occasion.

Labor day at the palace is to be a bigger event than last year and the presence of some national labor leader would lend an attractiveness to the day which would bring union labor people from over the state.

Deaths and Burials

Mrs. Anna Reynolds Woodward.
Mrs. Anna Reynolds Woodward, aged 55 years, died at her home, 1512 Washington street, at 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Woodward was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Reynolds. Her father was a prominent druggist in San Marcos in which place she was born and reared.

She made many friends in Waco, where, as a girl, she visited her aunt, Mrs. J. P. Sample, and was most cordially welcomed when she returned here to live as the bride of W. I. Woodward. She has since that time made this her home and by her unselfish devotion to her friends and her sweet disposition endeared herself to all who came in contact with her.

All of her life she has been a great sufferer, but she was meekly and patiently borne the anguish, and in her great solicitude for those around her.

has oftentimes coaxed a smile to her lips, lest others should grieve in witnessing her pain.

She has been a devoted member of the Austin Avenue Methodist church. The members of her family who have been by her bedside during her last illness, are her sisters, Mrs. J. M. McCutcheon, Misses Lucy and Katherine Reynolds and Mrs. Tom Parks of Kyle, Texas; a brother, E. P. Reynolds, and her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Sample.

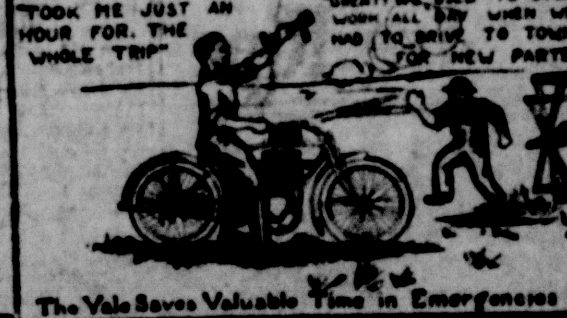

Rev. Hubert D. Kalkreuth, pastor of the Austin Avenue Methodist church, conducted services at the home yesterday afternoon. The body was shipped to San Marcos for burial early this morning.

MRS. W. B. BRAZELTON HAS THE LILY AUCTION

Owing to the tea of Mrs. George E. Zinsia it was decided that, for this week, the Lily auction should play on Monday. Mrs. W. B. Brazelton was the hostess. Noticed as a guest was Mrs. Sam Foot of New York city. The prizes were both pieces of china. They were won by Mrs. George E. Zinsia and Mrs. J. W. Bass. The next game will be on Tuesday with Mrs. E. Zinsia.

THE COLONIAL BRIDGE HAS CLOSED FOR SEASON

The first of the card clubs to adjourn in the Colonial bridge which played its last regular game with Mrs. Stark West on Tuesday afternoon. However, Mrs. E. F. Drake, as the president, has invited the club for an extra game. This will be for a morning hour at the Country club on next Tuesday. Mrs. West had no visitors to her game. The full club membership was present.

ITS STUDY YEAR

With the president, Mrs. E. J. Al-commodore the Review club has closed its study for the year. The prospect is bright for an unusually good year to come. The course of study has been lightened, and several of the former members have signified their intention of returning. In addition, there have been elected the Mesdames

W. O. Glavin, Carroll Davis, Wood

Starr, and Lee R. Davis. It was announced that other names are to be presented. The chairman of the study for the new year is Mrs. N. H. Church.

It is decided that there shall be current events and one author, the author of the Review club. There remains now the closing social season. Mrs.

Charlotte Ligon, a former member, has invited the Review club, also the European to be her guests at a date to be named. Others will be added, to make this one of the largest club closing events. The anticipation is that twenty active members will form the Review club for the new year.

SOCIETY HAS DIVERSION FROM THE TURKEY TROT

It has come that society now has a new dance topic. And it is one which has had first sanction from Miss Encanour Randolph Wilson, no lesser a lady than the president's own daughter. At the recent ball in Washington city for the relief of the Ohio flood sufferers, this dance was introduced, and the first to take the steps was Miss

Wilson. It will be known as the Fish

Walk. We do not just like the common term, fish, applied to the first city of the land, but, if it refers to the grace of the gliding animal, it may be adopted with all impunity. The dance is described as a graceful glide, then a turn, and at the last a merry little jump. Altogether the Fish Walk is suitable to the ball room, and it will stand in its own right as a rival to the unusually Turkey Trot, Tommy Trot and Bunny Hug. Society is inclined favorably, and many have already hailed it as the death knell to the questionable dances which have been under discussion and the ban of so many places. Who will be the first to walk in Waco?

CARDS WITH MRS. ALEXANDER FOR MRS. SOL DAVIS

For several weeks, Mrs. B. Alexander has been enjoying a visit from her daughter, Mrs. Sol Davis of Austin.

During this time, Mrs. Davis has been the recipient of much by way of social courtesy. As her visit is nearing its close, Mrs. Alexander acknowledged these attentions, by forming a bridge party of the hostesses to her daughter. Others not yet addicted to bridge paid a later call. The game was found to be the latest arrival, greeted during the passage of an ice brick.

Miss Bertha Alexander, the young daughter of the home, was assistant hostess. Thus, under such pleasing circumstances, was the au revoir given

Mrs. Davis. Prominent among the guests were the members of the Violet

Whist, in whose games Mrs. Davis has been included. Those invited were

MRS. GEORGE ZINSIA AT HOME ON TUESDAY

Many notes of pleasing import characterized the at home of Mrs. George Zinsia. First of all, this was the first gathering in a home and with a hostess denied these friends during an extended absence. Mrs. Zinsia, also had her guest of honor Mrs. Sam Foot of New York city, a young matron who had been previously among those who thus greeted her return. Again, Miss Sophia May Lambdin was honored as a popular visitor from Georgia. This by way of personal note to emphasize the prominence of the light tones of Mrs. Zinsia was especially happy in her provision for her guests who were arriving and departing for two hours.

She took the poppy now at its height of glory for her room decorations.

These were used in abundance, and gave a dance of the light quite in pleasing contrast to the light tones of the house party. The touch especially graceful was the poppy tied among the knots of white maline as it fell in long streamers from its electrifier bow over the punch table. This table was laid in an unusually handsome way. The refreshment service was punctuated by its crystal bowl, and sandwiches handed from bamboo baskets. A string band was in attendance.

The last hour found the men added to the group about the receiving rooms and reception hall. If one were to select just one word as descriptive of this occasion, that word would be cordiality. The costuming of the houseparty received much by way of compliment. In honoring the guests from out of the state, Mrs. Zinsia also gave tacit recognition of the cordial reception she has received back to the old home. Receiving with her were the ## Society Notes.

Mrs. Adelia Foster writes to her friends here that she is charmed with New York city. Her new daughter is altogether to her fancy, she is identified with the Southern clubs, and altogether finds much to keep away the homesick feeling for Waco.

The friends of Mrs. Frank Burket Baird here are now in touch with her through The Morning News, which takes to Mrs. Baird daily the happenings among her friends of the girlhood home.

There is not an issue of The Morning News which does not provoke from some woman a message of approbation for something said.

A new feature in gardening, that is for the women whose grounds are spacious, is a touch of water gardening. We like the idea of a miniature lake and the pond lily somewhere about the lawn.

It is worth the drive down to the square to see the landscape effect in the City Hall yard. Truly such a sight is refining. The hall grounds have never before been so well kept and beautiful. Now if a few more of the public places would receive the same attention.

circle from among the social set. We do not talk enigmas any more; rather, the term is, we converse in cubist language.

More and more the idea obtains that the yard shall be so planted that there shall be flowers the year round. To loiter around the street corners is bad enough in all conscience, but for young girls to take their seats upon the downtown goods boxes, this is the limit in propriety.

In the continued illness of Mrs. J. E. Starnard, the Jean Sherwood Mothers' club loses one of its most active and efficient workers.

The women must change their idea about one thing. That is, that to pay dues is doing one's duty towards an organization. Of course the dues shows good will for the enterprise, but dues alone cannot promote the cause. Every woman who possibly can should give active membership.

When you receive in private letter something of interest from an old Wacoan, tell The Morning News so that all may have the pleasing paragraph. Always bear in mind the sentiment of absent, though not forgotten.

Prepare for the commencement talk and excitement. The germs are in the air and we cannot kill them. Scarce one day passes that The Morning News editor is not approached concerning some point in social observance. One of the most frequent queries is, when and how to acknowledge an invitation? When the lull in social affairs comes, something will be written at length upon this subject. The situation is just what The News has expressed several times—Waco needs uniformity in social observance.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Jarman have announced their intention of a summer sojourn in Virginia.

There is now a "Romola" list of beauty parlor articles. We do not just see the application. Romola, above all girls, simple in her dress and deeply religious, was nothing if not natural.

With early June Mrs. William Pogue becomes matron of the Curtis home on Lyle avenue. Since possession is not given at once, Mrs. Pogue has returned to her present home in Albany for the interim.

The next club entertainment as a closing celebration comes with the Henry Downs chapter. Daughters of the American Revolution. The details and the date are yet to be made definite.

Have a thought towards making The Morning News the directory for all which pertains to women in her daily life, social, religious and literary. It is only through this thoughtfulness that the entire field can be covered.

Just for the fun of an experience, the next time you are in a company of women, find out how many can repeat the first verse of our national anthem; may more, find out how many can tell what the name of the anthem is. American women are sadly derelict in this regard.

Flowers on the veranda and litter at the curbing is rather an inconspicuous effect for civic beauty. Why not more women wear the automobile cloth? The effect is quite to the up-to-date appearance of the driveways.

THE TRADE TRIP.

Lately we urged that the big trade trip for big trade representative merchants of this city will take today under the auspices of the Young Men's Business League, to cities along the Cotton Belt road northeast to Tyler, be dedicated chiefly to making friends for Waco. Let each merchant and his representative get all the business he can for his concern, but let these traders from Waco unite, all of them, in making it known in every community visited that Waco is directly and deeply interested in its progress and its relation to the development of this section of the great State. Let it be an excursion not only to make business friends for Waco's business men, to foster old business and promote new, but let the business men make genuine friendships for their city—the coming center of the business and commerce of Texas.

So we are pleased to note the attitude taken in the meeting of the League Tuesday night was prompted by the whole-hearted desire to make friends for Waco as a city, not merely to make customers for its merchants—though we are proud to know, trading with Waco merchants invariably results in creating enthusiasm for the city whence the merchandise is obtained. With Chairman W. H. Hoffmann of the trade excursion committee we urge that "every firm send one of its members to visit the people with whom he has business and every good citizen make the trip in the interest of the city."

The Morning News today presents to the trade and friend makers of Waco and to the city a comprehensive account of the territory to be traversed and the cities to be visited. Industrial, agricultural, commercial and financial strength and resources are shown; civic activities, especially city building by citizenship that makes the most of its real estate holdings by promoting the growth of population and adding to the number of business houses, make a striking record. These are good cities, prosperous communities—wide-awake, ambitious and modern citizenship in each. The territory must be given the earnest interest of Waco's enterprises, for Waco is its logical business center as well as the point of vantage geographically for disposing of its products. When this city shall be head of the Brazos opened to navigation trade from the section to be visited today will flow through here as naturally as South Texas exportation depends on the port of Galveston.

It will not only be an occasion to exploit goods sold in Waco, but to exhibit the superior products made in Waco. The trade trip is an advertisement that will bring lasting benefit to this city and its business.

And it will be a source of pride to the Waco excursionists to be able to report with truth that the progressive majority of their fellow citizens rapidly are coming to direct and control every phase of city building, public and by individuals, that Waco may be thoroughly a city worthy of being the trade center of Texas.

Axtell, Mt. Calm, Hubbard City, Dawson, Purdon, Corbett, Corsicana, Powell, Kerens, Trinidad, Malakoff, Athens, Murchison, Brownsboro, Chandler and Tyler—a "cracking good" itinerary of live cities—all heartily friendly to Waco's interests, all disposed to co-operate for the common benefit of their own resources and upbuilding and the commercial advancement of the trade center.

From the heart of the world's greatest cotton country to the heart of the State's greatest fruit region is the novel program today for Waco's business men. With their usual unstinting hospitality, the cities along the Cotton Belt will give good entertainment. And the hospitality will be of the most praiseworthy sort—with home products.

Worthwhile refreshment at the journey's end—Tyler's strawberry feast.

May the trade trip be a success in every way. This is the way to make Waco indispensable to a territory of an extent that can be boasted by no other city in Texas.

We are constructing here a magnificent municipality.

VALUE RECEIVED FOR WACO.

In the report of tax values of this city under the lately adopted Somers system, submitted Monday to the city commission, there appear the franchises and easements of public service corporations for taxation, totaling in value $353,300. This is genuine news, and good. It is also, as the late Thomas B. Reed used to say, "high time the deed was done." It is a new departure for Waco, and therein Waco loses another feature of its uniqueness it might have, and should have, lost with profit some years since. It appears the Somers system carries all before it, playing no favorites and manifesting no sympathy for the fact that the city is leasing useful property to two of the largest public utility corporations herein for some $148 the year, whereon they may manufacture light and power into dividends while the commonality puts up its five dollars deposit for a meter. We welcome this opportunity for the city to recoup and salute the Somers system.

Tax values of realty alone are advanced upwards of five millions of dollars under the Somers system's findings. That is excellent news; we expect personality will advance in value proportionately. Taxed even at two-thirds of these values a fat sum will pour into the city treasury in excess of last year's revenues. But franchises and easements of public service corporations will be taxed at full value; $353,300 is added to the valuation that comes under the application of the tax rate. Waco's scheme of taxation looks up overnight in earnest. Other Texas cities, those using the Somers and those that do not use it (with San Antonio a notable example of the latter for some years), have seen no reason why they should donate for the people to those interests supported directly by the people. And in Houston, Galveston, Beaumont and San Antonio, and other cities, corporations pay taxes also on their realty—the realty whereon their plants are situated; they do not operate street car lines and lighting systems from city property leased on the Kathleen Mavourneen plan—it may be for years and it may be forever—at $148 annual rental. Things are happening in Waco with a vengeance—in fact, with several vengeance. If there is any good reason why public utility franchises and easements should not be taxed, these corporations have not yet succeeded in "showing" the cities of every section of this nation; in Texas cities, as elsewhere, they have come across gracefully with the annual checks and, we surmise, with a wrinkle in the corners under the eyes from grinning for that they had escaped the contribution so long. So we conclude there is every reason why franchises should be taxed; they are taxed everywhere, they will be taxed in Waco, of course, after many years—and in Waco's behalf we salute the Somers system. It asked no questions.

With Southern Traction's franchise taxed at $150,000 and Texas Power & Light's at $20,000, the city fathers may, for a brief space, look on that $148 annual rental with feelings not quite as mixed and perturbation not quite as keen.

And our compliments to Mr. William Young, the Somers system expert who has been establishing modern methods in Waco's taxing situation, for brisk, thorough, invaluable assistance and instruction. The complexity of his reality report is alluring and the physiognomy of his franchises and easements structure impels our admiration.

PAY THEM ENOUGH.

"Good for the State senate!" applauds the Chicago Record-Herald. "The anti-pass bill introduced by Senator Hurburgh has passed that body, only six votes being cast against it. The measure prohibits the railroad pass graft and stops there. There is no exception in favor of any officials. There is no attempt to dicker with the public, which, as Senator Hurburgh said in the short debate, is opposed to free transportation and other privileges that put public servants under obligation to common carriers. The legislators are paid enough for their services, and they are allowed mileage. They travel too much during the session, but a reasonable request for an increased mileage allowance would be entertained and decided on its merits. There is some doubt as to the action of the house committee on the measure. But we have revised rules, and what are these good for if bills cannot be rescued by the majority? The decent men in the house should see to it that the anti-pass bill gets fair play. It will not be defeated in broad daylight if the representatives are all forced to go on record."

"The legislators are paid enough for their services"—that is the answer in a line to the clamor that attends every session of the legislature in States that have struggled under the parsimony of an electorate misled into rigid adherence to public service salary scales that became inequitable and corrupting twenty-five years ago; the clamor against the "corruption" of the paid lobby and the sickening recurrence of the hypocrisy that an intelligent man, with a family to support, who serves his State at five dollars a day, should not accept employment from public or private corporation during his term in the assembly. With each session of the Texas legislators, especially, there recurs this animated discussion of our legislators' pay and this asinine kick at the "lobby" and the danger of corruption therein, the whiles there springs up in the State a group of self-assumed experts in legislative ordering who tell us our legislators are compensated quite adequately—the reason for the inefficiency of our biennial statesmen, they would convince us, is not in the fact that we take 180-odd men from their business in the busy season and expect him to serve Texas wholeheartedly for five dollars a day with a drop to Negro porters' pay at the end of sixty days. Out of the tireless repetition of such furores and the growing assurance that the State cannot possibly be capably and conscientiously served, under such conditions, comes such agitation as that of Kansas for the commission form of State government. Governor Hodges' proposal appears to be spreading like wildfire in popular esteem and press commendation, at that.

"The legislators are paid enough for their services"—that is the answer to the movement to do away with the lobby, the answer to the wall against inefficiency and the playing of poor politics during the sessions, the answer to the demand of the smug genius from the woods that representatives be forbidden to take the check of a corporation for services quite apart from their public service, during the term of the latter. When Texas shall cease to listen to those who sputter that what was good enough for the "founders of the Republic" is good enough for us in the matter of getting public servants worthy their hire, even if the new order of things is to be an entire reformation of the system of legislative representation that our public servants, in being paid what they are worth, will be of a sort worthy of decent pay; when Texas shall learn to laugh at the fulminations of its periodic school of experts on legislative system who say that decent pay is not a question involved, it will have surcease from the detrimental agitation that follows every convening in Austin. Common sense practice, not theories, is the present pressing need.

EACH FAIRLY PAID.

"It is an interesting commentary on comparative values in a modern seat of learning—one instructor is proficient in kicking and the other in thinking. A great university pays more for knowledge by the foot than by the head."

The Mobile Item jests thus at the fact that Dr. Hugo Munsterberg receives $4,000 a year for teaching Harvard students the psychology of the business man, the witness and the criminal, and the annual compensation of Mr. Percy D. Houghton, the university's football coach, is $7,500 "for giving instruction to athletes as to how to wield the foot scientifically in dropping a goal from the field, and when, where and how to kick the anatomy of an opponent. A statistician has figured that Professor Munsterberg receives during the collegiate year five and two-thirds cents a minute for his appeal to the adolescent intellect, while Houghton gets a dollar a minute for his instruction in pedal dexterity during the twelve weeks of the football season."

The Item's items of Mr. Houghton's service are naively curious. It quite overlooks the slight fact that the coach in a powerful athletic student body like Harvard's has quite as difficult a task as the instructors in Dr. Munsterberg's department with their lectures two or three times a week and their periodic conferences and examinations, while the head of the department merely lectures, writes and advises his colleagues in their own work. We think it is rather an Herculean task, whipping into shape a strong, quick, scientific football squad—several teams, in fact—out of a few hundred applicants at the beginning of the season who are handicapped by a sense of their preparatory school importance. From the first reporting day in September up to the Yale game in the latter part of November the football coach at Harvard, and his assistants, have a work to do infinitely more exacting than the work of a lecturer in psychology. Their work, too, requires something of expertise in human nature—the training of men to obey, to do team work, to move quickly. Mr. Houghton earns $3,500 more than Dr. Munsterberg; the Item would admit it if it watched him work.

MERIT IN CONSULAR SERVICE.

Eastern newspapers are finding the action of certain Southern States in respect to changing the consular service system matter for extended criticism. Especially is the commendation of the Southern press for the order of the government that will put an end to the use by those in the service of their positions to foster private enterprises and private gain in the countries of their station commented on as part of the South's plan to "fit in" a reorganized system, a change in the appointive method that will "give Southern men a chance." As a matter of fact, this order has been commended merely because it is considered elevatory of the nature of the service rendered by consuls; no consul can do his full duty as the representative of a nation when his personal interests impel him to stretch points of international relations in order to keep the friendship of the nation to which he is sent, and in which his personal fortunes lie.

Several Southern senators have now shown their hands in a way calculated to demonstrate that Dr. Harlan was a true prophet (the Boston Transcript claims). Three States are represented in the attack upon the present consular system, through the Senators Bacon, Johnston and Williams. They call for a modification or suspension of the present method and make the plain that the South has not been fairly represented in filling the various consulates. But we cannot see why it is necessary to change the system, even if the charge were true, and thus far that is merely asserted with no effort to prove it. The candidates undergo competitive examinations under the direction of the Department of State, while those appointed are thereafter responsible to the Department of Commerce. It is hardly to be supposed that applicants from the South would not be given a square or even a liberal deal as the former department is now organized and if they failed to round out the quotas from their State, it would be because their fitness could not be proved.

The reference to Harlan is in the Transcript's belief that "perhaps there was something prophetic in an address before the National Association of Manufacturers in New York, five years ago, by Prof. Richard D. Harlan of the George Washington University, in which he said: 'No matter which of the two parties wins next time. I do not believe that any president would dare reintroduce the spoils system in the consular service.... It is more than theoretically possible, however, that under some president we might have an executive order, changing the conditions under which we are now working and condemning the consular service to be again administered under the old principle that to the victors belong the spoils.'"

Fault is found with the statement of Senator Williams that "if the president does not change the system the nominations ought to be opposed." It is said that if the president does change the system he should be "opposed by the whole country," even should the senate refuse to join, unless such change shall be for the better. "Though the movement is somewhat veiled in the phraseology that brings it to the surface, the whole tendency of it is to put this country back a quarter of a century with respect to one of its most important branches of service. We entertain more respect for the president than to believe he will yield to this clamor and the pressure that it heralds. While waiting for a reluctant congress to give the present method the force of law, the responsibility upon the president is all the greater to stand in the gap and see that the movement does not go backward."

But our Eastern friends have said nothing concerning the order that the consular service must be purged of self-seeking, personal exploitation of position, by this "wonderfully improved" consular service of the past twenty years of Republican patronage. The South is taking a stand for merit in the consular, as in every other, government service, and its request that the system be changed "for the better" is not subject to the criticism of office-seeking, as we view it.

Texas Viewpoints

Well, Hardly.

It is announced that the government has issued 12,000,000 cook books, which encourages the prediction for the lower cost of living.—Teague Herald.

This good-natured man doesn't know that domesticated domestic economists have ascribed to the cook book a fearful share of the blame for the h of l. Let us hope these 12,000,000 latest aids to the grocer and butcher will fall in the hands of experienced, some-years-married housewives.

Something for Summer Study.

The legislature will convene in July for another try at passing laws for the development of the commonwealth, and to furnish food for gossip through the hot months. Nobody believes fish stories any more, so they must have legislative yarns to spin.—Corsicana Democrat and Truth.

But both sorts are fishy, as a rule, and most of us regret that the bulk of legislative yarn that is spun unravels when the supreme court and the governor have a pull at it.

Claude is Concerned.

We notice Editor Callan is improving the suffragettes to allow him to keep his pants until he learns to sew, and we would just like to drop him a hint that with the prevailing styles his probation would not last long, for there's not much sewing to be done on the present day costume, especially if he chooses the two-piece, artistically slashed skirt, three-quarter sleeves and Dutch neck.—Hamilton Record.

If friend Record is speaking from more than mere observation of the plates in his wife's fashion periodicals or of the motion pictures' exposure of what they are not wearing in Paris, this is a distinctly attractive invitation to the rest of us, to Hamilton. But we think he has sized up wrongly the editor of the Menard Messenger's preferences in dress, if Callan's sparkling squiblets are to be taken as indicating his special bent. We think he would prefer bombazine (is that the way it's spelled, Ole?) with capacious pockets and sufficient sweep at the base to conceal his feet. Callan in a slashed skirt and Schwenker in a hobble would be a sight for gods and men. If we must relinquish trousers, we would like to have the direction of what Texas Press shall wear. Jim Handsome Sullivan of the Express would appear in baby blue with ruffles and the stout boy at Austin in a red pinafore.

The New Texas.

Ablene is justly proud of the varied educational activities which make its chief distinction. That a little city built on a Texas prairie in a few years should have two colleges, a high-class preparatory school, a business college and a typical public school system is a remarkable fact. Our educational activities are an indubitable proof that we are an aspiring people. We want to do our part in making the world—our part of it—a better place to live in.—Ablene Reporter.

On this showing Ablene has real reason to be proud of its progress; educational institutions are the surest indication that a community—especially a Texas community—is in the van of modernity. We trust the above will come to the notice of Mr. Richard Harding Davis who, in "Soldiers of Fortune," includes Ablene in the "bad" towns of his hero's younger days.

Whyfore?

The best evidence we have that the suffragettes are going to succeed is the fact that Henry Watterson is fighting them.—Washachuck Light.

That's not only hard on Henri, but it doesn't mean a thing for the women. Newspaper opposition will hurt their cause in some sections more than newspaper support will help it—and we should imagine Kentucky is of this disposition. The Bourbons still possess some power to sway sentiment in places where sentiment is supreme. But the Light is in good company, as concerns its conclusion. The New York Tribune is taking a shot at the old colonel almost daily—rather, at his old-fashioned views.

The Lure, or the Love?

S. T. Compton, who founded and owned the Crawford Grit for nine or ten years and then sold it to engage in farming in East Texas, has again abandoned the farm and is in the newspaper business in Granbury, Tex. It's pretty easy for a newspaper man to quit the printing business, but it is awfully hard to stay quit, and few succeed in staying out long at a time.—Moody Courier.

And Editor Fox will admit, too, that it's easier to quit than to begin. And this is about the time of year when the paragraphs whose lives are disgruntled are telling us wise newspaper men quit the game some five years ago and are now rolling in their own motor cars and operating strings of picture shows. In the spring the young scribbler's fancy falls heavily into thoughts of loafing. Got busy!

Paces Beyond the River. (Georgetown Commercial.) Mayor Gus Jones of San Antonio died suddenly of apoplexy Monday night. Last year Mayor Bryan Callaghan died while in office. Let us hope that no man rejoices at the death of Mayor Jones as they did when Mayor Callaghan "passed over the river" to his eternal reward. Political passions are awful and ought not to reign in the hearts of Christian men.—Georgetown Commercial.

Not should there "reign in the hearts of Christian men" the desire to recall aught but good of the dead, if the dead cannot be permitted to rest in peace. God will accord to every man that which he earned, so why should we who remain on earth withhold it? Judge Callaghan was of the very heart of San Antonio for nearly thirty years. There were innumerable more and hearts than glad hearts in the city when he died; those whose enmity was political only followed the cortege to the grave. And, like Knoch Arden, "when he died the little part had seldom seen a costlier funeral." His friends were legion.—Waco Morning News.

The democracy of death is the irrevocable fate of all men—the mighty and the humble, the rich and the poor. Not long ago a poor, fleeing convict was shot to death as he was escaping to see his sick baby at home and fell lifeless to the ground. At the same moment J. Pierpont Morgan died in Rome surrounded by all that money and the world could give. Perhaps Morgan had stolen more money than the convict. Roth had to go to God in the same hour. Thousands and millions of men with money and titles live as though they were immortal, and there never die, and were eternal on the earth. Arrogance, bitterness, prejudice, malice, venom and hate will perish with them in the grave. Their professions will not save them. Loud prayers, badges, buttons and buckles will not save them from their reward. Doing evil to their fellow men. What shall it profit a man to slay his brother and meet a just punishment in the Beyond? His gain is here only for a few days.

Intercoastal Canal.

(Galveston News.) All along the coast country from the Sabine river to the Rio Grande people are making plans to attend or participate in the great celebration opening of traffic that part of the intercoastal canal between Galveston and Corpus Christi. This celebration is to be held June 12 and 13. It is expected that almost a thousand vessels will be in the line that is to be reviewed by members of the Interstate Inland Waterway League and the thousands of people who are expected to participate in the celebration on that occasion. It will be a water pageant worthy the attention of two states, not only for its spectacular value, but as an indication of the coming into being of a great factor in the commerce of Texas and Louisiana. The intercoastal canal is projected from the Mississippi river to the Rio Grande. The Galveston-Corpus Christi section is now almost ready for use. It will be formally opened to traffic with the great celebration that is to be held in this city under auspices of the league that has been working for this canal for a number of years. Following the opening of this section of the canal it is expected that there will be a vast and constantly increasing volume of traffic through it. It will be a factor in the freight rate situation of the coast country and will operate as a development agency that can have no parallel if its opportunity be accepted by the people. The celebration that Galveston is now preparing for is going to mark an era in the commerce and industry of the Texas and Louisiana coast region.

McLennan Log Drags.

(Waco News.) No county in Texas can boast of as many split log drags in operation on the public highways as can McLennan county. More than 150 of these devices are now doing duty and organizations are being formed to put more into use. The commissioners' court has offered a bonus of $100 to the owner of every log drag contributed by individuals for the operation of the drag, and the result is numerous drags with the roads in the best condition ever known.

New Texas Law

The last legislature enacted a law requiring corporations to make their franchise tax reports to the secretary of state during the month of January hereafter. The bill follows:

Section 1. All corporations that are now required by law to pay an annual franchise tax shall, between the first day of January and the first day of February of each and every year, be required to make a report to the secretary of state, on blanks furnished by him, which report shall give the authorized capital stock of the corporation, the capital stock issued and outstanding, the surplus and undivided profits of the corporation, and the amount of each corporation's, and the amount of the last annual, semi-annual or quarterly dividend. If the capital stock issued and outstanding exceeds the surplus and undivided profits, the franchise tax shall be based on this amount instead of the authorized capital, but if it shall be less, then the franchise tax shall be based on the amount of capital stock, but no corporation shall be required to pay a greater rate of franchise tax by reason of its having a surplus than a corporation that has no surplus.

Sec. 2. Any corporation which shall fail or refuse to make the report as provided in Section 1 hereof shall be subject to a fine of ten dollars for each and every day after the first day of February that they shall fail to make such report. The attorney general of the state is hereby empowered and directed to bring suit against such corporation in either of the district courts of Travis county, in the name of the state of Texas, for the collection of such penalties that may be due by reason of such failure.

Sec. 3. The reports required by this act shall be deemed to be privileged and not for the inspection of the general public, but any party or parties who are interested in the subject matter of any report may, upon request in writing made to the secretary of state, secure a copy of same.

Sec. 4. The following officers of each and every corporation shall be deemed competent to make the report required by this act: The president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, general manager, and all reports officially and sworn to before some officer authorized by law to administer oaths.

Sec. 5. All laws and parts of laws in conflict with this act are hereby repealed, but where this act is not in conflict with any existing law it shall be held to be amendatory thereof.

News Replies and Remarks

Very Successful Jest. The Dallas Times-Herald states that a Dallas man moved his family to Waco recently, and that the Waco papers got out an extra, featuring that incident.—Gainesville Register.

It Was the Arlington Journal. Now that the Waco Morning News has referred to the youthful editor of the Austin Statesman as "Editor Lickridge," his place in history seems secure.—Georgetown Commercial.

It Would Be H—shen. Waiting, eagerly waiting. Suppose California should not agree with W. Wilson and W. Bryan?—Waco News. Wouldn't it be awful, Mabel?—Houston Post.

A Sign From Somnolencia. They are preparing to pipe gas into Waco. The poor old town may need gas, but the man who would bring more hot air into the burg should be arrested for overstocking an already crowded market.—Austin Statesman.

Got a Directory. Waco is to begin the erection of another modern hotel.—Tyler Courier-Times.

What is the street address of those now in existence, please?—Austin Statesman.

No Nature Fakers. A Fort Worth cow gives one-fifth of a barrel of milk daily. Waco has a horse 45 years old, and a Dallas man a parrot that boasts of twenty-seven summers and as many winters. There are no nature fakers under the blue skies of Texas.—Fort Worth Record.

A Tidy Compliment. "There is no cause for pessimism, even now," says the London foreign office. Quite true, and there never has been. Texas has enough colonels in Houston and Waco newspaper offices to whip Mexico, even without an army with banners behind them.—New Ulm Enterprise.

It Would Be No Less Abound. For putting foolish, false ideas in children's heads, the school board of Muskogee, Okla., is entitled to special mention. It has ordered caps and gowns for the graduation exercises in the high school.—Waco News. Why not confer a degree upon them?—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Figures Don't Lie, But. The Austin Statesman has not been heard from concerning the Commercial Secretaries' report of building permits for the leading Texas cities, for the first quarter of 1913. Waco, $470,519. Austin, $142,415.—Waco News. The Commercial Secretaries need enlightenment—that is all.—Austin Statesman.

More Austin Day Dreams. The Austin beautiful campaign sounds good to us. There is just one thing, however, that we want the wicked paragraphs of Waco to understand. Austin is already the prettiest city in Texas. We are merely enhancing its natural charms with the addition of a few little improvements that man may offer to his own premises.—Austin Statesman.

No Time for Politicking. Editor Fitzgerald has announced that if James Hays Quarles of The News should be elected senator, that he would offer some excuse to keep from serving. If Fitzgerald is correct, then score Quarles as one more brainy man living in Texas. Quarles is making too much of a success in the journalistic field to afford to dabble with such rotten business as Texas politics.—Merced News.

Sets and Gossamer. Waco is to provide pensions for employees who have been in the service twenty-five years or more. Why not a pension for newspaper men who have been in the service twenty-five years or more? Real newspaper men do more in the building line than the men of any other profession. Their pensions come in the form of brickbats, mostly, or jail sentences. But then, newspaper men draw extraordinary salaries and their wealth accumulates so fast that it is next to impossible for them to get rid of that stuff called the root of all evil.—Fort Worth Record.

Dodging the Alamo. Waco News: Years ago a young reporter dashed this warning across the wall on one of the editorial rooms of The News: "Get the Alamo and lose your job." But that was before the Daughters of the Republic were displaced by the Father of the State.

"Remember the Alamo" was the slogan before Texas became a republic and the Alamo was a battle site. If it ever since, it has been a monetary asset for San Antonio, however, as evidenced in its nickname, "The Alamo City." But the ladies, God bless them, can be the innocent means of raising as big a row as occurred when the Texas Alamo was burned out and cause even newspaper editors whose chief source of life is trouble and annoyance, to balk on the job of even remembering so interesting and historic a relic as the Alamo.—Marshall Messenger.

Frank of Frank. Frank legislation we have had in Texas sunnys. Some was unbalanced, some was and some just funny.

And now they play a brilliant trick "Gentle shipping liquor. Our dry town friend may be quite a trick."

Let him get trick. Bootleggers now will celebrate in divers places. The pro's, their noses amputated, To spite their faces.

—Waco Morning News.

Frank legislation we have had through many years; The world laughed at our plight as and. Our doubts and fears, They've put our business on the "bum."

And spent our taxes, Cussin' graft and fighting rum, And "grindin' axes."

They've played the game for selfish ends. Without solution; And now they cry (to make amends): "Let's change the constitution."

FACE CHARGES OF BRIBERY

Probabilities Are Convicted Demoted Inspectors Will Not Fight Their Conviction:

New York, May 7.—Until sentence is passed next Friday, no one knows just what move will be made by court set for the defense in the case of the four former police inspectors, Sweeney, Thompson, Huasey and Murtha—all found guilty last night of conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Each faces a year in prison and each is also under indictment for bribery. It was intimated at the district attorney's office today that it may rest with the defendants whether they are to be tried on the bribery charge.

If their lawyers make a fight against the verdict just returned, it is understood that District Attorney Whitman will press the bribery cases, which involve a felony and carry on conviction a much heavier sentence than the prisoners now face.

If the defendants expiate the crime of which they now stand convicted, Mr. Whitman may not punish the remaining cases.

Took Little Time.
The conviction of the demoted police inspectors required less than 40 minutes. It was declared by District Attorney Charles Whitman today to be likely to lead to "still more important work" in clearing the police situation.

The results so far of the ten months war to end the police system's "carnival of graft" have included the conviction or pleas of guilty by ten policemen and the conviction of several associates in crime.

The list begins with Lieutenant Charles Becker, who was convicted last October of the instigation of the murder of Herman Rosenthal in July, because the latter threatened to expose police graft.

In November four gunmen were convicted of the same crime and sent to Sing Sing, where, with Becker, they are under sentence.

Not Was Wide.

The Becker-Rosenthal case led to a general investigation of the sale of police protection for vice and crime. Revelations were made which forced Policemen Eugene Fox and Captain Walsh to pleas of guilty of bribery, a confession to grafting by Policeman James E. Wrenn, the conviction of J. J. Hartigan, a patrolman, on charges of perjury, the conviction of Policeman T. F. Robinson on charges of extortion, and the conviction yesterday of the four demoted police inspectors on conspiracy in plotting to buy the silence of a witness against them.

The investigation will not stop here," said the district attorney. "I shall carry it through to the end."

The four convicted police officers were dismissed from the department this afternoon by Commissioner Waldo.

Gangsters Kill Five.

New York, May 7.—Gunmen of the east side killed their fifth man within four days today. He was Antonio Scammarino, formerly of Dayton, Ohio. The assassin used a shotgun, firing from the shadow of a doorway and escaped.

The four other recent murders include that of David Minzer, shot during the rush hour last night by three gangsters on the Williamsburg bridge.

Approved Reserve Agents.

Austin, May 7.—The department of insurance and banking today approved the following banks as reserve agents for state banks:

Union National Bank of Houston and the Security Trust company of Houston for the Guaranty State Bank of Ponca.

Citizens National Bank of Tyler, for the First Guaranty State Bank of Jacksonville.

First National Bank of El Paso, and the Seaboard National Bank of New York, for the First State Bank of Clint.

DECIDE I. & G. N. CASE

SUPREME COURT HOLDS THE SHOPS SHOULD REMAIN IN PALESTINE.

Holds Injunction Was Properly Granted—Offices May Be Returned From Houston.

Austin, May 7.—The supreme court affirmed the case of the International and Great Northern railroad vs. Anderson county et al, holding that the injunction was properly granted forbidding the removal of the machine shops and round houses from Palestine.

Upon hearing on merits, it appears as though the offices will have to be returned to Palestine from Houston, where they were taken before the injunction was obtained.

Assistant Justice Nelson Phillips prepared an elaborate opinion holding that the venue locations, must keep their shops and offices at such places and cannot remove same; that notwithstanding this is a new I. & G. N. company, it is bound in respect to its offices and shops as was the old company which was given the considerations allowed in the petition.

When these facts of contractual considerations are proven upon trial of the case upon merits, then the offices will have to be returned to Palestine. The one loop hole for the railroad is to prove that it made no such contracts, or that the contracts were made by the persons representing the company were not such officers as authorized and empowered to bind it up in such covenants.

If it could do either of the last, then the judgment would be in its favor.

In the meantime the shops remain at Palestine.

STILL TOUTING SENATOR WORKS

California Legislature Continues to Stir up Strife in State.

Sacramento, May 7.—Senator Sanford, democrat, whose resolution calling on the legislature to endorse United States Senator John D. Works for his work in congress on behalf of the single presidential term, which has been the cause already of much strife, in the senate today offered another resolution which proposes to endorse Senator Works for his course in behalf of national equal suffrage. Every effort has been made by the administration leaders to resist the step proposed by Sanford. Although the majority party voted almost unanimously for the election of Works two years ago, his criticism of the progressive party caused him to be disowned by the state organization that sent him to Washington.

The United States imported 25,000,000 pounds and exported 70,000,000 pounds of tinplate in 1911.

Galveston, May 7.—Harben pitched tight ball against the Waco Navigators this afternoon. By pounding Fritz hard in almost every inning Galveston had little difficulty in taking the opener of the series, 5 to 2. The first run of the visitors came in the third and was due directly to Dodd's error. Reilly's long home over the left field fence in the ninth accounted for the other tally. Fritz's worst inning was the third when three walks and three singles accounted for three runs. Umpire McKee benched McMahon in the third for too much kicking.

Chicago 4, Brooklyn 3.

Brooklyn, May 7.—Chicago stopped Brooklyn's winning streak today, taking another sensational battle by the score of 4 to 3. Remarkable fielding on both sides kept down the score. Cutshaw and Bridwell divided the honors. Cutshaw prevented two Chicago runs in the fifth inning by rushing over and taking Archer's hot grounder that went through Daubert and tossing the runner out to Allen, who covered first. Bridwell saved the game for Chicago in the eighth, when with two men on the paths he made a brilliant one-handed stop of Smith's torrid smash which looked good for two bases. Bresnahan got a homerun on a drive which hit the concrete fence and and caromed away from Wheat. Dahlen brought out nearly all his reserves in the seventh and ninth, using sixteen players in all.

New York 6, Cincinnati 4.

New York, May 7.—New York again defeated the Cincinnati here today 6 to 4. Benton was wild and was hit hard. He was relieved by Packard, a young left-hander, who twirled a wonderful game after the third. The Giants did not get a hit off the youngster after that inning. Ames was wild and ineffective and was relieved with the bases full in the second inning. Mathewson stopped the Reds in the inning, but was hit fairly hard. Cincinnati scoring three runs off him on clean hitting. Shafer played a great game for New York at short, accepting twelve chances without an error.

cigars you sent over to my Stag Party last night. Was it a success—well I should say—they didn't go home until 3 a. m.

And listen—there were only five and they smoked forty of those cigars—then stuck the balance in their pocket and asked where I got them.

What's that—

You don't say—three of them were in and bought a box today. Well—well—they sure were pleased.

Yes—I told them what you said about a tasteless Sumatra wrapper not interfering with the fine mild Havana tobacco in the filler.

What kind of tobacco did you say it was?

Oh yes—Santa Clara.

Send me a box to my house and another to my office every Saturday morning—don't forget.

And just a minute—what's that size—that's right. O. K. Perfecto—it's sure a dandy—looks and smokes too good to sell for 10c straight—but that's your business.

Bill at Springfield Demands that Seats Must Be Provided at Ball Games.

Chicago, May 7.—State Senator Beall's bill demanding that seats must be furnished to all ticket holders at baseball games passed the senate at Springfield today. The bill is aimed chiefly at President Murphy of the local National League team, at whose grounds Senator Beall was unable to get the seats called for on his complaint.

Murphy left today for New York to attend the Chicago-Brooklyn games tomorrow and Friday.

COTTON PALACE BETTER EACH YEAR

GREAT TEXAS EXPOSITION HAS MADE PROGRESS FROM THE BEGINNING.

NEW FEATURES ARE PLANNED

Educational Exhibit to Be Greater This Year Than Ever—Probably a Horse Show.

Waco is the home of the Texas Cotton Palace. Waco originated the Cotton Palace idea, and the large number of people who annually pay tribute to "Cotton," the king of the farm crops of this state and the section within which Waco is the exact center, indicates that the idea of a grand annual fair association in which cotton is the central figure is a fitting method of recognizing the value of the plant to Texas and Waco. The Texas Cotton Palace idea started back in 1894. It was a big thing then, although Waco was not as large as it is now. The first Cotton Palace was an attraction that drew many visitors here, and it set a pace for industrial exhibits on a large scale within this state. The present Texas Cotton Palace association was the result of the activities of the Young Men's Business League, the movement starting in the spring of 1910, the capital stock of $60,000 being raised by popular subscription conducted by the league. In joint ownership with the city of Waco the old Padgett park was purchased and renamed Cotton Palace park, and the association purchased enough adjoining ground on which to erect the buildings.

The contract was let for the main building and the work of construction commenced June 20, 1910. The officers for the first annual exhibit were as follows:

Albert T. Clifton, president.
C. L. Johnson, vice president.
L. M. Mikel, treasurer.
T. Graham, secretary-manager.
Sam Sanger, G. Stratton, W. W. Pryor, E. F. Drake, John Fall, T. P. Duncan, C. L. Johnson, C. H. Cox, W. J. Neal and L. Mikel, directors.

During the summer months and in the fall every citizen contributed his time and enthusiasm to making the first affair a success. The Palace was widely advertised and drew to this city the best there is in the state to view the magnificent exhibit that had been prepared. It was a financial success.

The Second Year.
For the second year the Cotton Palace organization added W. H. Hoffman and I. Friedlander to the directory of the company and S. N. Mayfield was made secretary-manager to succeed Mr. Graham, who had resigned. The officers went right at it to make success. The capital stock was increased to $90,000, twelve additional acres were purchased and a livestock show was added as a feature attraction. Two additional buildings were erected, the floral-poultry hall, 60x150 feet, and the machinery hall, 80x250, together with a large number of barns and sheds for livestock.

The Third Annual Show.
The third annual exposition of the Texas Cotton Palace association was held in 1912. The company now has twenty-five acres, easily accessible from all parts of the city, with fine buildings and many departments. The officers of last year were as follows:

President, W. H. Hoffman.
Vice president, W. J. Neale.
Treasurer, Louis Mikel.
Secretary-manager, S. N. Mayfield.
Directors, T. P. Duncan, W. H. Hoffman, W. W. Pryor, E. F. Drake, L. Mikel, C. H. Cox, W. J. Neale, W. W. Cameron, I. Friedlander, Asher Sanger, W. T. Herrick, E. W. Marshall, H. S. Forman.

Mayfield Is Active.

Secretary Mayfield is an active and energetic young man. He has been working out the details of a big show for this year and in his efforts he is having the hearty support of all the directors. Those who compose the directory are among the leading business men of the city and they are giving their time to making this affair a big success. They are having the assistance of the ladies in the work and are bringing together attractive things that will please all people.

Colleges Are to Exhibit.

A new poultry building will be built with all the latest conveniences, running water, sanitary coops, etc., lighted so as to show the birds off at the best advantage, giving them plenty of light with good ventilation.

The building used for the floral-poultry show last year will be occupied by the colleges and educational exhibit. These college exhibits will be the most interesting exhibits this year that have been sent out from the different larger colleges and universities, they having realized that an interesting exhibit does their school a great deal of good besides the advertisement feature has been proven to be the best. The colleges and universities that have asked for space up to this date are University of Texas, A. and M. college, Blind Institute, Deaf Institute, Baylor, and State Industrial college.

New Amusement Devices.

The new amusement devices that have been arranged for are an old mill, which is by far the most popular of all new up-to-date riding devices; a new skating rink, which is also up-to-date and modern in every way, being substantially built and having one of the best two-inch maple floors having all conveniences such as electric fans everywhere, lots of seats for the lookers-on, the very best of music, cold drinks served right in the building, and two hundred and fifty of the latest and best roller skates on the market.

A modern motorhome will be completed for the 1913 show which will give the visitors of the Cotton Palace a chance to see the fastest motorcyclist and races. This will also be one of the most popular new features.

Three Large Greenhouses.
Three large greenhouses are being constructed on the grounds by Wolfe, Waco's wide-awake florist, which will be a treat to all lovers of the beautiful flowers. Mr. Wolfe will have 10,000 plants in bloom in this floral palace during the Cotton Palace. This exhibit alone will perhaps interest more people than any other single exhibit, as nearly everybody cares for flowers.

The Cameron child's playgrounds will also be appreciated by all the children that visit the Cotton Palace. An attendant will be in charge here to look after the children and show them how to enjoy themselves. The zoo, judging from the way it has been growing, will be as large as any in Texas by Cotton Palace time. All Texas animals and birds will be shown here.

Absolutely nothing but high-class, moral and entertaining shows will be booked this year to hold up the high standard made by the very popular War Path. The free attractions will also be the best on the road and altogether new and different from anything ever seen in Waco. The daily free concerts will be given by the most noted opera singers and a band of national reputation.

Livestock Department.

The livestock department has been fast working itself up for the last two Cotton Palaces until today it is the "backbone" of the Cotton Palace instead of a side feature. Practically all stalls have been engaged and it begins to look as if new livestock barns will have to be built to accommodate the fine stock of Central Texas. The 1913 poultry show will be the largest and best exhibit of poultry ever shown in the entire Southwest. Exhibitors from all over the state and neighboring states are writing for space and it is beginning to look as if the new poultry building, which is very much larger than the old one, will be too small.

Ladies' Fine Art Department.

The ladies' fine art department promises to be greater than last year. Inquiries and applications for premium lists are received daily. The new 1912 catalogue and premium list of liberal prizes on every department will soon be off press and ready for the friends and exhibitors of the Cotton Palace. All the new and latest 1913 farm machinery and automobiles will be shown and greatly enjoyed by all interested in machinery.

Cotton Demonstration Field.

The entire infield of the race track is planted with best varieties of American cotton together with many foreign varieties. The United States government, through its local representative, D. A. Saunders, will give the field his special attention. There will be some ninety varieties planted. From the field of growing cotton visitors will be taken to the miniature cotton gin where they will see how the seed is separated from the lint and how the lint is made ready for the market. From the cotton gin they will be invited over to the looms manufacturing the cloth from the raw cotton. Arrangements have already been made to show the most modern cloth-making machine together with the old "before the war" hand-spinning wheel and hand operated loom. The cotton modeling department is offering the most liberal premiums over given to the best designs, models and articles made from the raw cotton. This department is one of the most interesting of the whole show.

Probably a Horse Show.

The question of having a horse show the last four days of the Cotton Palace is being discussed and it looks as though it will be an assured fact. The Horse Show at Fort Worth having changed dates so as to follow the Cotton Palace the exhibitors can make the State Fair at Dallas, come to the Cotton Palace, and then go to Fort Worth. Some of the largest and best exhibitors are very much enthused over the prospects of another horse show in Texas.

WILLING TO HELP ON FACTORY FUND

Y. M. B. L. WANTS TO GIVE ITS EFFORTS TO RAISE THE MONEY.

TO DEFER PUBLICITY MATTER

President Trau Writes to President
Marshall of Chamber of Commerce
On the Subject.

The good intentions of the Young Men's Business League are shown by the proposition to pull together with the Chamber of Commerce in the matter of raising a fund for a factory bonus.

It will be remembered that when the matter of a bonus for a hotel was up the Young Men's Business League joined with the Chamber of Commerce in raising the money necessary. Then the Young Men's Business League proposed to raise a publicity fund and the Chamber of Commerce proposed to raise a factory bonus fund.

Believing that the two movements would interfere if carried on at the same time, the Young Men's Business League agreed to defer action on its fund until the factory fund is raised, and by vote tendered the assistance of its directors in raising the factory fund.

The letter proffering the help was as follows, being addressed to President E. W. Marshall of the Chamber of Commerce:

"At a meeting of the directors of the Young Men's Business League it was moved and seconded that we address an open letter to the president of the Waco Chamber of Commerce, offering our individual support in furthering the solicitation of the $100,000 factory bonus. The motion carried unanimously.

"We take pleasure in notifying you of this action and tender you the services of the directory to co-operate with you in any way feasible to bring about the completion of this factory fund. It is our idea that we work in connection with your directorate along the same lines as we did in the hotel matter.

"Feeling sure you will not hesitate in calling upon us at the proper time, which we believe is in the near future, in offering the services of the director of the Young Men's Business League to call and at the discretion of your directorate, we remain, Respectfully yours,

"FRANK J. TRAU, President."

MOB FREES A WOMAN

DENVER ROUGHS FOIL SHERIFF
IN WHITE SLAVE ARREST.

Officer Struck With Brass Knuckles.
Black Hand Leader Captured and Held.

Denver, May 7.—Rose Hart, alleged leader of a white slave ring, and Alexander Rossi, accused as the head of a "black hand" band operating in Denver, were arrested at midnight by Sheriff D. M. Sullivan. During incidental fighting the officer was severely beaten.

Sheriff Sullivan arrested the Hart woman on orders from the grand jury investigating alleged police graft and vice conditions in Denver county.

A crowd insisted that the officer release the woman. After Sullivan had fought for half an hour against a crowd, a man struck him over the eye with a pair of brass knuckles.

Sheriff Sullivan released his hold on the Hart woman and turned upon his latest assailant.

Instantly a man's arm encircled his neck and the woman disappeared.

Sheriff Sullivan, with the aid of several police officers, then arrested Rossi in front of a hotel a block away.

The Hart woman went to the city police station where she told her story to Chief of Police O'Neill, who released her without bond.

Chief O'Neill reprimanded the driver of the patrol wagon who had obeyed the order of the sheriff and took Rossi to the county jail.

WANTS FACTS OF CRIMES.

A Kansas Jurist Suggests Changes in Criminal Cases.
(Topeka Correspondence Kansas City Star.)

A change in the criminal procedure that would tend to make convictions for crimes based on the facts was urged by Henry F. Mason, associate justice of the supreme court, in a speech before the Kansas county attorneys recently. Justice Mason told the county attorneys that whenever a criminal was on trial in this country he was given a ten-foot start and then the state tried to catch him and that the chief change in the criminal procedure of the country needed at the present time was a more adequate way of getting at the facts. Justice Mason held the rule that a criminal could not be made to testify made it possible for the trial to be concluded without a real knowledge of the facts relating to the crime.

Judge Mason said:
"In France and in continental Europe generally the method by which the state undertakes the enforcement of its criminal law is what is known as 'inquisitorial.' That is, the judge conducts the investigation for the purpose of endeavoring to get at the facts, accepting information or suggestion or suggestion from any available source and, of course, subjecting the person accused to rigorous examination."

"The Anglo-Saxon system by contrast has been called accusatorial. The prosecuting officer accuses, the prisoner defends and the judge presides as an impartial umpire. Charged only with the duty of seeing that each party has fair play and observes the rules of the game. Our method is open to the general criticism that so far as procedure is concerned it gives the defendant an unnecessary and undue advantage. I believe we shall see in time someone designed to correct this fault which will be much more radical than any of those which we have been discussing."

RAIL MEN'S WAGES ADVANCED

Southern Railway and Allied Lines Raise Pay of Shop and Car Men.

Kansas City, May 7.—Increases in wages for approximately 1,000 shopmen employed on the Southern railway and allied lines in the southern states, have been granted by the railroads concerned, according to an announcement from headquarters of the International Union of the Railway Carmen here today.

The announcement was based upon a telegram from M. F. Ryan, president of the Carmen's Union, who is attending a conference in Washington, D. C., between the railway managers and heads of the allied shop crafts.

The telegram said an agreement had been reached, granting two cents an hour increase to all the carmen. This would add to the carmen's income by a total of $165,000 annually. Officials said 25,000 carmen would be affected.

They said the telegram indicated that boiler-makers, sheet metal workers and other allied crafts also had received increases.

FIRST BAPTIST PICNIC.

Little Folks Will Be on the Playground at Cameron Park.

With all sorts of good things to eat and plenty of it, and uninterrupted pleasure at the playground apparatus in Cameron park, the little folks of the First Baptist Sunday school are assured a jolly good time on the occasion of the annual picnic of the school at 10 o'clock Saturday, May 10. Due to the fact that many of the pupils live nearer the park than they do the church, they will assemble there instead of the church, as has been the custom heretofore.

But the picnic will not be confined to the little folks. It is for the grown-ups, too, and every member of the school, whether he be a member of the cradle roll or the Bible class, for those who are in the evening of life are expected to be on hand to enjoy the occasion.

Absolutely informality will mark the day, each being left to his own discretion as to how he shall spend the day. Superintendent Smyth and his assistants taking pains to guarantee an ample dinner supply and a fair turn for every child at the swings, slides and other apparatus on the playgrounds.

EAGLES ELECT OFFICERS.

A. C. Opperman of Palestine Chosen President.

Galveston, May 7.—Officers of the state order, Fraternal Order of Eagles, were elected today as follows:
A. C. Opperman of Palestine, president.

dent; John L. Richter of San Antonio, vice president; William Wooding of Fort Worth, chaplain; W. T. Souter of San Antonio, secretary, re-elected; John E. Shelton of Austin, treasurer, re-elected; Fred D. Henry of Cameron, conductor; J. W. Hull of Weatherford, inner guard; F. L. Birt of San Angelo, outer guard.

Fort Worth was selected as the next place of meeting and the date was fixed for May, 1914.

M. & O. to Buy Another Road.
Mobile, Ala., May 7.—At a meeting of stockholders of the Mobile and Ohio Railway company here today, authority was given for the purchase of the St. Louis and Cairo railroad running from East St. Louis to Cairo, Illinois, a distance of 153 miles; the issuance of $1,000,000 of Mobile and Ohio, St. Louis division, five per cent gold bonds and the execution of a mortgage upon the property purchased to secure the bonds. The St. Louis and Cairo railroad has heretofore been operated under lease.

Pearl Forester Gets 2 Years.
Sherman, Tex., May 7.—Pearl Forester was given two years here today for assault to murder in connection with the shooting of Sheriff Lee Simmons at the latter's home on the night of November 2, 1912. Mr. Simmons was called to a closed carriage and shot twice as he approached the door of the vehicle.

India's cotton crop is estimated at 4,397,000 bales of 400 pounds, the yield of 21,911,000 acres.

Woman Is As Old As She Looks

No woman wants to look old. Many in their effort to look youthful resort to the "beauty doctor's" prescriptions. Their mistake is that they visit the wrong department in the drug store.

Beauty depends upon health.

Worry, sleepless nights, headaches, pains, disorders, irregularities and weaknesses of a distinctly feminine character in a short time bring the dull eye, the "crow's feet," the haggard look, drooping shoulders, and the faltering step.

To retain the appearance of youth you must retain health. Instead of lotions, powders and paints, ask your druggist for

And usually it is found in wrong living.

Coffee drinking affects many unpleasantly, because the coffee drug, caffeine, (about 2-12 grains to the cupful) is a poison, and causes heart disturbance, indigestion and many other ills.

When worn on the fingers produces a mild current of electricity through the body which purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves and muscles, induces sweet, refreshing sleep, improves the appetite and expels disease from the body. Read these testimonials:

Alfred Hutverson, Athens, Texas, writes: "This is to certify that I was afflicted with rheumatism and headache for many years. I had tried many remedies without results. I secured two Electro-Galvanic Rings over a year ago and began noticing beneficial results at once and in about one month I was well. I am an old Confederate soldier and lost one arm at the battle of Chickamauga. I wore two rings on different fingers and they have cured me. My wife used the rings for deafness and headache and they have also cured her. I will gladly answer letters containing stamps."

Mrs. Mary Rogers, Butler, Texas, writes: "I have been wearing Electro-Galvanic Rings for the last few months, and must say they are wonderful. I had suffered untold misery from rheumatism; but as soon as I began wearing the wonderful rings I began to get better. I cannot express the good they have done me." A. N. Smith, Isora, Texas, writes: "My grandson had an attack of meningitis last July and was paralyzed on one side. He had been down for seven months, not able to turn over or move his arm or foot. After using Electro-Galvanic Rings a week he was able to sit up and place his crippled hand over his head, and he is still improving. I promise Electro-Galvanic Rings above all other remedies. I know they have cured him."

Dr. Wm. Matthews, Athens, Texas, writes: "This is to certify that I have known Mr. T. B. Jones, inventor of Electro-Galvanic Rings, for more than thirty years; I am to him the best of his word. I have known of the rings for several years. From my personal experience the rings in my family I consider the best advertisement do more good to suffering humanity than all other advertisements combined. I have been a practicing physician for twenty-five years."

Copy of Bank Letter: The First National Bank, Capital Surplus and Profits, $204,000, Athens, Texas, January 7, 1913. To Whom It May Concern: Mr. T. B. Jones has been personally known to me for more than thirty years, during which time I have had considerable business relations with him, all of which have been satisfactory. Mr. Jones now has on deposit with this bank $1000, with which we are authorized to make good his personal guarantee on Electro-Galvanic Rings, invented by him. Mr. Jones has kept this special deposit with us for more than a year, and we have yet to hear of a case where he has failed to make good. His guarantee is as follows: The money paid for the rings to security of good faith. If returned promptly at the end of thirty days the money will be returned, reduced of result if desired. (Signed) J. W. Matthews, Cashier.

OXIDINE

If your skin is sallow, if your kidneys pain you, if the whites of your eyes are yellow, if your digestion is poor, if you have a "finiky" appetite, if you have chills and fever, if you have skin eruptions, then it is pretty sure you have malaria. Any or all of these symptoms is a sure sign that the malaria germ is gradually breaking down the life cells of your liver, kidneys, intestines or skin. Eventually, if not stopped, these germs will overpower your life-sustaining elements and serious results will follow. Prevention and eradication are easier and cheaper than cure. Oxidine is both a remedy and a preventive. Taken regularly once a week it will prevent malaria.

SECRETARY DUTY IMPORTANT ONE

SOMETHING OF THE MEN IN THE CONFIDENCES OF THE MEMBERS.

BUFFERS FOR THEIR CHIEFS

Bryan Picks a Man From Cornell.
Pedigo is a Veteran—One Texan in the List.

Many and important are the duties of the private secretary of the cabinet officers in Washington. Just now they are especially busy, for they stand as buffers between their chiefs and such a horde of office-seekers as has not been seen at the capital since Grover Cleveland went out and William McKinley took office in 1897.

The duties of the private secretary are more onerous, if not more important, at the beginning of an administration than at any other time, says the New York Sun. Also in most instances in the present administration the private secretaries, like the men they serve, are new to their places.

As Mr. Bryan is premier of the cabinet, so to his new secretary falls the honor of being premier of the corps of private secretaries. This honor came not through seniority. There are other private secretaries who have been in service many years, while Manton M. Wyvell was appointed only recently. But he is rapidly acquiring experience, for regardless of the fact that the appointing powers of the secretary of state are the most limited of any of the ten cabinet ministers, the principal attack of the office-seekers has centered about Mr. Bryan's office. It requires a man of cast iron nerve and extended experience in the buffer business to fill the position of private secretary to William J. Bryan.

Picked for Fidelity.
Secretary Bryan picked Mr. Wyvell on the ground, primarily, of his personal fidelity. Mr. Wyvell is a Bryan devotee. Nearly thirteen years ago, when Mr. Bryan was making his second campaign for the presidency, he discovered Mr. Wyvell, then a student at Cornell and president of the Cornell Bryan club, an organization of vast activity and limited membership.

Now, Cornell is one of the most prolific of the American universities in the production of republican graduates. The principles enunciated from the chair long held by Andrew D. White were distinctly anti-Bryan, and it occurred to the anti-imperialist leader of 1900 that a man who could develop Bryanism in the atmosphere of Ithaca must have a real spirit. There and then he picked upon Wyvell as his disciple, and such Wyvell has remained until on March 6 he reaped his reward by being called to serve his leader in the confidential capacity of private secretary.

Mr. Wyvell is still young, hardly 35, but he has been in politics ever since he left college. Last fall he ran for congress, but was defeated. His new position is his first federal appointment.

When William G. McAdoo accepted the secretaryship of the treasury in the Wilson cabinet he made up his mind to choose a private secretary with newspaper training. Among his friends he counted Byron R. Newton of New York, who had been engaged in the newspaper business in one form or another since 1885. Mr. Newton knows all about politics, and also he knows all about politicians, for he served the Buffalo News for years as its Albany correspondent. Mr. Newton also worked in New York on the Herald for several years. He has done politics and war and aviation. In fact, he holds the honor of having been a flight in an aeroplane. He went up with Paulhan at San Diego, Cal., three years.

Pedigo a Veteran.
At the war department is found the first veteran among the private secretaries of the new administration. Walter R. Pedigo began his career as private secretary in the latter days of the Spanish-American war, when he served as confidential clerk to Major General Fitzhugh Lee in Cuba. Thence he went to the war department. He has served there in one capacity or another ever since.

Luke E. Wright engaged Mr. Pedigo as private secretary when William Howard Taft at the request of his erstwhile friend President Roosevelt resigned the office of secretary of war to make the race for the presidency in July, 1908. When Mr. Taft came in as president and Secretary Wright engaged Jacob M. Dickinson re-engaged Mr. Pedigo. Mr. Dickinson passed on to the peaceful duty of slaughtering the steel trust and turned Mr. Pedigo over to Henry L. Stimson, who liked him so much that he kept him on the job, and when Lindley M. Garrison took up the portfolio which Mr. Stimson laid aside he embraced Mr. Pedigo with it.

Pedigo is a democrat, at least such is the general supposition around the war department. He is not yet 40. He is tall, broad shouldered, well built, with a keen brown eye and a head that shines when the westerling sun glances through the war department windows.

Cole Was With Wickersham.
Frank Cole was brought to Washington to be secretary to George W. Wickersham. He has been associated with Mr. Wickersham's law firm in New York. His politics had never been questioned; indeed, previous to the campaign of 1908 Mr. Wickersham's own politics had been shrouded in considerable doubt. But during the campaign of that year there was held in New York a great parade of the Taft forces. There was a legal division in the parade and George W. Wickersham, then a member of the firm of Strong & Cadwalader, in which Henry W. Taft also held a partnership, was chosen grand marshal of a division.

"Come on out and march this afternoon, Frank," said Mr. Wickersham to his junior associate.

"Thanks, Mr. Wickersham, but I'd rather be excused," said Mr. Cole. "You know I happen to be a democrat."

Later in the same afternoon Henry W. Taft, who had not heard the explanation of Mr. Cole, corralled that young man and took him up to the Madison Square reviewing stand, where he sat at the right hand of the candidate's brother. Mr. Wickersham, passing by at the head of his phalanx, beheld his "democrat" in this position.

When James C. McReynolds took up the office of attorney general he re-engaged Cole to be his secretary, and Cole, who learned to like the job under Mr. Wickersham, has decided to hang on for another four years. He denies that anybody has yet told Mr. McReynolds how he reviewed a republican parade four years ago, but he is in hopes that some one will slip a word to his chief as to his declaration of principles made the same day.

Young Texan in the List.
The new secretary to the postmaster general answers to the classic name of John Ruskin McArdle. He is a graduate of the house office building, where he served long as private secretary to Representative Albert B. Burke. Son, now postmaster general. He is a Texan and the son of an artist. He is 29 years old.

At the interior department Secretary Franklin K. Lane has re-engaged the services of Herbert A. Meyer, who had been private secretary to Walter Lowrie Fisher. Mr. Meyer is only 26. He is an Ohioan, and as innocent of political predilection as a hen is of teeth. Previous to his employment by Mr. Fisher he was a clerk to the Railroad Securities company in this city. He is a graduate of the Staunton Military academy, at the birthplace of Woodrow Wilson, in Virginia, and of the National Law school, and is a member of the bar of the District of Columbia.

Reese is in Agriculture.
The real veteran of the corps of private secretaries, like his former chief, is Robert M. Reese, private secretary to Prof. David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture. For more than fifteen years he was associated with Secretary James Wilson, first in the capacity of confidential clerk and latterly as private secretary. His service in the department of agriculture is almost as long as the history of the department itself. Indeed, it exceeds the actual existence of the agricultural department as one of the executive departments, for when Mr. Reese came into its employ the department of agriculture was only a bureau with a commissioner at its head.

Mr. Reese is in stature the smallest of the secretaries. He is wiry, gray haired and exceedingly active, and was recognized by Secretary Wilson as a paragon of accuracy. The first act of Secretary Houston's career as a cabinet official was his reappointment of Mr. Reese.

One is Named Smith.
When William C. Redfield was eased out of congress by Charles F. Murphy and at the expiration of his term landed in the secretaryship of commerce with dispatch he took with him as his secretary Ulysses Grant Smith. Mr. Smith had served Mr. Redfield as secretary during his congressional term and for the past ten years has been acting as private secretary to members of the lower house. During his earlier life in Brooklyn Mr. Smith was an insurance agent. He is a Brooklynite by birth and rearing, is married and has four children. The department of commerce suits him, he says, for his life has been commercial rather than political.

In the brand new department of labor Robert Watson, an experienced clerk of the former department of commerce and labor, has been detailed to serve Secretary William B. Wilson in the capacity of private secretary.

Sheep and Cattle Drown.
San Angelo, May 7.—Reports from ranches west of here received today are to the effect that many sheep were drowned when high waters rushed down the draws last Sunday near the mouth of the Rio Grande. A number of cattle also were drowned.

Adam—They tell me we will have to move out of the garden. Eve—My goodness, and I haven't a thing to wear!—Boston Record.

INTERURBAN TO BE A DEVELOPER

PEOPLE NOW LOOKING ABOUT FOR SUBURBAN HOMES NEAR WACO.

STREET CARS ARE EXTENDING

Property Now Purchased Will Have Steady Increase in Value—Non-est Men Are Promoters.

Nobody has ever proposed a monument to the men who have caused the suburbs to be populated; who have used their brains and their fortunes to provide attractive, healthful homes in the clean, quiet country for the people of the town. Even years hence when the deeds of men of this generation are weighed and names are selected for special honor nobody is likely to suggest for a memorial the name of one who helped to make better citizens for the city by providing comfortable suburban living conditions for its men, women and children. Whatever fortune in dollars the suburban developer may have acquired probably will be thought sufficient reward for his part in bettering conditions.

With the coming of the interurban to Waco the demand for rural homes is growing, and people who are engaged in business in the town will locate garden seats and pretty homes convenient to the rapid transit facilities that are thus provided. The suburban home, however, is not confined to the interurban route. The street car system of the city is pushing its terminals in all directions and is rendering the many additions that have been planned in lots and blocks, where sidewalks are pleasant footing and paved streets make driving delightful.

Probably there are few men in the 15,000 or more in this city who stand at the heads of families, who were they to consider seriously the matter of their suburban residences, would not be chosen the latter. Such matters as congestion, cost of living and welfare of children likely would cause the average man to decide at once. When it is considered that such objectionable features become more so each year through the city growing and expanding, the need for immediate action becomes apparent.

There are many other reasons why the time to buy or build the suburban home is right now. The first of these is that suburban homes never again will be so cheap as they are now. Land prices and building costs are mounting steadily. As the suburban movement progresses great areas are being used up and the section of low priced land is steadily being pushed further out. Those who have bought their land or who buy now are going to get the benefit of the great future movement in population. In increased value to their properties, and though the suburban home plot is not regarded generally in the light of an investment that is one of the realities of the home plot purchased today.

As for building costs, they have mounted nearly 50 per cent in ten years, and probably they will continue to rise unless some wizard can replace the forests or invent less costly methods for producing cement, brick and the other materials needed, and even well paid men to put these materials together at lower rates than they are asking today. But while houses can not be purchased as cheaply this year as they could have been several years ago, the difference is more than offset in the style and quality of the modern suburban home, which after a period of development has now reached a point of excellence which borders on perfection.

So far have the developers perfect of their selling plans, they are able to dispose of their properties at almost any time a purchaser may want. Few persons are able to pay cash for their homes and few do so. The tendency of modern business is for buyers to pay for purchases in installments and this idea has been carried to an extreme in suburban real estate.

As the years go on the necessity increases for the removal of population from the city to the suburbs, the suburban developer will grow in usefulness and will become a greater factor in the life of the community. Waco is fortunate in having for the development of its outlying sections men of ability and conscience, who, though naturally in business to make money, maintain the highest standards of honor and honesty in their dealings. They place their wares on the counter where all may see them; what they claim for their goods is no more than what the men now engaged in suburban development have already been successful in establishing most attractive communities. In the long hard years since the end of the last boom the promoter and speculator have dropped out leaving the builder and the man who is to do more for the crowded city populace than ever before.

DALLAS GETS BANNERFEST.

Early Events Part With for the 1914

Houston, May 7.—When the state manager convened this morning the chief interest centered in the election of the next meeting place and the election of officers.

Fort Worth and Dallas competed for the 1914 gathering and the fight was full of interest.

Dallas won easily in the vote and the next meeting will be held in

SOME OF THE MERCANTILE ESTABLISHMENTS WHICH THE Y. M. B. L. TRADE TRIPPERS WILL VISIT.

CORSICANA IS THE OLDEST OIL TOWN

COUNTY SITE OF NAVARRO COUNTY IS ONE OF PROSPEROUS TEXAS CITIES.

INVITES FACTORIES TO COME

Cheap Fuel is an Inducement—Has All the Industries That Are Necessary to Growth.

(Written for the Trade Edition of The Morning News.)

Corsicana, May 7.—This, the county seat of Navarro county, may truly be said to be one of the exceptionally prosperous towns of Texas. It is "exceptionally prosperous" because it has, in addition to being one of the finest agricultural counties of Texas, all the other good things other towns have, and besides is the oldest oil town in Texas, and still has more than two hundred producing oil wells and natural gas sufficient for all domestic uses.

According to our last city directory published in 1912, which is unquestionably accurate, the town has a population of 10,468. These are some of the good things Corsicana has: A $185,000 courthouse; an $85,000 federal building; a $50,000 public library; a $10,000 city hall; four railroads and others being built; and an interurban, which will soon be in operation; $400,000 in bonds have just been voted for public road purposes; and $30,000 for street paving purposes; an $85,000 Y. M. C. A. building in course of erection; a splendid sewer system; as fine artesian wells, six in number, as are found anywhere; four strong banks, and one $40,000 bank building in course of erection; several fine suburban additions; a splendidly equipped fire department; a good electric light system and an electric car service, to every section of town; a $100,000 cotton mill, employing a large number of people and going day and night; two large cotton oil mills; two big oil refineries, one of these plants covering over one hundred acres of land and having more than $1,000,000 invested. In addition, there is a large crude oil pump station, which brings millions of gallons of oil here from the North Texas fields to be refined; two immense brick plants and another in contemplation; the big machine shop of Johnston & Aiken, which makes well drilling machinery a specialty and which has made much machinery of this character for the oil fields of California and Europe; the Wm. Clarkson iron works, which ships its products to all sections of the country; the Calhoun street bakery, which ships its products all over this state and into Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

The last bank statements published show that there was over $2,500,000 on deposit in the four banks here.

The Corsicana-Dallas interurban is preparing to fit up a handsome station in the heart of the city.

The wholesale grocery establishments—the Pace Grocery Co., the Central Texas Grocery Co., the Fortson-Polk Grocery Co. and the Tatum-Cunningham Hardware Co. and the Dockum-Stroud Grocery Co. all have their traveling salesmen and do a great business.

The $125,000 Royall Coffee roasting company has its building almost completed and machinery installed, and will be in operation in a short while; the business of these concerns already runs into the millions annually and is increasing constantly.

There is a handsome $40,000 central high school building and five ward school buildings, all of brick, and each ward school has an entire block of ground for a campus; there are nearly a dozen churches, most of them brick, the property of one of these being valued at $10,000.

There are a number of garages and about 700 automobiles in the town; a commercial college, both the state and I. O. O. F. orphan homes are located here and just beyond the town limits; there are many small factories, too numerous to mention, and all are prospering.

The town has three public instituall conveniences necessary to comfort and pleasure.

There are many large fishing tanks near town, three of these combined would cover more than 500 acres, and they are well stocked with fish; all the old-time and modern secret orders are well represented; the Masons and Odd Fellows each have three-story homes of their own.

There are three three-story hotels and many lesser ones; a number of large flats, one of these being of brick, and three stories high.

The postoffice receipts here for last year amounted to more than $35,000. The great amount of crude oil here makes fuel cheap and makes Corsicana an especially desirable place for the location of factories. The business section of Corsicana has improved a great deal within the past year, but it has not kept pace with the residence portion. In fact, the latter section has been almost on a boom for the past year, and now more than twenty new homes are being built and three of these will cost about $15,000 each. In short, Corsicana has everything that other towns of her size have, and many advantages that even her larger sisters do not enjoy.

Since the first day of September last, Corsicana has raised the following amounts for these institutions:

The Y. M. C. A. building $87,000; Dallas-Corsicana interurban railroad, $85,000; Corsicana-Paestine railroad, $80,000; Elks home, $35,000; Corsicana hospital, $40,000.

BIDS WANTED.

Bids will be received until Tuesday, May 20, 1913, 10 a. m., for the election and completion of a two-story and basement brick public school building in North Waco, Texas.

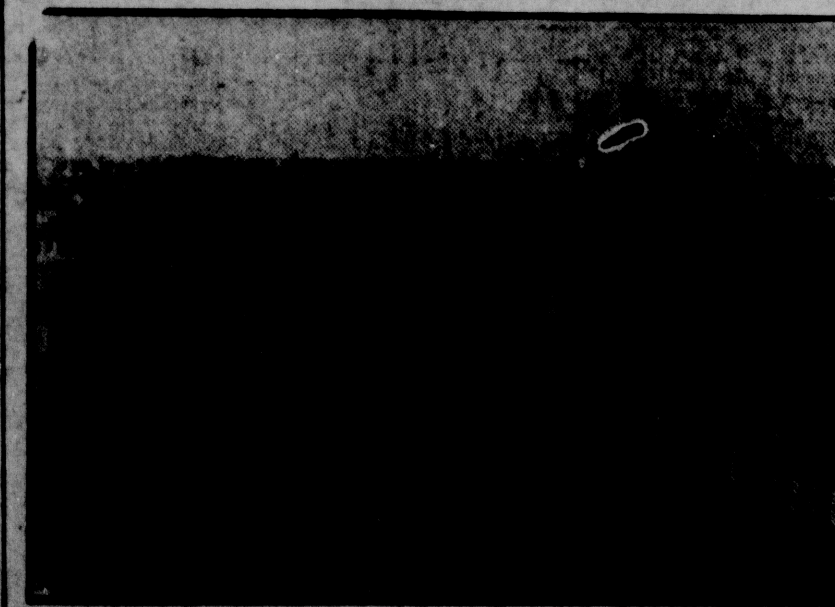

Plans and specifications and other information can be had at the office of T. Brooks Pearson, architect, 1509 Amicable building, Waco, Texas. A deposit of $25 will be required for the safe return of any plans taken out of the office.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check of $2,000, payable to the order of J. C. Lattimore, secretary of the school board, to guarantee the bidder will enter into contract in the amount of his bid, if accepted, and will furnish surety bond for $10,000 (ten thousand dollars) to guarantee the faithful performance of said bid.

The committee reserves the right to accept any bid or reject all bids.

KERENS IS GROWING

BUSINESS HOUSES HAVE INCREASED DURING THE LAST TWELVE MONTHS.

Business Doubles in a Year—Good School System—is a Cotton Market.

(Written for the Trade Edition of The Morning News.)

Kerens, May 7.—With the rise and growth of towns in Texas, Kerens has held her own in the first and foremost division. There has been one continual round after another of energetic boosting by her citizens and every effort has counted. At the beginning of 1912, Kerens had about thirty business houses, and these did about one-quarter of a million dollars' worth of business. Today, she has over forty business houses, and from the present outlook, Kerens will double the amount of business done in 1912 in the year 1913.

Last year Kerens weighed over 15,000 bales of cotton. Not only has her business section greatly increased during the past year, but her residence section has done still better. More than one hundred residences were built during 1912 and contracts for new ones are being let almost daily. The town has one of the finest brick school houses in Texas and in it one of the best equipped and most successfully conducted schools to be found anywhere. There are also three good churches.

The town has a cottonseed oil mill, electric light plant, garage, city park, four big cotton gins, and a cotton gin in fourteen miles of Corsicana, a trading district of about twelve miles in two directions and between five and seven in the other two. The town has the location and all facilities for handling and distributing all the products adapted to her section, as the town is in fourteen miles of Corsicana, a where it can reach any shipping point in and out of Texas. If Kerens keeps up its present growth and development record, it will be only a few years before the place has five or six thousand people.

NOTICE TO MERCHANTS.

Waco, Tex., May 1, 1913.

Gentlemen: Hereafter any employee of this company making a purchase on the company's account will be furnished with an order signed by Mr. Theodore Dugger, district manager, showing employee's authority to make the purchase.

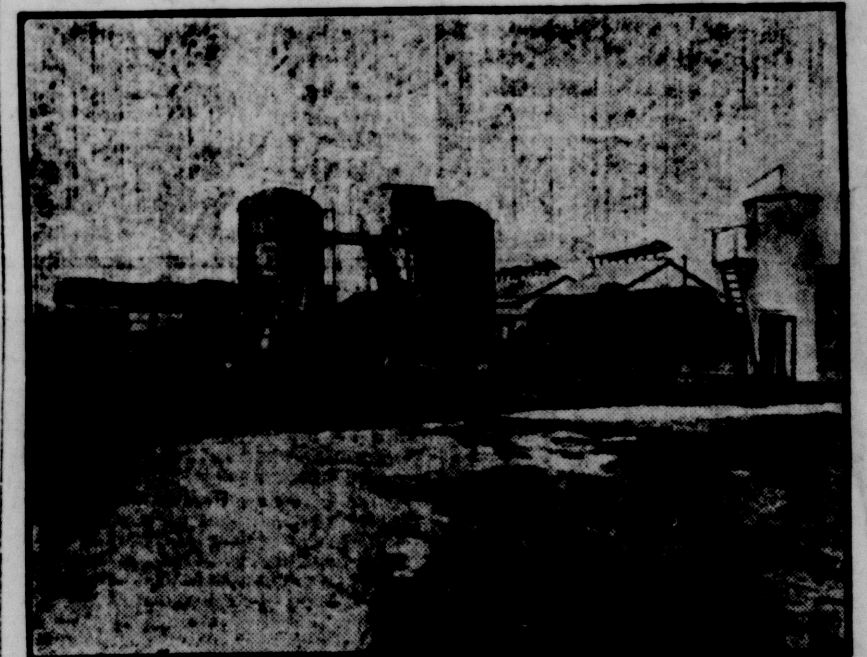

It is our policy to trade with some home concerns and to distribute such patronage as we may have as impartially as possible among the business houses of Waco, and to that end we have decided to select one house in each line of business each month and make all purchases during that month from the one firm, changing to another firm in the same line of business the following month.

We trust this will meet with your approval, as we believe it to be the fairest method of equally distributing our business. Orders signed by Mr. Dugger will be presented to you by the employee at the time the purchase is made; kindly preserve them until the end of the month and attach one copy to your bill. Settlement of all bills presented before the 8th of the month will be made on the 10th, and settlement of bills presented after the 8th of the month will be made on the 25th.

Yours truly,

CORBET IS CLEARING LAND

New Town is Started Where Farms Follow the Fall of Forest Trees.

(Written for the Trade Edition of The Morning News.)

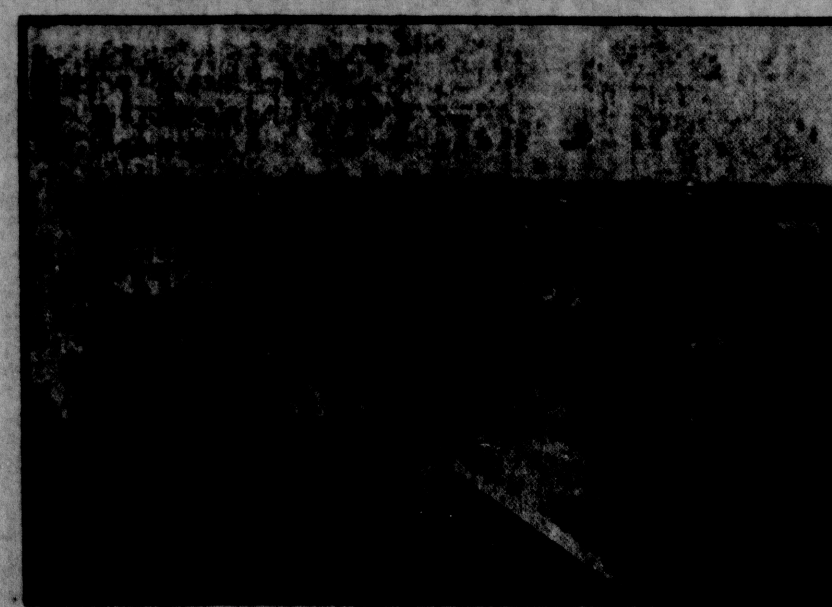

Corbett, Tex., May 7.—Corbett has been a recognized railroad station only within the past year. The Cotton Belt recently put a passenger and freight depot here and supplied the place with plenty of side track. The place has a big gin, two dry goods and grocery stores and a drug store. The town is located in the heaviest timbered section of the county, and much of the land of the neighborhood has been put in cultivation within the past two years, and the work of "clearing land" is still going on. Much Mexican labor has and is still being used in clearing the land, and thousands upon thousands of cords of wood have been marketed. The land is very productive and when the timber has been removed this will be one of the best farming sections of Navarro county.

HUBBARD CITY IS CLEANEST TOWN

LOCATED ON A HIGH KNOLL OF SANDY LAND, OVERLOOKING BLACK PRAIRIE.

HAS FINE FIRE PROTECTION

Mayor W. Q. Bowman is Serving Fifth Term—All Facilities to Make a Good Town.

Hubbard, May 7.—The natural location of the town is most favorable, as it stands upon a knoll of sandy land overlooking a plane of black land prairies extending for miles in every direction. There is not a foot of black land within the corporate limits of the city, a statement that cannot be truthfully made by any other town located in the black land belt. This constitutes a very desirable feature to those who are seeking a place of residence, as the streets and walks are never bad, even in continued wet weather, and it is possible to travel on foot all over the city immediately after a hard rain without getting mud on the feet. The sandy nature of the soil also permits of the successful culture of fruits, garden truck and flowers. Without the corporate limits on the north and south the black land begins and stretches away mile after mile. The large ranches, landmarks of the early days in Texas, have long since been cut up into small farms which are well improved and stocked with the very best horses, mules, cows and hogs. A large per cent of the farmers own their own farms, and those who rent are of the most desirable type of citizenship.

MAYOR W. Q. BOWMAN

Good churches and schools are found in every community which has been one of the chief factors in building the citizenship to its present standard of excellence.

Fire Protection.

Hubbard has one of the best volunteer fire fighting companies of any little town in the state. It is equipped with two thousand feet of the best made hose, two hose reels, chemical engine, ladders, etc. But the real strength of the company consists of its membership, all of whom understand the business and go into every fire with the buldog determination to win, and he it said to their credit, that they rarely ever lose a fight unless there are desperate odds against them. Fire plugs are conveniently arranged throughout the business section of the town, while they are scattered less thickly through the residential section.

Sewer System.

Hubbard boasts of being the only town of its size in the state which has a complete sewer system. For several years the only hobby has been "A clean city." This has been pushed by the press, preached from the pulpit, encouraged by the citizenship and enforced by the city administration until the people of Hubbard were ready to ask for a sewer system by their ballot. This was done four years ago and the bond issue was carried by a nice majority which was a compliment to the enterprise of our taxpayers. The sewer mains were laid and the two hundred thousand gallon daily flow from the hotel turned into the system, which keeps it flushed at all times and preserves an absolute sanitary condition. The system belongs to the people and only one dollar is charged for tapping the main which entitles the property owner to a lifetime permit for its use.

Streets and Walks.

"The Cleanest Town in Texas" has been our slogan for several years. The city administration, headed by Mayor Bowman, launched the crusade and have aided and encouraged the work in every way possible within the limit of conservative municipal management.

The town is well laid out, the corporate limits extending a mile each way. The streets run parallel with the Cotton Belt railroad north and south and are intersected at right angles by those running east and west. They are broad and kept well graded and drained.

Railroad Facilities.

Hubbard has two main line railroads, the St. Louis Southwestern and the Trinity and Brazos Valley, giving an outlet north and south and east and west, and furnish six mails every day. The schedules are conveniently arranged for the traveling public and permits the transaction of business in Waco, Corsicana, Fort Worth and Dallas without being away from home over night. The four diverging lines also furnish splendid freight service with the larger shipping points both for export and import.

Walstein Q. Bowman is now serving his fifth term as mayor of Hubbard. That he has made a good one, the fact that he won over the old and well established prejudice against a third term is ample proof.

Mr. Bowman is a native Texan, having been born at Round Rock, in the good old county of Williamson, in war times, June 11, 1864. Like all Texas boys in those days, as soon as he was able to saddle a horse, "sit it. Born in a land whose gr and valleys were dotted with thousands of cattle and horses, he naturally became a stockman. Blessed by nature with a daring spirit and magnificent physique, he was not long in forging to the front. He still loves his saddle horse better than he does a buggy or an auto and when necessary can still "round 'em up" with all the old skill and swiftness of the days of the "Longhorn."

He has most advanced ideas on civic improvements, especially those that look to the improvement and beautifying of Hubbard. He has always taken a full hand in every move, whatever it might be, looking to the upbuilding of Hubbard, never hesitating to dive deep and liberally into his own funds to assist in the march of progress. It can be truthfully said that he enjoys the esteem and respect of all who know him.

Hotels and Boarding Houses.

While our hotel facilities have had a race to keep pace with the growth of the town, we can boast of two of the best hotels to be found in a town of this size. There are also several dollar houses and boarding and rooming houses that will meet the requirements of all who are seeking more inexpensive accommodations. Plans are now under contemplation for the erection of a sixty thousand dollar hotel and sanitarium on the present site of the Hot Well and bath house.

Banking Facilities.

Hubbard is fortunate in being the home of two splendid banking institutions, the First National bank and the First State bank. The first named enjoys the national reputation of being at the head of the honor roll in Texas and also maintains an enviable position in the list of banks of the United States.

Our Churches.

Governor Roberts once said "Civilization begins and ends with the plow." From one viewpoint he was correct, but someone else might have just as truthfully said "Civilization begins and ends with the church," for it is true that without the Christian religion, republics are a failure and empires crumble into dust. The effects of these churches is felt to a marked degree in the town and community as evidenced by the high moral tone and Christian spirit manifested by our citizenship. The majority of our people are connected with some one of these branches of the Christian church, and those who are not on the membership roll have the highest respect for the organizations and lend their assistance in promoting the morals of the community.

Public Schools.

The greatness of any town as a place of residence is measured by its educational advantages. In this respect Hubbard comes well up to the standard and to those who are looking for a clean, healthy town, where they can have the advantages of a city curriculum without incurring the expensive living of a larger town, we would advise them to locate here. The gross receipts of the postoffice for the first quarter of this year was $1,842.03.

The compress at this place received the season just closed 50,000 bales of cotton, and the season before, its first, 40,000 bales.

Hubbard Hot Well.

The water is thoroughly laxative and it stonic effect is the very best. For the treatment of rheumatism, stomach and kidney troubles, malaria, blood and skin diseases and for general debility, nervous breakdown or fatigue, this water is highly recommended and

TYLER AT TOP IN EAST TEXAS

RANKS NINTH IN POSTOFFICE
RECEIPTS AMONG OFFICES OF THE STATE.

HAS LARGE FREIGHT TONNAGE

Smith County City is One of the Prosperous Places on the Cotton Belt Railroad.

(Written for the Trade Edition of The Morning News.)

Tyler, Tex., May 7.—Tyler, the county seat of Smith county, is a well built city with a bona fide population of 13,207, according to the census taken in 1912. The United States census of 1910 gave Tyler 10,400. The increase of approximately 3,000 population in a period of two years shows conclusively that Tyler is fast becoming one of the leading little cities in the state. It is the metropolis and railway center of East Texas and is also the center of the great fruit and truck belt.

Tyler ranks ninth in postoffice receipts of the cities of Texas. The postoffice receipts at the last report to the postoffice department amounted to $41,842.24, which has placed the office in the first class.

Tyler has the largest freight tonnage of any city of its size in the state. The general offices and machine shops of the St. Louis Southwestern Railway company of Texas are located here and it is also a division point and by actual count 1,118 men receive their checks here, and has brought about almost miraculous cures.

Those who get the greatest benefits both drink and bathe in the water. The bath house is located at the well and is modern in every respect, steam heat, with complete equipment for giving the different baths, including the electric.

Separate bathing apartments for both ladies and gentlemen, and are in charge of trained attendants. These apartments are large, light and are thoroughly sanitary throughout.

A course is twenty-one baths. The vapor, alcohol and tub and rub baths are 50 cents each, or $2.00 for the course. Plain tub baths 25 cents each. Massage baths, 75 cents each, $12.50 for the course. Roman bath, 75 cents, $12.50 for the course.

How to Drink the Water.

The hot mineral water should preferably be drunk hot from the well early in the morning, one, two or three glasses, or as much as it will take to act well on the bowels, and unless indigestion is the trouble, should be prohibited balance of day. In case of acute or chronic indigestion, one or two glasses are to be taken two hours after meals.

the payroll of this company amounts right in the neighborhood of $100,000 per month.

Tyler has more handsome homes, churches and school buildings than any other East Texas city and equals in this line any town in the state whose population is 2,000 in excess. For health she ranks as one of the first in the state and her altitude is higher than that of any city from the Sabine river on the north to the gulf.

Is a Jobbing Center.

Tyler is recognized as the wholesale and jobbing center of this section of the state and draws trade from a radius of 100 miles. There are sixteen wholesale and jobbing houses here some of which have branches at Terrell, Pittsburg, Jacksonville, Longview, Athens, Palestine and Henderson.

Tyler has four banking institutions whose capital and surplus amounts to $450,000; deposits, $1,250,000; loans, $1,414,000; a $150,000 United States court house and postoffice; three railroads, a handsome Carnegie library, a $160,000 court house, a substantial city hall, 21 churches, one of which cost $70,000, another $60,000, and one in the course of construction which when completed will represent an outlay of $40,000; nine public school buildings, one the Central, a magnificent structure, which is being built at a cost of $45,000; the Tyler Commercial college, one of the largest in America, having students enrolled from more than half the states in the union and from four foreign countries. For the last six years the enrollment has averaged about 1,500 per annum, and it is steadily growing. It brings into the city over $300,000 annually; three newspapers, a daily and two weeklies, and two of the largest and best equipped job printing plants in East Texas; waterworks, supplied from two large lakes, one of the lakes covering more than 500 acres of ground; electric lights, gas, two improved telephone systems, a handsome new union station and freight depot, with commodious loading sheds for fruit and truck; the largest tea plant in East Texas, and by far the largest elevated track in the Southwest, where the fast trains of fruits and vegetables are re-loaded before commencing their long journey to the Northern and Eastern markets. The head office of the American Refrigerator and Transit company for Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana is here.

Big Canning Factory.

The largest canning factory south of Baltimore, employing 300 persons for five months in the year, is here. This plant for the 1912 season canned 1,570,000 cans of fruits, vegetables, etc., or approximately 70 carloads. The demand for the products of this factory has become so great that it will necessitate the enlargement of the plant.

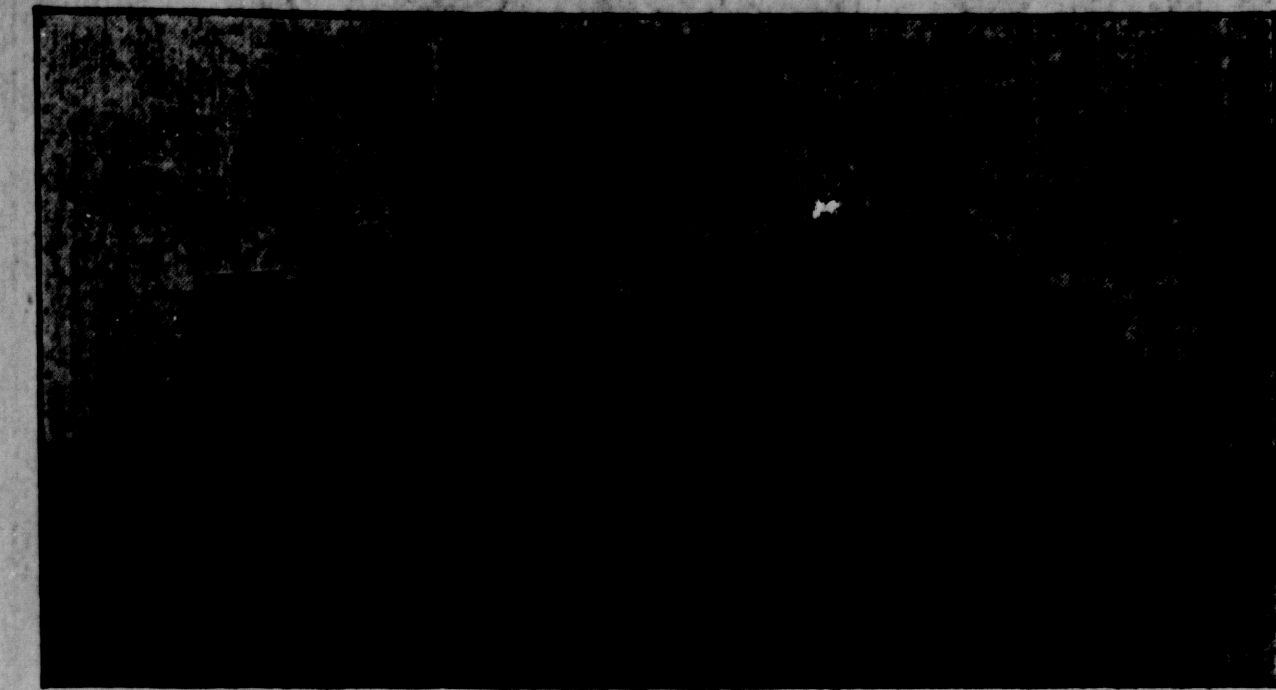

Tyler is the home of nine nurseries and the largest exclusive fruit nursery in Texas; two compresses, two large gins, a cotton seed oil mill, giving employment to a large force of men; the Tyler Box and Crate factory, the most extensive plant of its kind in the South, which runs the year round

CONSTRUCTION WORK IS RAPID ON TAYLOR-HANNA-JAMES BUILDING

Progress is being made on the construction of the new home for the Taylor-Hanna-James company, wholesale grocers, which is going up at Second and Mary streets. In company with a member of the firm yesterday a representative of the Morning News visited the site of the new building. Fifteen brick layers were busy at work and the walls of the structure were fast reaching a semblance of what is to be a magnificent building. The concrete work for the basement is complete, and the solid cement floor with which it will be provided will be "poured" within a few days. The brick work for the first story of the building is practically half completed. The structure is being built to support an enormous weight, and the material in floors, sills and support work are of the heaviest timber. It will be strictly a mill construction building. The supporting columns are set on a concrete base. The large supporting rafters rest on steel plates, and the columns for the second, third and fourth stories rest directly upon steel plates over the top of the columns underneath, fitting grooves between the rafters. This does away with any possibility of the building settling or swaying, as the weight is thrown on the supporting columns and not upon the cross beams. The floors will be of durable timber two inches in thickness. Steel window frames will be used and the windows will be raised sufficiently high from the floor to permit of complete ventilation and light, and also so that nothing will interfere with the stacking of goods on the floors. Workmen were preparing yesterday to set the base for the elevators, of which there will be two.

The building is 50 x 140 feet in dimensions. The loading of wagons will be done on the north side of the building, while goods will be received into the house on the south side, which has admirable trackage facilities. A point in favor of the location of the new home of the company is that wagons can reach the loading place without crossing the railroad tracks and at the same time the building is so situated that it has advantageous trackage facilities.

All the material for the building has been received. The heavy timbers are being raised, and weather conditions continuing as at the present time, the contractor promises to rapidly run the walls of the structure skyward.

Material for the sprinkler system, with which the structure will be adequately supplied, has arrived, and within a few days this very necessary adjunct to the modern building will be in course of installation.

The building promises to be a thing of beauty as well as a most substantial and conveniently arranged wholesale grocery house.

and supplies the crates and baskets, boxes and cases for fruits, vegetables, eggs and poultry for a great part of Texas and Oklahoma; an overalls and pants factory, with 15 men and women employees. It has recently doubled its capacity and will soon materially increase its force. Its trade extends through Texas and into Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana; a cigar factory, a broom factory, a mattress factory, bottling works, and a number of small factories employing from ten to twenty-five hands; two brick yards, the output of one being used exclusively as face brick.

Tyler has 125 miles of streets. Every yard of them being in splendid condition and several miles of them being paved with vitrified brick, and more paved sidewalks than any city of its size in the state; three woodlands and retail lumber yards; seven beautiful lakes in her vicinity; four parks, one of which contains 75 acres; 17 fraternal and social orders; 275 business houses, employing about 1,000 people; an electric street car line in course of construction.

East Texas Fair.
The Tyler Commercial club has recently reorganized the East Texas fair with a capital stock of $25,000 and secured a large tract of land within the corporate limits upon which the fair management will erect a large auditorium, merchants' art and crafts building, an exhibit hall for agricultural and orchard products; stalls to accommodate four hundred head of horses and cattle, a grand stand and other necessary buildings. The race track will equal any in the state and preparations are under way to have a very large race meet in connection with the fair here next October. The officers of the fair are: C. W. Boon, president; S. Bruck, first vice president; T. E. Swann, second vice president; W. B. March, treasurer; W. H. Caldwell, secretary; J. L. McBride, assistant secretary and John P. Mediam, lately of Columbia, Tenn, general manager.

Tyler wants factories of all kinds, business men, mechanics and home-seekers who are desirous of locating in a splendid, progressive and up-to-the-minute city. She offers free sites and other inducements for the location of manufacturing plants and other enterprises.

The Orchard and Garden of Texas.
Smith county can produce successfully a greater variety of field, garden and orchard crops than any other county in Texas.

The following data concerning the resources of Smith county for the year 1912 has been compiled by John L. McBride, secretary of the Commercial club:

Number of solid cars of fruits and vegetables grown in and shipped out of the county in the year 1912, 2,121.
Number of cars of fruits and vegetables shipped by express, 239.
Total number of cars of fruits and vegetables shipped, 2,361.
Number of cars of fruits and vegetables shipped, including canned goods, 2,491.
Number of trains of fruits and vegetables, 14 cars to the train, 155.

Resources of Smith county in 1912 brought the following amounts from the farm:

Cotton ..... $2,550,000
Cottonseed and by-products ..... 300,000
Fruit and truck ..... 1,274,000
Miscellaneous ..... 300,000

Total ..... $4,724,000

Number of acres in Smith county, 620,760.

Population in 1910, 41,746.

Taxable valuation, $12,060,000.

Tax levy, 751-2 cents on the $100 valuation.

Estimated that about half the land in the county is cleared and in cultivation and that more than four-fifths of the land is capable of cultivation.

A campaign for good roads is on in the county and no fear is felt for its successful culmination.

Following the example of other foreign cities, Paris has seen the light and henceforth the use of muffler cut outs on automobiles in that city will bring swift retribution in the form of the law. Their use has been made a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment.

The Serbian government, in a decree of Feb. 23, 1913, ordered that flour and meal imported into Serbia should be exempt from duty until further notice. The exemption is because of a shortage in the crops as a result of the war.

In the polar regions there is one inhabitant to every ten square miles.

POSTAL RECEIPTS SHOW BIG GAIN

INDEX TO GROWTH OF TOWN IS MADE IN INCREASE IN FEDERAL REVENUE

EACH YEAR IS A BETTER ONE

Postmaster Hoffmann Reports That
First Quarter of 1913 is an Added Record.

There is no better index to the importance of a city in the commercial world than the business which passes through the postoffice, and as the town grows, so grows the postoffice transactions and the number of postoffice employees.

Waco's postoffice receipts have increased more than $100,000 since the year 1899. This increase means that $100,000 more money was received at the Waco postoffice in the year 1912 than in the year 1899. In the year 1899 the revenue at the local postoffice was $47,804; in the year 1912 the receipts amounted to $148,079.71. During the past ten years the receipts have more than doubled. A doubling, of course, means that twice as much business has been transacted in that time. If the business ten years ago amounted to very little, it would mean very little, but ten years ago the postoffice receipts of Waco were large. Today they are more than twice as large. For instance, the records show that in 1901 the receipts at the office were $57,897.31. Ten years later in 1911 the receipts totaled $129,934.50, or more than twice that amount, while the year 1912 follows with an increase of $20,000 over 1911. These large annual receipts and marked increase fixes Waco as an important commercial point.

But that is not all to be found from these figures. They show the increase to be consistent, not based on boom, and to be distributed over the various years. For instance, the year 1909 shows an increase of $7,660 over 1908; 1910 shows an increase of $7,637 over 1909; 1911 exceeded 1910 by $16,626, and then comes the magnificent increase of 1912 over 1911 which amounts to $18,151.51. This enormous increase in postal receipts for the year 1912 and 1913 is a strong indication that since the close of the year 1910 there has been an era of commercial prosperity here that is far in advance of the conditions of the several years previous.

Another interesting fact is that this wonderful increase from year to year, which has become so marked during the past two years is being maintained by the new year, 1913. Figures up to April 1, 1913, end of the first quarter show that receipts at the post office were $40,720.30, as compared to $33,954.72 for the same quarter of the year 1912. This evidences the fact that the increase is continuing that promises that 1913 will outstrip the year 1912, the greatest so far in the history of the office.

These figures are interesting to any student of commercial conditions. It is an analysis of the conditions in plain figures that must be accepted.

Postmaster W. H. Hoffmann carefully compiled the figures for fourteen years for this issue of the Morning News, and in submitting them he directed attention to the big business now, it being his opinion that it means a great deal more than is apparent on the surface. The statement for the fourteen years is as follows:

|      |              |
|------|--------------|
| 1899 | $ 47,804.00 |
| 1900 | 50,724.40    |
| 1901 | 57,897.31    |
| 1902 | 62,430.36    |
| 1903 | 60,371.76    |
| 1904 | 63,406.01    |
| 1905 | 68,907.15    |
| 1906 | 81,575.79    |
| 1907 | 90,545.48    |
| 1908 | 98,215.57    |
| 1909 | 105,876.52   |
| 1910 | 112,512.91   |
| 1911 | 129,934.50   |
| 1912 | 148,079.71   |

Much is Disbursed in This City.

The figures given above show the amount that is expended with the federal postoffice department in this city by reason of the commercial affairs of Waco. But there is another side of it, because there is a condition existing which shows that this money does not all go to help sustain the federal government in other parts of the country. Uncle Sam has a payroll in Waco, and some of the money stays right here and is circulated through the ordinary channels of trade. There are many of the postoffice employees who make touch with the affairs of the city; they pay checks here and they spend what they earn for house rent, groceries and clothes.

There are one hundred and four employees of the postoffice department, including railway postal clerks who receive pay checks in Waco and make Waco their headquarters. This is an increase of four employees over the year 1912. Of this number they are distributed in the following branches of the work:

27 postoffice employees,
19 letter carriers,
2 substitute carriers,
9 rural route carriers,
2 substitute rural route carriers,
23 railway postal clerks,
4 janitors,
2 special delivery boys.

The average salary earnings of these people is $90 each month, which shows a distribution of about $9,360 monthly in wage earnings by the postoffice department in Waco.

Rural Routes Out of Waco.
There are nine rural free delivery routes out of Waco, and the carriers on their daily trips to the homes of the people, cover county roads for a distance of 218 miles. These routes go in all directions from the city as a center, and they reach the farther limits of the county. They bring the people of every outlying community in close touch with the affairs of the city; they provide them with their daily papers, and through the conveniences of the rural free delivery these people can carry on business transactions with the merchants and professional men of the town. It is a great thing, this rural route, and it does good for Waco and for the business hours here.

There are not less than 1,500 homes along these routes and may be more.

GEORGE V. HAS SIX THRONES.

England's Monarch is Well Supplied With Regal Seats.

(From Harper's Weekly.)

King George has six thrones. One would naturally suppose that the king would "sit upon his throne" at Windsor—that that, so to speak, would be the "official" throne. While, however, there are both a throne and a throne room in that ancient palace the Windsor throne is probably the very last one of all whereon one might find the English sovereign. The throne at Buckingham palace is the more generally used, inasmuch as the greater number of ceremonial functions occur there.

The kings of England may be said to have a set of thrones. In the case of one throne—the coronation chair at Westminster Abbey—he certainly uses it but once. This is the worn-out, battered, lion-footed old oak settle that contains the "Stone of Destiny." Upon it since the days of Edward II. have been crowned all the rulers of England. This chair might very well be called the "throne of the British empire," since it is by far the most ancient of the English thrones. To be crowned the ruler must sit upon this throne, and no other.

One may be sure of one thing however, in this connection—no king of England or anyone else for that matter, would voluntarily seek a seat on this ancient throne more than once, since it is a decidedly uncomfortable resting place. It stands, year in and year out, in the chapel of Edward the Confessor, and it is removed only on the occasion of a coronation. Then, covered with gold brocade, it is set under the lectern between the choir and the altar.

The throne with which the British public is most familiar is that which stands upon a dais in the house of lords. The houses of Parliament contain another throne—that in the king's robing room. This is employed by the king when he is donning his regal garb previously to entering the house of peers to read his speech.

Another throne is that at St. James' palace, which is a very ordinary looking building at the foot of St. James street. This throne is a very handsome one, standing under a magnificent and ornate canopy. It is here that the foreign ambassadors who are credited to the Court of St. James are received.

The throne at Windsor is unique in one respect. It is constructed entirely of ivory. It was a gift from one of the princes of India.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas it has pleased the Supreme Council of the Universe to summon our beloved brother, Capt. J. Harvey Wheeler, into the council beyond the stars, there to await the coming of his brethren that they may be assured of a welcome by the grasp of his genial hand and the sound of his well remembered voice;

Be it resolved by Waco Council No. 52, United Commercial Travelers of America, in regular session May 3, 1913, that in the passing away of this, our brother, we feel that our craft has suffered a great loss, as he was a veteran commercial traveler with a state-wide acquaintance, and whose kindly acts endeared him to all.

We desire to express in words, however inadequate, to his loved ones our sympathy, and in our feeble way try to comfort them in their dark hours, and to assure them that we, all, feel a keen personal grief at his loss to us. The world is better for the influence of such a life as his and we have been most fortunate in having him dwell with us so many years, to be a living exponent of the tenets of our order, Unity, Charity, Temperance.

"Lives of great men all remind us, We can make our lives sublime, And, departing, leave behind us Foot prints on the Sands of Time, Foot prints, that perhaps, another Sailing o'er Life's solemn main, Some forlorn and shipwrecked brother, Seeing, shall take hope again."

Be it resolved further, that a copy of this resolution be spread on the minutes, a copy sent to his family and a copy furnished the press.

Handsome Home of the Huaco Club—Overlooks the Entire City of Waco

Waco has a number of very delightful clubs where visitors are entertained and where the members spend their leisure time. The Huaco club is probably the most exclusive social organization in the state. Its grounds lie at the western terminus of Sanger avenue, and are reached by the Sanger avenue car of the Southern Traction company. The club house is located on a knoll, a wide breadth of green carpeted lawn, spreading to the south. There are pretty trees on the grounds, and flowers, wide walks and drives. The club has bowling alleys, billiard and pool, fine reading room, where all current magazines and newspapers are available. It has the most comfortable dining hall in the state, where its members and their visiting friends.

The Philo club is the oldest social organization in the city, having been organized thirty years ago. It is a downtown club, the purposes of which are social only. Its functions are the most elaborate social affairs in Central Texas. The Country club is located in the northern part of the city suburbs, just north of Cameron park. Its club house overlooks the prettiest scenery of the section, and overlooks the meanderings of the Brazos. It has a membership which includes the most important people of Waco. The Progress club is one of the strongest organizations in the state, being social in its purposes, its membership being made up of the most exclusive element of the Jewish citizenship of Waco. Its social affairs rival in splendor that of any social organization in the state. In addition to these organizations there are a number of clubs maintained by fraternal organizations, such as the Elks, the Eagles, the Moose. A new downtown club is in prospect, the organization now forming to occupy quarters in a building to be erected by the Breustedt estate at the corner of Eighth and Austin avenue. It is to be very exclusive.

VACCINATION TO HALT MENINGITIS

REPORT ON RESULTS DURING PAST WINTER BY STATE BACTERIOLOGIST.

PEOPLE AT FIRST ARE AFRAID

Several Thousand Are Finally Persuaded and Efficacy of Method Is Proved.

San Antonio, May 7.—The following paper will be read before the State Medical Association at San Antonio today, by Dr. Henry Hartman, state bacteriologist. It was prepared by Dr. Hartman and Dr. M. H. Boerner, director of the hookworm commission, who were closely associated in administering vaccine during the meningitis scare during the legislature, and who conducted numerous experiments and made many blood analyses.

"The object of this paper is to give as nearly as possible some idea as to the number of cases in which anti-meningitis vaccine was used as a prophylactic measure in the city of Austin and neighboring towns, during the winter months of 1912 and '13, and to what extent we are permitted to think it served the purpose for which it was employed. In the preparation of this paper we have avoided a discussion of details carried out in the experimental studies.

During the latter part of October when we saw reasons for thinking there would be cases of meningitis to contend with in the state during the cold months, it was suggested an effort be made to determine if possible the efficiency of anti-meningitis vaccine as a protection against the disease. In doing this we followed some of the methods suggested and employed by Drs. Sophian and Block in the Texas epidemic of 1912. In addition to using the blood tests carried out by these men, we have had an opportunity to collect what would appear to be considerable clinical evidence of protection against meningitis by the use of the vaccine.

"In attempting to carry out this work difficulties were met with, for the reason that those willing to be vaccinated could not be found. There were few, if any who had not heard the report all over the city at the time to the effect that the prophylactic measure, the use of which was being recommended by the state health department, was far from free of danger, far from safe or even sane. It was necessary to have some one to point to who had received the three injections and was still alive before any headway could be made. During the latter part of November, several members of the health department force volunteered to take the treatment. A report given out about two weeks later that testing the blood of those vaccinated led us to believe that some degree of immunity had been developed, together with the fact that several fatal cases of meningitis were reported in the city, brought more subjects for vaccination.

Adults and Children.

"The use of the vaccine was soon taken up by the physicians in Austin and neighboring towns. It was then used only to vaccinate those who had been exposed to cases of meningitis and those found to be 'carriers,' but later the prophylactic treatment was administered to about 2000 individuals in the city of Austin and about 400 in and around the town of Manor. Practically all ages were represented by the number receiving the vaccine, from that of a child nine months to adults 65 years old. It is interesting to note in this connection that in no case did we see a reaction following vaccination that could have been thought of as in any way serious. What was observed in the way of a reaction was very similar to that occurring in the use of typhoid vaccine. The administration of adult doses to children 12 years of age produced no more alarming constitutional symptoms than frontal headache and a temperature of 102½, all of which passed off entirely in several hours. Another point prominent in importance to be mentioned here is that injurious effects have not followed this form of vaccination. There have been no permanent injuries due to the vaccination. The dangers that attended small pox vaccination are not to be feared.

One Case Only After Vaccination.

"Those to whom the vaccine was administered included doctors and nurses attending cases of meningitis and members of families in homes where the disease existed. There were very few contacts who did not receive the prophylactic treatment. Many of the vaccinated were frequently exposed to meningitis. Of the entire number about 3,500, vaccinated in Austin and Manor, only a single one, an inmate of the lunatic asylum developed the disease (in one of the wards for colored where there had been four cases.) It is to be mentioned also that by far the greater number of the cases of meningitis in the city developed (among the unvaccinated) after a big majority of those vaccinated had received a part or all of the prophylactic treatment. Following the rapid invasion of the ranks of the legislature there were no further cases of meningitis among the members of that body after a large majority of their number had received the second injection. None of the 1,000 or more vaccinated university students had meningitis. The blood of a number of those vaccinated was tested to find whether an immunity had been developed. In carrying out these tests we were fortunate enough to have had an opportunity, through the courtesy of local physicians, to get blood from meningitis cases to compare with blood of vaccinated cases and blood from a healthy person who had not been vaccinated.

It was found that a rather high degree of immunity had been developed in nearly every case twelve days after the last injection of the treatment and that three months later a slightly smaller percentage still showed evidence of a high degree of immunity.

Efficiency Is Established.

It will be necessary to have some juggling of statistics and more clinical and laboratory evidence of the efficacy of vaccination added to what we already have before it can be classed as one of the established medical facts, or be regarded as 'highly salutary to the human race,' as is smallpox vaccination. We do believe, however, that its efficacy has been established to such an extent and its harmlessness so clearly shown that it would not be wrong for us, as members of the medical profession, to contradict the great amount of misinformation that has been spread among the people and has aroused considerable opposition to vaccination.

We are mindful of the fact that the great majority of the body politic is willing to be guided by scientific medical opinion in matters medical, and that we owe it to the people to wait until it would be difficult to more strongly prove, and conclusively prove, any fact of medicine before recommending its use too highly. We feel that in the use of anti-meningitis vaccine we are allowed to favor the argument 'let those who will protect themselves.

AXTELL ACTIVE IN DEVELOPMENT

Waco Morning News is a much looked for and welcome visitor, there being quite a number of subscribers on this route.

Wm. W. Barrett is the route carrier of Route No. 2. He covers about 24 miles daily and spreads the Morning News and other messages of sunshine and gladness over the way he travels.

F. B. Dobbs and W. T. Moore are the joint section foremen for the Cotton Belt out of Axtell. One operates north of town and the other south. R. A. Finney has recently established a family grocery business in Axtell and has everything brand new and up-to-date. He is doing quite a lucrative business and is a very popular man, having been the Cotton Belt station master here for a number of years.

Cord Wood Business.

The getting out of cord wood and shipping from here in carload lots is a very profitable industry, and at the same time gives considerable employment to the unemployed between seasons.

There is quite a sprinkling of business here done through the Cotton Belt stock pens in shipping cattle and hogs to foreign markets.

The Cotton Belt has a large handsome station house or depot here, for the accommodation of the traveling and shipping public, and the passenger department is kept in a clean, healthy and sanitary condition.

W. D. Thompson is a capitalist and real estate dealer, and it is said he is a power in the land, having made this his residence for the past 15 years, and the people have learned to know and trust him.

The Axtell cemetery is situated in the suburbs of town and from the appearances it is a small proposition, which goes to show that this is a healthy town; in other words, the people live here instead of die.

G. L. Spencer is a constant reader of the Waco Morning News and he remarked that he cannot do without it. Dr. J. W. Norvell is the resident physician for Axtell.

R. W. Wallace is the cold storage and ice man and attends to all wants in his line.

CULTURE OF PEARL OYSTERS.

Decrease in Yield Leads to Artificial Means of Growth.

(From Harper's Weekly.)

There is a serious decrease in the supply of pearl oysters. For many years these mollusks have been gathered so continuously and so heedlessly that many localities have been exhausted, and elsewhere the yield is small, while prices for both shell and pearls are steadily rising. Hence scientific experts have been employed by commercial companies and by governments to discover the means of cultivating these mollusks as edible oysters are cultivated.

Such experiments have taken place in Australia, Burma, in the Persian gulf, in the Gulf of California, and elsewhere, but not with any great promise, except in Japan. There the production of 'culture pearls' has been going on since 1889 in the Bay of Aizu, Shima Province, where now several square miles of sea bottom are devoted to pearl oyster cultivation. Here stones are laid down in places suitable for catching the spat or spaw, just before the season when it is poured into the water. Later these stones, with the minute oysters attached to them, are moved to places more favorable for their growth, where they are left to develop. When of suitable size the workmen, a large village of whom inhabit an island in the midst of the beds, take them up and divide them between the body and the shell of each mollusk a bead of mother of pearl.

In four years this has become covered, except upon the side which touches the shell, with layers of nacre, forming a pear-shaped globular body called a 'culture pearl' or 'blister.' These products are hardly more than hemispherical, however, as a rule, and are useful only for settings, or where half-pearls might be employed, and hence have far less value than natural pearls which are more or less perfectly rounded. About $400 are produced annually. It has not been found possible to produce real spherical pearls on a commercial scale.

There is a growing solidarity among women wage-earners in France, and there is every reason to believe that the average wages paid will be materially increased during 1913.

INCOME TAX GUIDE

SYNOPSIS OF THE PROVISIONS OF THE FEDERAL LAW NOW MAKING.

Give instant information for the busy man who wants to know what he will pay.

An official synopsis of the income tax bill, intended for the busy man who has no time to puzzle over the confusing and complex legal phraseology of the measure, has been prepared by Representative Hull, the income tax expert of the house.

This synopsis is the nearest approach to a simple and intelligible explanation of the bill that has yet come in response to hundreds of requests and will be distributed over the country to persons who are seeking light on this important bill.

Here is the Hull synopsis of the sections in the bill which relate to the tax on individuals:

INCOME TAX—PERSONAL.

Incomes Covered.

Those of all citizens of the United States residing at home or abroad. Those of all persons residing in the United States although not citizens thereof.

All net incomes of property owned and from every business, trade or profession carried on in the United States by persons residing elsewhere.

Normal Tax. One per cent per annum upon the amount of net income over $4000.

Additional Tax. One per cent per annum upon the total amount of net income from all sources over $20,000 and not over $50,000 per annum.

Two per cent per annum upon the amount of net income over $50,000 and not over $100,000.

Three per cent per annum upon the amount of net income over $100,000.

Not Income Includes. All gains, profits and income derived from salaries, wages or compensation for personal services of any kind and however paid.

Professions or vocations. Business, trade or commerce.

RIGGINS' TEN STORY HOTEL

One of the greatest accomplishments that has been recorded by the commercial organizations of Waco was the joint efforts of the Young Men's Business League and the Chamber of Commerce that has resulted in the guarantee to Waco of a modern ten-story hotel, which will provide facilities sufficient for the visitors to this city for many years to come.

The movement started late in the year 1912, and was the offer of a bonus of $50,000 to the man or men who would make the best offer in the way of a complete hotel. It was at the beginning of the year that the bonus award was made. J. W. Riggins, president of the Young Men's Business League, considered the offer and announced that the last few weeks that ground is to be broken about May 15, and the construction of the hotel is to commence.

The new hotel is to be located at the corner of Eighth and Austin avenue, as prominent a corner as there is in the city. It is high, and convenient to every section of the city. All the street car lines, except one, pass this corner. The location of the hotel at which is now the eastern limit of the business section promises to attract more commercial enterprises to that part of town, and it is believed that brick buildings along Austin avenue and on Eighth and Ninth streets will immediately follow the construction of the hotel.

With the building of this hotel, Waco extends an invitation to the people of Texas to visit here. They will be well accommodated. In addition to the new house there is the remodeled Metropole, the up-to-date State House, the St. Charles, which is to be improved, the hotel which is to be erected by Mrs. Streeter, the remodeled depot hotel, where work is now in progress by G. H. Leudde, the New Exchange and the Adams, the Bristol and the Navigator, with rooms and pool bathing at the Nataratorium.

The Riggins hotel is to be modern in every respect. The basement will be 115x105 feet. It will contain a barber shop, large pool hall, dining room for the help, boiler and machinery room, public toilet, tailor shop, refrigeration required in a first-class hotel.

First Floor and Lobby. The first floor will be the same size as the basement floor, will have an entrance on Austin and entrance on Eighth streets to the lobby, which will be 40x50 feet, not including an alcove for the ladies, which is so arranged that the ladies can look out on Austin street or be in the lobby.

The dining room will be on the ground floor and will be 30x54 feet. The kitchen will also be on the first floor and will be 50x50 feet. There will be service halls between the kitchen and dining room and there will be a grill room 30x40 feet, so constructed that a service can be had immediately from the kitchen, which will open out into the lobby as the dining room does and also will have an opening on Eighth street.

There will be a drug store on the corner of Austin and Eighth streets. The lobby floor will be of white hexagon tile and will have a deep marble wainscot. The office will be situated so that the clerks can face both entrances, dining room door and stairway, and it is arranged with special reference to the protection of the guests.

The kitchen is large and has an ideal arrangement to give the very best service, not only to the dining room but to the grill room. It is so constructed that it will have ample ventilation and air drafts into the main stack.

The Second Story. The second floor will contain a banquet hall 30x45 feet so arranged that the service will be quick and ample from the kitchen. There will be two private dining rooms. Adjoining this banquet hall will be a lobby 36x48 feet in the center of which will be a well hole 16 feet square opening down into the main lobby. On this floor will be private parlors, large sample rooms and a large room 16x24 feet which is to be the headquarters of the commercial traveler free of charge.

The banquet hall will be so constructed that the lobby on the second floor and banquet hall can open out into each other, with glass doors and windows, and can be used for balls, banquets and conventions.

The lobby on the first and second floors will be special attractions of the hotel.

There will be 215 rooms, all with running water, 160 rooms with bath room connection, 53 with running water and private toilet.

The building will be built of steel reinforced concrete, finished with faced brick, on the order of the American building. The rooms will be large and well ventilated and the building will cost approximately $400,000 to build.

deceased or insolvent persons.

Collection at the Source.

All persons, firms, companies, etc., including lessors or mortgagors of real or personal property, trustees acting in any trust capacity, executors, etc., employers and all officers and employees of the United States having control, receipt, custody, disposal or payment of interest, rent, salaries, wages, premiums, annuities, compensation, remuneration, emoluments or other fixed or determinable annual gains, profits and income of another person exceeding $4000 for any taxable year, who are required to make and render a return in behalf of another, are hereby authorized and required to deduct and withhold such normal tax and pay it to the United States official authorized to receive the same.

Funeral of S. J. Thomas.

Austin, May 7.—Sidney J. Thomas, who died last night after midnight following an operation for appendicitis, will be buried tomorrow afternoon in the state cemetery. Mr. Thomas died at the Texas School for the Deaf, of which he has been superintendent. When the doctors told him yesterday afternoon that he could not live he asked that he be taken to the sanatorium, that he might die there instead of at the sanatorium. His request was granted. For many years Mr. Thomas was an active newspaper man, giving up the editorship of the Comanche Chief to accept the position with the Colquitt administration.

Jobbing Trade Is Large In the City of Waco

Over Twenty Millions of Dollars the Showing For Wholesale Business That Makes Waco a Center In Commerce.

ALL LINES HERE ARE INCLUDED IN THIS LIST

Factories Make a Large Favorable Showing According to Census Figures—Added to These Is the Cotton Jobbing Business of Large Proportions.

Waco occupies a very advantageous position in the commercial activities of Texas.

Some may say that the claim is theoretical. This might be believed if there were no other facts to present to bear out the claim that is made by the people of Waco, but fortunately Waco has the business to justify the claims that are made. Waco has every character of jobbing trade, and there are large manufacturing enterprises here which attest the truth of the claim that manufacturing can be carried on in this town with a good earning on the investment.

Statistics of Waco Trade. Supplementing the theoretical claim that is made, the following statistics of Waco's jobbing business annually to conclude:

|---------------------------------|--------------|
| Groceries and produce           | $12,000,000 |
| Dry goods                       | 1,500,000    |
| Hardware and implements         | 2,500,000    |
| Cigars                          | 1,000,000    |
| Coal, lignite and wood          | 2,000,000    |
| Drugs                           | 1,750,000    |
| Cotton seed oil and by-products | 1,500,000    |
| Crackers                        | 150,000      |
| Coffins                         | 100,000      |
| Shoe                            | 1,000,000    |
| Harness, saddlery and find-     | 1,000,000    |
| Slides                          | 500,000      |
| Ice                             | 200,000      |
| Liquors                         | 350,000      |
| Lumber                          | 5,500,000    |
| Furniture                       | 250,000      |
| Packing house products          | 1,700,000    |
| Printing                        | 100,000      |

Total $33,100,000

The above figures are only on general lines and are in round numbers. It is impossible to get complete adding machine totals from the various business houses which are included in the jobbing and manufacturing trade, but there has been a careful and conservative estimate made by Secretary Drake of the Waco Business Men's club and the totals shown above are the result of that compilation. Mr. Drake is in close touch with the business interests of the city, and the policy of the Business Men's club being a conservative one, directed by conservative men, the reader is assured that no figure in the above estimate is overdrawn.

Some Manufacturing Lines. Waco has many leading industries. According to the figures of the United States census the condition in 1910 was as follows:

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| Number of establishments                                | 92         |
| Salaries and wages                                      | $ 805,000 |
| Capital invested  | 3,581,000  |
| Cost of materials                                       | 2,935,000  |
| Miscellaneous expenses                                  | 389,000    |
| Value of products                                       | 4,769,000  |
| Value added by manufacture                              | 1,804,000  |
| Less cost of materials                                  | 1,804,000  |
| Number of salaried officials and clerks                 | 206        |
| Average number of wage earners employed during the year | 1,032      |

While this statement is two years old, it must be understood that no such concise statement of such industries can be secured except decennially when the census is taken. Business men are not disposed to go into such details in giving out figures, and it is only because the United States government requires that certain questions shall be answered and the federal statute fixes a punishment for those who do not answer, that details of this character are available at all. Therefore, those seeking information of this kind must depend from census to census upon the actual figures of the government making their estimates of the increase from time to time as the increase of all lines about them is shown.

Articles of Necessity.

The above list is a fine showing for this or any city. It is seen that here are manufactured the articles that are most used in every day life in the home and the business house. These factories do not depend upon the desire for luxuries for their business, but they provide that which must be had for food, that which is used in cleanliness, that which is used for clothes—in fact everything is a virtual necessity, and these necessities provide from month to month a steady profitable demand.

Waco has every advantage to encourage the manufacturer, it matters not what his line. The water is here, the fuel is at the very door of the city, the transportation facilities cannot be surpassed, the freight rates are available and the conveniences of homes for those who are unemployed are available.

Big Cotton Jobbing Trade.

The figures given above in regard to the jobbing trade amount in the aggregate to $33,100,000 for the annual business of the city. Add to this a total annual cotton jobbing trade which will amount to $45,000,000. These figures are bound to be appalling. Just stop for an instant and appraise what it means per capita.

According to the most conservative estimates, there are 25,000 people in the city of Waco. These people, some of them doing much of it, some of them doing little of it, but all doing a part of it, are handling a jobbing and cotton business of over $70,000,000 a year!

It means $2,000 a year per capita of jobbing and cotton business annually. It means that the wage earner, the baker, the business man—in fact, that people in all grades are taking a hand in promoting a gigantic trade in and out of this city.

It is a big jobbing trade in and out of Waco that persuades the railroads to build into this city.

It is the big jobbing trade that persuades so many bankers to select this city for the location of banks.

It is so much jobbing trade that causes the increase in retail business establishments.

It is because the professional men and office men are required for their share of the work in such a big business development that the Amicable Insurance company saw the need of a twenty-two story office building, and others are in prospect. No citizen of Waco must lose sight of the fact that wholesalers, jobbers and manufacturers are necessary to the upbuilding of a city. A town in which the energies of the people are confined to retail business affairs, must necessarily be a town of trade and barter between only the citizens of the community; it means that railroads will operate straight tracks through the town limits and that shipments of merchandise come in and do not go out. But the city in which there is a wholesale trade, in which there are factories and jobbers, extend their commercial relations to the farthest point reached by the most favorable railroad rate; they induce people of other towns to come to them to trade; they invite financial relations with their bankers and they bring in more citizenship to help handle the magnitude of the business that comes from other towns within the trade territory.

TWO BIG DEPARTMENT STORES

Sangers and Goldstein-Migel Cover Wide Trade Territory in Texas.

Two of the biggest concerns in the city are the Sanger Brothers and Goldstein-Migel Co. The former does a retail and wholesale trade combined, while the latter is exclusively a retail store. Both are situated in the downtown district. The Goldstein-Migel Co. has just recently moved into their new building at Sixth and Austin streets, while Sanger Brothers are remodeling a half block adjoining their present store, with a view to occupying additional space. Also plans for a new wholesale establishment, to be located on Washington street at the rear of the retail stores have been drawn. The wholesale department of Sanger reaches throughout Waco's trade territory, while the retail goods of both firms find sale in hundreds of smaller cities surrounding.

The two concerns give employment to approximately 500 men and women. Both are heavy contributors to the Waco pay roll.

WHOLESALE HOUSES IN WACO

Big Concerns Which Send Their Goods Into All the Neighboring States.

The Rotan Grocery company, one of the larger wholesale concerns in the city, employs 125 persons in the grocery department, has twenty-nine traveling salesmen "making" the trade territory out of Waco, and has branch houses in various cities surrounding Waco. The concern also operates a factory in which 54 persons are employed, and which has three traveling salesmen on the road. In bagging and ties this concern carries Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana.

R. T. Dennis & Co., wholesale and retail, has fifty-three employees and a weekly pay roll of $750. This concern is one of the largest retail institutions in the city. Recently spacious improvements were made on the building occupied by the company.

The Behrens Drug company, wholesale, employs 53 persons, has eleven traveling men on the road. Seven of these travel the Texas territory, and four cover the states of Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia, Florida and Alabama, to which states the concern's trade territory reaches. The company has a weekly pay roll of between $1500 and $1800. Contract has just been closed for a four-story and basement building as the new home of the concern.

The Waco Drug company, wholesale, occupying its own home, with good railroad facilities, has twenty-one employees in the house and six traveling salesmen. Its monthly pay roll amounts to $3500. The trade territory of the concern extends 250 miles to the westward and 150 to the east.

The McLendon Hardware company is one of the largest wholesale concerns in Central Texas. The company occupies a floor space of approximately 175,250 square feet. It employs 75 persons in its wholesale and retail departments and has nine traveling men on the road. Its trade territory is all of Central Texas.

In the wholesale line the Herrick Hardware company is one of the largest in Central Texas. The concern employs ten traveling salesmen, has 65 employees and a weekly pay roll of $1500. The concern has possibly as much floor space in use as any shipping house in the central part of the state. Its trade territory is all of Central Texas and portions of West Texas.

Taylor-Hanna-James company is one of the largest wholesale concerns employing five traveling salesmen, three city salesmen and having twenty-six employees. This concern has a monthly pay roll of $3200.

Crow Bros' Waco Steam Laundry employs 106 persons and has a pay roll of $1000 weekly. The concern has fifty agencies outside of the city of Waco and its trade territory extends for 200 miles in all directions.

Industrial Cotton Oil company occupies a large plant in the manufacturing center of the city. The concern operates its mill night and day, never closing. It employs eighty men, has two traveling salesmen, and its pay roll approximates between $1000 and $1200 weekly. Its goods are sold all over Waco's trade territory.

SOME BIG FACTORY PLANTS

Waco Is Home of a Lot of Concerns Who Are Factors in Production.

The Waco Sash and Door company, one of the largest manufacturing enterprises of its kind in the southwest, is a substantial contributor to the pay roll of Waco. The company at present has 200 persons on its pay roll, and at times this number is larger. Its business comes from all parts of the United States. It has recently moved into a handsome manufacturing plant, erected at a cost of over $1,000,000. Another 100 men are in the employ of the William Cameron interests in Waco, which company is heavily interested in the sash and door company.

Nash, Robinson & Co. is another of the large concerns in the city whose traveling men go out after the business of Waco's trade territory. The concern employs forty-six men in the offices and yards, and has three traveling road men. Its territory extends 300 miles west of Waco and over 100 miles east. The pay roll of the company will aggregate $500 weekly.

Dennis Manufacturing company, occupying a large plant, has a growing business in Waco. The concern has fifteen employees and an average weekly pay roll of $200. One traveling man is kept continually on the road selling Waco made goods.

Among the larger manufacturing plants making Waco its home is the Tom Padgett company. Situated within the heart of the city, this concern reaches out after the business of seven states. The company employs 127 persons, and has a weekly pay roll in Waco of $1600. Eight traveling salesmen traverse the states of Kansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas. It is one of the largest concerns in the state.

The Clifton Manufacturing company, located in East Waco, employs 75 persons and has a weekly pay roll of between $900 and $1000. The concern has ten traveling salesmen who visit the trade every month of the year. It covers the state of Texas with its goods like a blanket, and secures business from all adjoining states.

The Longley Clothing Manufacturing company has a modern plant on North Fourth street. The company employs between 50 and 75 persons, the number varying according to the season. Its trade territory extends throughout all of Texas and reaches into Oklahoma and portions of Arkansas. The concern has two traveling representatives, and a weekly pay roll of about $500.

The J. F. Hopkins Carriage shop, manufacturers, employ 25 persons and has a weekly pay roll of $300.

The Pat Hopkins company, manufacturers, employs 15 persons, and has a weekly pay roll of between $200 and $225.

The C. M. Trautschold company, manufacturers, employs 35 persons and has a weekly pay roll of $450. Its trade territory extends over the entire state.

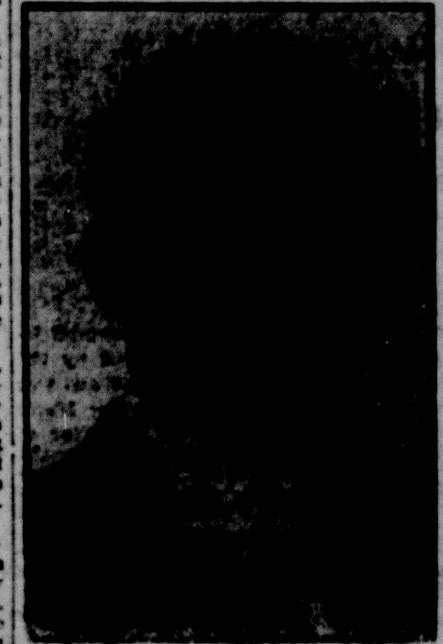

Portland, Ore., recently had a salmon day on which everyone ate salmon. It was intended as a boost for the Pacific coast salmon industry. It resulted at once in fixing the second Friday of each March as salmon day. Next year the movement, which was centered principally in the Pacific coast cities this year, will be spread over the whole country.

A Good Union Man.

Up in Minnesota a Swede named Jensen was the star pitcher of one of the league teams. The score was 9 to 9 in the ninth. As his team started for the field to begin the tenth he suddenly dropped the ball and started for the bench. "Hey, what's the matter?" cried his manager. Jensen held up a large brown hand for attention, and then made oratory: "Meester Manajer, Aye han gude hard worker. Aye han villing dat Aye shal peethich has nine earnings. But fen Aye han ask dat Aye shal go dan overtime, Aye han made kick. Aye han gude union mans an' Aye not work overtime unless Aye shal get overtime pay!" And it is said that the manager had to promise him $5 on the side before he'd go back and finish the game—Exchange.

PURDON LIES IN TIMBER ZONE

Land is Rich and Produces Everything—Town Handles Lot of Cotton.

(Written for the Trade Edition of The Morning News.)

Purdon, May 7.—Purdon, like Corbett, is in the timber, and the land about it, both upland and the Richland creek bottom, is rich and produces everything suitable to the climate in great abundance. Purdon is improving very rapidly and the improvements are substantial. The town has twelve business houses. There is one two-story brick and one one-story brick and another brick now in course of erection. The other business houses are of wood, but are substantial. There is a large two-story brick public school house, one bank, with a capital of $20,000, two churches, two gas, and four dry goods and four grocery stores, and two drug stores, a big lumber yard, and an artesian well that supplies the place with good water. Last season the place handled between 6000 and 6500 bales of cotton.

BILLIONS IN LIFE INSURANCE.

Policies in U. S. and Canada Now Aggregate $20,000,000,000.

(From Leslie's Weekly)
The vast number of persons interested in life insurance is indicated in the statement that the life insurance now in force in the United States and Canada aggregates $20,000,000,000. The policies which add up to this immense total vary in face value from small to very large sums, but the majority of them have been issued to persons of moderate means who cannot afford to risk payment of premium money to weak and unreliable companies. Fortunately, the leading life insurance organizations are very prosperous and have ample reserves, so that their responsibility is unquestioned, while they meet all obligations promptly and without raising mere technical points. The policy holders, therefore, justly feel that they have done the safe thing in securing insurance from the strong companies, which pay out yearly to the insured or their heirs an aggregate of more than $500,000,000.

This impressive fact furnishes a strong argument in favor of life insurance.

CORPORATIONS OCCUPY CITY COMMONS ON LEASES RUNNING UNTIL 1960

Nearly Half Century Before Posterity Can Enjoy the Benefits Intended by Jacob de Cordova and N. A. Ware When They Gave the Ground.

Since there has been some discussion recently in the charter writing committee regarding the rights of the city to the public commons, now occupied by the Texas Power and Light company and the Southern Traction company, it would be well for the people of Waco to know that the lease under which this land is now held is to run until 1960.

That is pretty close to a half century. If the commons are the property of the city and were to be enjoyed by posterity in compliance with the wish of N. A. Ware and Jacob de Cordova who gave the land to the people, the realization of posterity will be long deferred and it will be the posterity of several generations hence, if the present leases continue.

In adjusting all the various leases of the two corporations last year, the city commission stated in the ordinance that the city does not guarantee any of the rights under the various leases. The original lease granted to the Consolidated Eureka Gas company in 1872 was by a town administration that was appointed by the military authority—the days of reconstruction. The ordinance passed last August in regard to the leases on this public property, provide that the Texas Power and Light company will pay a rental of $100 and the Southern Traction company a rental of $48. The ordinance reads:

The Franchise Ordinance.
Whereas, Texas Power and Light company, a Texas corporation, has acquired leases of certain leases of certain premises belonging to the city of Waco, hereinafter described; and whereas the lease for the greater part of said premises expires July 20, 1971, but the lease for the small part thereof expires October 22, 1960, and the lease for another small part expires July 24, 1940; and

Whereas, the lease above mentioned expiring October 22, 1960, also includes certain premises hereinafter described, now occupied by the Southern Traction company, a Texas corporation; and

Whereas, the lease above mentioned rights of each of said companies and their relative obligations to the city be more definitely fixed, and that the city of Waco become entitled to receive the whole of said premises at the same time, and said Texas Power and Light company has agreed to surrender a portion of the term of said longest and largest leasehold in consideration of the extension of said shortest leasehold and the extension of the electric light and power franchise hereinafter mentioned; and

Whereas, said Texas Power and Light company has acquired that certain electric light and power franchise granted by the city of Waco to Waco Electric Railway and Light company, hereinafter mentioned; and whereas, said Texas Power and Light company contemplates the expenditure of large sums of money in the city of Waco for the erection of plants for furnishing electricity to the city of Waco, the citizens thereof and consumers beyond the limits thereof, provided it can receive from the city certain rights and franchises necessary to be granted, if said business is to be constructed and its products distributed in this city; now therefore Rental of $100 a Year.

Be it ordained by the Board of Commissioners of the City of Waco: First—That for and in consideration of the annual rental of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00), payable on the first day of each October during the term hereof, and the surrender of the interest in except the herein given to the premises hereinafter described, and the city does hereby lease and demise to Texas Power and Light company, a Texas corporation, its successors and assigns, to be used by said company for the general purposes contemplated by the ordinance, the following described premises in the city of Waco, county of McLennan, and state of Texas, for the term expiring October 22, 1960, at noon:

Beginning at a point twenty-five (25) feet north 45 degrees east from the north corner of River block in the southeast side of Franklin street if prolonged; running thence south 45 degrees east along the northeast side of a twenty-two (22) foot alley, three hundred and forty-nine feet and three-tenths (349.3) feet, more or less, to the northeast side of Mary street if prolonged; thence along the north side of Mary street if prolonged, one hundred and sixty (160) feet to an iron pin; thence south 45 degrees east along the distance along the northeast side of block twenty-two (22) five hundred (500) feet, more or less, to the northwest side of Jackson street; thence north 45 degrees east along the northeast side of Jackson street to the Brazos river; thence up the Brazos river with its meanders to a point where the said Brazos river is intersected by the southeast line of Franklin street, if prolonged in a northeasterly direction; thence south 45 degrees west along said southeast line of Franklin street, if so prolonged, to the point or place of beginning. Provided that nothing herein shall authorize the closing of any street opening to the river on the west side.

And that the provisions of this paragraph be embodied in an indenture which shall be executed, acknowledged and delivered by the proper officers of said Texas Power and Light company and the city of Waco, respectively, which indenture shall state that said Texas Power and Light company surrenders such part of the term of said lease expiring July 20, 1971, as shall remain after October 22, 1960, at noon.

Rental of $48 Per Year.
Second—That for and in consideration of the sum of forty-eight dollars ($48.00) the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, the city of Waco does hereby lease and demise to Southern Traction company, a Texas corporation, its successors and assigns, to be used by said company for the general purposes contemplated by the ordinance, the following described premises in the city of Waco, for the term expiring October 22, 1960, at noon: Beginning at an iron pin twenty-five (25) feet north 45 degrees east and ten (10) feet south, 45 degrees east from the east corner of Perry block, running thence north 45 degrees west one hundred and ten (110) feet; an iron pin; thence north 45 degrees east to the Brazos river; thence down said Brazos river, with its meanders to its intersection with a line extending north 45 degrees east from the beginning point mentioned above; thence south 45 degrees west along said line to the point or place of beginning, being a parcel of land upon which the street car barns are now situated; together with all the rights now enjoyed by Southern Traction company in the use of Franklin street, if extended northeasterly to the Brazos river.

And that the provisions of this paragraph be embodied in an indenture which shall be executed, acknowledged and delivered by the proper officers of said Southern Traction company and the city of Waco, respectively.

Third—That the city of Waco does hereby confirm in Texas Power and Light company, its successors and assigns, and extend until the expiration of the term ending October 22, 1960, at noon, that certain electric light and power franchise originally granted to the Waco Electric Railway and Light company by ordinance entitled "An ordinance granting the Waco Electric Railway and Light company a franchise for building, equipping, maintaining and operating an electric light and power plant, and laying pipes for conveying water for its own use to power plant with which to generate electricity to a light and motor power," passed by the city council of the city of Waco, and approved by the mayor thereof March 19, 1891.

Grants Franchise Rights.
Fourth—That the city of Waco does hereby grant to the Texas Power and Light company, its successors and assigns, the right until such time as said Texas Light and Power company, its successors and assigns, shall cease to maintain in the city of Waco a plant of equal capacity as the one originally to be constructed hereunder, for supplying electricity to consumers within and beyond the city limits, to maintain in and under the "commons," streets, alleys and public places of the city of Waco, south of street occupied by M. K. & T. Railway, and east of the Brazos river, and also including and south of the following line on the west side of the Brazos river: Beginning at such a point on the west bank of said river so that a line run substantially south will enter the first street south of Habberry street in Edgfield at the intersection of Plum street, thence along the first open street south of Archer street, of University street and of Wood street to the city limits; electric transmission lines with all proper appurtenances; pipes or towers, however, to be located and erected under the supervision of the city engineer, and subject to be controlled by direction of the board of commissioners.

Fifth—That the portion of the unopened but platted street on the east side of the Brazos river known as Webster avenue, extending from the tracks of the Houston and Texas Central railroad westerly to the Brazos river avenue, extending from the tracks of the Houston and Texas Central railroad westerly to the Brazos river is hereby vacated, and the unopened but platted street known as Naomi street, on the east side of the Brazos river, extending southerly from way company's right-of-way seven hundred and forty (740) feet is hereby vacated.

No Franchise Is Reserved.
The city does not hereby guarantee or represent that it has authority to make or extend any of the leases, franchises or permits herein referred to, or to vacate or to close any street herein attempted, and shall not and will not be responsible for any damage whatsoever that may accrue by virtue of its want of authority, or actions in excess thereof, and the grantee herein assumes the risk and releases the city from any such damages as may accrue.

Nothing herein shall revive any franchise or permit, or part of franchise or permit, that for any cause is invalid or non-enforceable, or that has in any way been forfeited, surrendered or vacated or that for any reason does not legally exist prior to the passage of this ordinance, nor shall any enormous recitation herein of purposes, previous ordinances or leases have effect or serve to change the terms of any ordinance or lease so referred to.

ROACHES IN HOMES

ETERNAL VIGILANCE NECESSARY TO KEEP THEM AWAY FROM THE HOME.

E. E. Scholl, Entomologist, Tells How to Poison the Pests—Set a Trap.

Austin, Tex., May 7.—"In spite of the large number of 'roach medicines' on the market, some of our housewives are still bothered by these insects," said Prof. E. E. Scholl, entomologist of the Texas department of agriculture, this morning. "Some of these commercial mixtures are very good, but persistent vigilance is necessary to destroy these disagreeable household pests."

"There are three kinds of roaches that often become very annoying in houses. They are the large American roach, the Oriental roach, and the German roach of Croton bug. The habits of all of these are alike. They are voracious feeders and devour everything that contains nourishment."

"Wherever possible to do so, the fumigation with hydro-cyanic acid gas is a sure destructive remedy against roaches. This method, however, is extremely dangerous, due to the poisonous nature of the gas."

"The first step to take in combatting roaches is to close up all the places of retreat of the insects with putty, cotton or old rags. Then a number of different baits should be placed where these insects feed. One that has given me a great deal of success consists of a paste made from equal parts of bitter chocolate, powdered sugar, and powdered borax."

"Another bait that is very good consists of sweetened flour paste, containing about one or two per cent of phosphorus, and spread evenly on moist bread or old dish rags. This and the above bait should be placed out late in the afternoon, for the roaches feed mainly at night."

"Large numbers of the pests can be trapped in deep dishpans or jars containing old moist rags. Sticks long enough to run from the floor to the top of the pans should be placed so that the roaches can crawl up to the rim of the trap, and in their attempt to reach the rag they will fall into the pans, from which they cannot escape. They can then be killed with hot water."

"Another good trap consists of fruit jars containing a small amount of stale beer. Stick or straw bridges should also be used in connection with these traps, as in the case of the dishpan trap."

"The following bait has been highly recommended by entomologists. Make a paste of plaster of Paris, one part, ordinary wheat bran 4 parts, and place the same where the roaches congregate at night. Have a few vessels containing clean water near the above traps, so that when they feed upon the plaster of Paris mixture they will find water, which is very necessary at that time."

"Dusting the runs of the insects with buhach or byethrum powder is also a good way to drive the roaches from the premises. It does not, as a general rule, destroy the insects."

"Where there are a number of other household insects present with the roaches, I would recommend fumigation, either with hydrocyanic acid gas or carbon bi-sulphide."

ROYAL TROUSSEAU SIMPLE.
No Hobbie Skirts in the Outfit of the Kaiser's Daughter.

(Berlin Correspondence of the New York Tribune)

The Princess Luise has finished the preparation of her bridal array and it is a marvel of modest simplicity for the daughter of an emperor. The empress advised her daughter in the selection of the nuptial gowns and accessories and there were some exciting visits to the Berlin shops. Among the outdoor costumes are three simple walking suits, two being of deep blue, the princess's favorite color. There are no "hobbie" or freak "split" devices. All the toilets—even the fine silk bridal gown—are cut in the very severest simplicity.

Princess Luise is due for election to the American society of "spugs." She has asked all her friends not to inflict on her useless, expensive gifts. Nevertheless, the number and value of the presents are large.

For Sale—Real Estate.

FARM HOMES FOR SALE—Write for details. W. E. Galtner, Rockdale, Tex.

ARE YOU LOOKING FOR AN INVESTMENT? We have exclusive sale of an ideal location on North Fifth St. that we can give an attractive proposition on for a few days only.

As a rental proposition it will pay about 12 per cent on the investment. For a nice home a party can live in it, and more than meet the payments on same by renting the extra rooms (for it has nine rooms) in it.

Don't waste time, but snatch this opportunity by the forelock. Don't be one of those who sit idly by and tell the old story "If I had only bought so and so I would have been worth a great deal today." And we can help you to greater things, for we can give a small place as the first payment.

A start must be made—act today. Call us and let us show you this property.

CRAVEN REALTY CO., 704 Amicable Bldg., New phone 489, Old phone 719.

SPECIAL—Three beautiful high terraced, east front lots—facing Waco Vista for only $2450. This is a bargain. See us at once. Craven Realty Co., 704 Amicable.

LOOK FORWARD TEN YEARS. ARE YOU GOING TO BE A BOUVENIR COLLECTOR OF RENT—RECEIPTS? We are all agreed that Waco is fast becoming a great city. Think what it will mean to you if you own a HOME. You may think that it is an extravagant statement if we say: "YOU CAN GET A HOME FREE."

But that is virtually what we do for you by our EASY PAYMENT PLAN. HOW? The explanation is simple. In taking possession of one of our modern homes, you merely continue paying rent—but apply it on the HOME, living in it while you are paying. In ten years the home, which will doubtless have enhanced greatly in value, is absolutely YOURS. You have a valuable HOME, otherwise you would have nothing but a bunch of worthless rent receipts. Determine to cast off the burden of rent. Don't put it off another day. Come to see us. Craven Realty Co., 704 Amicable.

AUSTIN AVE. INVESTMENT—Seven Franklin or one whole block—for $12,500. Craven Realty Co., 704 Amicable.

ATHENS CENTER OF FINE SECTION

IT IS A LARGE PEACH MARKET

Has Fine Prospects—Many Businesses, Strong Banks and Good Place to Live.

(Written for the Trade Edition of The Morning News.)

Athens, Tex., May 7.—Athens, in the center of the great East Texas fruit, lignite and fire clay belt, is a thriving little city of approximately 5000 inhabitants, or to be exact, 4362 according to the census taken by the city in February.

Athens is one of the oldest towns in Texas, but its growth has come about chiefly in the past few years, which is primarily due to the development of the fire brick and building tile industry; to pottery manufacturing enterprises; to the great fruit and truck industry; to the rapid general influx of people to East Texas; to the large volume of retail business developed from its surrounding territory, and to its rapidly developing wholesale business.

It differs from most of the small cities of the state in that it is a manufacturing town. Some of the largest manufacturing plants in the state being located here.

Among them may be mentioned the Athens Fire Brick company, which is the largest fire brick company in the south.

The Athens Pottery company, manufacturers of fine and plain pottery ware, is the largest pottery south of St. Louis.

The Athens Press Brick company, manufacturers of building and face brick.

There are among the largest in the state. One thousand one hundred and thirty-five cars of brick were shipped by these companies last year, besides the material used locally in the construction of fifty or more buildings. Nearly one million dollars is invested in the various manufacturing industries of the town and the list is being added to rapidly. Other companies of a similar nature operating with a capital of between $20,000 and $100,000 are the Athens Cotton Oil company, Trinity Cotton Compress, Athens Ice and Cold Storage company, Citizens Ice and Cold Storage company, A. B. Love Machinery and Foundry company, Athens Review Printing and Stationery company, Citizens Electric Light and Power company, Athens Water Works company, Farmers and Merchants Milling company, and probably a few others.

is a Wholesale Center.

Aside from its manufacturing activity, Athens is developing as a wholesale center for the adjoining territory. There are five or more wholesale concerns operating in Athens with a steadily increasing volume of business. Among them are Starr-Mayfield company, wholesale groceries; Knox Henderson, wholesale groceries and produce; LaRue & Baron, wholesale grain and produce; W. W. Jarrell, wholesale produce, and J. W. Garrett, wholesale and retail groceries.

There are between 150 and 200 retail concerns in Athens. Of these ten or more do an annual business of from $50,000 up. Among the largest are: Easterwood Dry Goods company, J. H. Garrett, J. W. Garrett, John W. Searls, Perkins Bros. company, S. M. Cain company, Richardson Brothers, Reiser & Jones, Rivers Dry Goods company and B. Frankfort Co. and J. B. Henry.

There are four large hardware companies doing an annual business each of between $40,000 and $100,000. They are Gott-Hawn-Sigler Co., Towery-Sanders-Parsons Co., E. A. Carroll and Eugene Spencer.

Athens has four banks and trust companies with a total capital and surplus of $1,550,000.

Bank deposits for February were over $350,000.

Postoffice receipts for last year were $11,379.49, an increase of over 30 per cent over the previous year.

The four banks and trust companies are:

Athens National Bank—J. T. LaRue, president; C. R. Johnson, vice president; B. Sigler, cashier; Eldred B. LaRue, assistant cashier.

First National Bank—D. R. Murchison, president; C. H. Hawn, vice president; J. W. Murchison, cashier; J. E. Neff, assistant cashier.

Guaranty State Bank—Geo. M. Wofford, president; V. I. Stirman, vice president; T. P. Faulk, cashier.

First National Trust Co.—J. W. Murchison, D. R. Murchison, C. H. Hawn, A. B. Watkins, officers.

Other Athens Enterprises.

Enterprises in Athens operating on from $10,000 to $20,000 capital are: Athens Drug company, Athens Dry Goods company, N. T. Barber, groceries; W. T. Carroll, insurance and real estate; R. L. Chalmers, T. M. Condit, groceries; W. T. Day, groceries and meat; Deen Hotel, G. W. Dowell, Easterwood Drug company, W. O. England, contractor; W. L. Faulk, capitalist; J. J. Frizzell, real estate; R. L. Gaunt, groceries; H. T. Gilliam, groceries and produce; W. T. Green, Drug company, R. M. Green, cotton; Emmett Henderson, nurseryman and florist; Athens Telephone company, T. B. Jones, manufacturer and inventor of electric radiating rings; G. W. Layton, J. M. Luckner, general merchandise; Miller & Miller, general attorneys; C. L. Murff, The Athens Inn, Athens Gents' Furnishing and Tailoring company, J. A. Murchison, general merchandise; R. W. Patterson Lumber company, L. A. Powers, general merchandise; J. J. Powers Drug company, Reiser & Jones, general merchandise; Richardson, Watkins, attorneys; Robbins Bros., wholesale produce; Royall & Henry, wholesale and retail dealers in horses and mules; Stirman Gin company, Eldred B. LaRue, stock, bond and investment broker; John A. Spencer, cattle; T. H. Barron, investments; R. D. Thompson, groceries; H. F. Underwood & Co., cotton; Warren Bros., fruit growers and exporters; J. F. Ash, fruit grower; Wofford and Wofford, horse and mule buyers; Wright & Son Transfer company, Sides & Broom, groceries, Hart & Dickerson, bakery and ice cream factory; Ed Hanson, giannan; Davis & Holloway, livestock; Ford & Lebane, stock raisers; H. D. Pickens, stockman and manager of Old Hickory hog demonstration farm; W. J. Kenyon, owner and operator of Kenyon Clay and Lignite company; C. H. Hawn Lumber company, Hart & Neff and Wm. Matthews Grocery company.

is Big Peach Market.

More peaches are shipped from Athens than any other town in the United States. Last year 1359 cars were shipped from Henderson county. The prices ranged from 7 1/2 to 90 cents per bushel f. o. b. shipping point. From 450 to 500 bushels constitute a car. Of this number of cars Athens shipped 841. (This includes side tracks and spurs adjacent to Athens.) Chandler shipped 171 cars, LaRue 58, Ash 102, Malakoff 23, Murchison 57, Poyner 9, Eustace 19.

Three hundred cars of peas were shipped from Athens last year. Over two-thirds of these were contracted for by J. B. Henry & Co., Murchison, Texas, however, has the largest pea processing plant in use in the state.

Shipments of Lignite.

Figures are not obtainable in regard to shipments of lignite, but the fuel for eight or more plants is supplied by the Kenyon mine at Athens and the Consumers Lignite company of Malakoff, a sister town a few miles to the west. The industries go a great way in furnishing Athens with building materials. Over two hundred business houses and public buildings were made of the brick manufactured by the home companies.

It may be mentioned here that the town has many beautiful public buildings, ten or more churches of various denominations, three school buildings and another soon to be erected at a cost of $40,000. Three picture shows and an opera house lend gaiety to the nights, and a new courthouse will soon be erected at a cost of $100,000. Preliminary surveys for another railroad have been made and the hills and suburban additions are dotted with new buildings under construction. Athens has been called a town of beautiful homes; some of them date back before the Civil war. In and near Athens are to be found some of the finest country clubs in the state. One of the oldest and most exclusive is the Island Fish and Game club. Probably the finest country club in the state is the Koon Creek Club. This club has an artificial lake in its preserve that contains over seven hundred acres under water. This club has seven thousand acres in their preservation and the capital invested is between forty and fifty thousand dollars. Main's lake is a beautiful place owned by some of the people of Athens. The Shetland club is a picturesque little lake and club on the banks. The membership of this club is made up for the most part of the younger set of the town. Altogether it may be said of Athens that it is a pleasant little town nestling like a gem among the East Texas hills; a model in miniature of its historic namesake; reveling in its traditions, happy in its present, and hopeful of a progressive future.

Land is Productive.

The lands in and around Axtell, speaking from an agricultural standpoint, are very productive, and the farmers and merchants are all prosperous and generally speak of being in a fair financial condition. The soil is quite varied, there being a number of different kinds, which is adapted to the successful raising of almost

AXTELL ACTIVE IN DEVELOPMENT

M'LENNAN COUNTY TOWN THAT HAS SUBSTANTIAL CONDITIONS TO SUPPORT IT.

ITS LANDS ARE PRODUCTIVE

Mercantile Houses, a Bank and Gins. People Are Happy, Peaceful and Prosperous.

(Written for the Trade Edition of The Morning News.)

Axtell, May 7.—Axtell, Texas, is located half way between Waco and Mt. Calm, Texas, or 12 miles north of Waco, on the Cotton Belt railroad. The town has an elevation of about 750 feet above the sea level, and being high and situated as it is, the people have the full benefit of the magnificent southern sea breezes that are so much in evidence during the hot summer months, thereby making a residence in Axtell very delightful, especially from a health standpoint. The citizenship of Axtell and the surrounding community is composed of Americans, Germans, Bohemians and negroes, and they are all a law-abiding, God-fearing people, and as a consequence there is peace and plenty abounding in all directions, and they are a satisfied class of people.

There is a large artificial lake just north of and adjoining the town of Axtell that affords great quantities of good, clear, pure water that is used by the Cotton Belt railroad and the city for all purposes, and about one mile further up the track from town is another and much larger lake of water that is a thing of beauty and a joy to behold. This lake covers some fifty acres of land or more, and ranges in depth from two to twenty feet. The water supply is inexhaustible and unlimited. There is delightful sport on this lake at almost all seasons of the year in the way of game fishing, as it is well stocked with a considerable extent with bass, trout and catfish. In the winter season this lake is a favorite ground for wild ducks and they furnish a good supply of wild meat for the Axtell inhabitants. In the town of Axtell the water supply for home use is obtained from surface wells and is of a healthful quality.

Axtell Public Schools.

The Axtell public schools have just closed a most successful term. Prof. R. W. Summers was the superintendent and Miss Ethel Bonner of Waco, was his assistant. This school had enrolled for this past term more than 80 pupils, and during the term there was a good average attendance daily. Axtell has a commodious and well-arranged two-story school building, which has a large and quite a useful auditorium on the second floor, which is well seated and lighted, to be used on any and all public occasions. There is a level playground containing nearly two acres in all. It is an ideal location for school purposes. The school board or trustees is composed of the following most reliable and substantial citizens of Axtell: E. W. Bird, president; Ed Savage, W. D. Thompson, W. P. Jones, Jim Sinclair, J. D. Pierce and R. A. Story. These gentlemen composing the Axtell school board are the universal choice of the people and they give entire satisfaction in nearly all their deliberations. The Axtell school is a good school and the people here are all proud of it.

The work on our building at 6th and Austin is progressing as rapidly as possible, and our furnishings are being especially designed with the idea in view of making it a pleasure for you to visit with us and look over our goods, and, by the way, we will have as complete a line of Jewelry and Pianos as is possible and will always be right up to the minute. While in our temporary location, and especially at this time, we would like to show you some of the very particular bargains we have in commencement gifts, such as DIAMONDS, WATCHES, LAVALIERS and PIANOS, and numerous other smaller articles for both young men and ladies. We extend a hearty welcome to our out-of-town friends and hope that when you are in Waco you will pay us a visit. And also remember that we will always give special attention to mail orders that are entrusted to us.

anything that comes from Mother Earth when under the control of the husbandman when he uses working energy in the cultivation and tilling of the soil. Cotton, corn and grain are the principal products; fruits, vegetables and berries of all kinds prosper and do well in this community, especially blackberries. The poultry business is quite a factor in this neck of the woods, chickens, turkeys, ducks and geese all do well here and are easy to raise. The result is that eggs are very plentiful here all the year round.

Farm lands range in price from $25 per acre to $110 per acre, and there has been considerable activity in land buying and selling in the past years. The population has been increasing of late, and life and activity seems to be the by-word in all directions.

Silos Are Being Agitated.

Silos are being agitated to a considerable extent and the use in nearby towns and precincts are making the people of Axtell sit up and take notice. It has been proven and demonstrated that where silos are used in the preservation of feedstuff it creates a saving of $10 per head in feeding of stock every ninety days. The scarcity and high price of feedstuff in the past has had its effect on these people, and the result is that in the near future silos will be very much in evidence in this part of the country, as these Axtell people say they must and will keep up with the improvement procession.

Churches of Axtell.

Rev. Hewin is the Methodist minister in charge of the Axtell church and there is quite a large membership. Services are held each Sunday and the church is situated on the south side of town.

Rev. Smith, the Baptist preacher, preaches here every first and third Sunday and there is Sunday school services every Sunday. The church is situated in the north part of town. There is an exhaustive quantity of brick dirt here and it will be utilized in the near future in the manufacture of brick.

R. A. Story, one of the oldest settlers of this precinct, is still living in Axtell. He came here in 1873 and he says he sold his first bale of cotton in Waco in 1873. Hon. A. J. Byrd being the purchaser, who was afterward mayor of Waco.

First State Bank.

The First State Bank of Axtell takes care of the banking business for the commercial interests here, and is officiated as follows: Ed Savage, president; W. Warwick, vice president; and C. H. Sloan, cashier. Directors: R. C. Thompson, John McBride, C. B. Sloan, W. Warwick and Ed Savage. It is understood the capital stock will be increased this summer in order to take care of and handle the full business.

There is one four-stand gin here owned by the Waco Cotton Oil company, and an eight-stand gin, owned and operated by the Industrial Cotton Oil company of Waco. These gins turned out more than 2,000 bales last year and the bankers and merchants of Axtell are confident there will be 5,000 bales marketed here this season, from the fact that the town is much better prepared to handle the cotton crop than ever before in the history of the town.

Mrs. Mary Casey is the kind and obliging postmistress of Axtell. She has held the position for the past twelve years, and everybody has a kind word for her.

Axtell Lumber Company.

The Axtell Lumber company is managed and operated by Chas. B. Sloan. The company is at this time building large and commodious sheds for the protection of the lumber, and the company is constantly receiving lumber and supplying the wants in this community.

Woodmen of the World.

The Woodmen of the World lodge of Axtell has a membership of 50. They have recently purchased the lot adjoining the Axtell State bank, and are at this time having a large two-story building erected. The downstairs is to be used for merchandise purposes and the upstairs for lodge purposes. It is also understood that the Odd Fellows contemplate organizing in the near future and the better citizenship is looking forward to the accomplishment of this fact with keen interest and much pleasure.

Judge G. Pilot is the justice of the peace of this precinct, with his office in Axtell.

W. P. Jones is the constable of this, the eighth precinct and is also public weigher.

Has Train Service.

Axtell has through passenger trains each way daily, the one from Waco at 7:44 a. m. and 5:56 p. m., and from St. Louis, 8:42 a. m. and 9:19 p. m. The local freight from the north is due here at 9:17 a. m., and from the south at 4:45 p. m. R. P. Hill is the station master and looks after the company's business.

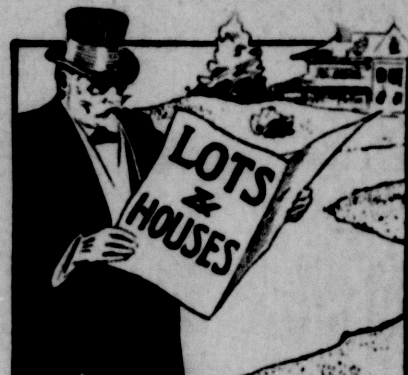

Judge Jno. McBride, a capitalist, banker and farmer, runs the Axtell hotel, where the gay and festive drummers and the traveling public are taken care of in a pleasant and comfortable manner.

R. C. Thompson is a general merchant and will in the near future vacate his house on the corner of Front street, for the purpose of removing his old building and having it replaced by the erection of a handsome and up-to-date business house.

Liquid Sunshine

Scientists tell us that all space is an ocean of ether in which our solar system swims, and that all life, animal and vegetable, is derived from the sun's energy, transmitted to our planet by this ether. Plant life organizes this energy for us in nature's laboratory. As animals we then partake of nature's bountiful store and the sun's energy. Certain fruits, nuts and sugar cane represent this energy and vitality best. We have found this great natural law, and we combine these substances with distilled water. The name we give our combination is Dr. Pepper.

Dr. Pepper is liquid sunlight. As the sun rules and governs the day, so should you govern your appetite. Eat and drink to build up the cells that are broken down by fatigue, mental or physical. Drink a beverage that promotes cell building, not one that simply deadens the sensory nerves. Drink Dr. Pepper. Solar energy-liquid sunshine. Vim, vigor, vitality—that is what Dr. Pepper means. ### CAPT. J. T. STRAIN VERY ILL

Veteran Teacher of the Waco Schools is Sick at His East Waco Home.

Captain J. T. Strain, principal of the East Waco school and the oldest teacher in the service of the Waco public school system, is very low at his residence, 901 Dallas street, East Waco. He suffered an attack of acute indigestion Tuesday of last week and has been confined to his bed since, and for the last few days has been very ill.

Yesterday afternoon the doctors pronounced Captain Strain slightly better than the day before, but little hopes are held out for his recovery.

There is probably not a better known citizen in Waco than Captain Strain. He has taught school in East Waco between thirty-nine and forty years. During the civil war he fought under General Forrest and was a captain of a company of cavalry.

Captain Strain was at school Monday of last week, the attack coming suddenly Tuesday. Two years ago he had a similar attack and while he was not so seriously ill as he is at present he recovered his health perfectly.

TO WORK FOR EFFICIENCY

Every Department of the Katy Joins in Organization to Get Best Results.

Dallas, May 7.—There was recently organized in Dallas, as a permanent help to the management, the "Katy Office Efficiency Association." With the meeting attended by men from practically every department, the work at hand was disposed of with an enthusiasm that showed every member had his heart in the matter.

Having for its object the mutual benefit and improvement of its members, maintenance of cordial relations with all departments, standardizing of office methods and forms and the attainment of the highest possible standard of efficiency, it is to promote the good of the road as well as of themselves. Its designers holding to the fact that what will benefit one will advance the interest of the other, there is to be absolute co-operation in every endeavor and that thorough harmony that brings combined effort from any association of persons banded together for a common purpose.

The first meeting of the new association is to be held May 22, and regularly every ninety days thereafter. At the organization meeting matters of importance and interest to the company, the employees and the public were considered and set down for further discussion and treatment hereafter.

Membership in the new organization consists of the chief clerk, assistant chief clerk, accounts and timekeepers in the office of each division superintendent; the chief clerk, assistant chief clerk, accountant and chief timekeeper in the office of the superintendent of motive power, assistant superintendent of motive power and master car builder; traveling and division storekeeper and the chief clerk to the general storekeeper, and chief clerks, assistant chief clerks and heads of all departments in the general offices at Dallas, Denison, Parsons and St. Louis.

Together, they make up a big and very consequential proportion of the operation of every train, the general conduct of the company's relations with the public in short every phase and feature of the system's business. Even clerks who are not members are entitled, and urged, to give ideas and, if they are worth adopting, their suggestions will be put into use.

The "Katy Office Efficiency Association" is designed not only to help the company in the discharge of its manifold and multifarious obligations, but to promote the interests of the men themselves. They are to be assisted to qualify for better positions. One of the subjects given careful attention at the organization session was the "promotion of our own men and keeping a line on good timber in our own organization."

In short, the efficiency association means just what its name implies. It has the active sympathy and help of the management and as a result of the interchange of ideas there is expected to grow out of its deliberations entire concert of action in all departmental work, thereby insuring more rapid and better service.

The new organization within the company is another of the many ideas that have been promoted by the Katy management during the past year, which have proven their usefulness, and this one is expected to add materially to the standard of the Katy service. Together they are bringing to the transportation problems of the Southwest a trained co-operation that already results in a service that is attracting the attention of all the public served and railroad men out the country.

MITCHELL TO GET PLUM.

Wilson Names Him as Collector of New York Port.

Washington, May 7.—John Purroy Mitchell's selection as collector of customs for the port of New York was made known at the white house late today. The president sent the nomination to the senate.

Mr. Mitchell is president of the New York city board of aldermen. The president sent this telegram to Mr. Mitchell:

"I am with great pleasure sending to the senate this afternoon your name as collector of the port of New York. I sincerely trust you will serve the public interest by accepting."

VISITORS COME TO SEE JOBBERS

WACO IS A WHOLESALE MARKET AND PROVES IT EVERY DAY.

PUBLISHES NAMES OF BUYERS

Many Come to Call on the Trade and to Stock Up—List of Those Yesterday.

Waco is the only wholesale market in Texas that proves that it has a wholesale market by presenting daily a list of the retail merchants of the state who visit the town to call on the jobbers.

Many buyers come to Waco. They represent the retail establishments of Central Texas and come to this city to see the wholesale men and place their orders. There is not a day passes but that the number of buyers in town is large. It is an index to the growth and prosperity of the jobbing trade of the town.

Among the out-of-town merchants visiting the various wholesale concerns of the city yesterday may be mentioned:

Sanger Brothers—Mr. Kinslow, buying for Kinslow & Reid, Oglesby; Mr. Knuckles, buying for Rountree & Co., Whitney; George Hailey, buying for Hailey Dry Goods company at Lott; Mr. Sarrazin, buying for Silva & Sarrazin at Lott; T. N. Moody of Prairie Hill, Fred Cawthon of Salado; J. H. Wilson of Culp.

"Complexion Secrets of an Actress"

In a recently issued volume bearing the above title, the author says: "Continuous use of grease paints, rouge and the like, had ruined my complexion. My skin was colorless, wrinkled, coarse and punctured with large pores. In England I heard of the virtues of mercolized wax; my first experience with this marvelous substance convinced me it was more valuable than all cosmetics combined. Now whenever my complexion begins to go wrong I get an ounce of mercolized wax at the nearest drug store, spread on a thin layer of it before retiring, washing it off next morning. The wax, after a few such treatments, seems literally to absorb the worn-out cuticle, when a brighter, healthier, younger-looking skin appears."

"For the wrinkles and enlarged pores, I began using a solution of axolite, one ounce, dissolved in a half pint of water. Bathing the face in this every day for awhile soon relieved the condition most wonderfully."

VIEW OF CAMPUS OF BAYLOR UNIVERSITY

While Baylor university is located in Waco, it is in no sense a local institution. It is a Texas institution, and it has in its supporting population the energies and loyalty of the entire membership of the Baptist general convention of Texas—the largest organization of a religious denomination in the country. Baylor university was originally located at Independence, Texas, within a few miles of the spot where the declaration of Texas independence was signed March 2, 1836.

Just before Texas became a state, the republic of Texas issued a charter in 1845 for Baylor university. At that time there were about three hundred students at the university and its four buildings were valued at $100,000. In 1856, Baylor university was moved to Waco, and Waco university was merged with it and the efforts of the Baptists of the state were devoted to the building at Baylor one of the strongest denominational educational institutions in the country.

Head Church Schools. But Baylor university standing alone is not the strength of the Baptist system of education. Baylor is not only great in its own greatness, but it is great because it is the head of the public school system of this state, so is Baylor the head of the correlated school system that is fostered by the Baptist general convention, and as this correlated school system increases in extent, and in energy, so will Baylor grow. There will never be a division of the energies of the Baptists as to the head institution of the system. Baylor will continue in that position, and will be increased from year to year as the increase of the preparatory schools make this necessary, and where it today spreads out over twenty-five acres, it will later on spread over many more.

The Correlated System. The correlated school system of the Baptist general convention of Texas was founded in 1897. It was the first of the correlated systems to be established, and it is today the largest. It was the result of the original idea of Dr. J. M. Carroll, who was engaged in the educational work of the Baptist denomination. He was the author of it, he worked out the details of its establishment, and going before his fellow members in the convention he presented it to them with an argument that was sufficiently convincing to get their support.

KATY HAS WATER ENGINEER

Tank Supply for the Big Engines is a Problem That is Considered.

Dallas, May 7.—None but the initiated know what a vital part in the question of a railroad company is played by water. To the average mind the quantity of the fluid is the only possible issue that might ever be at stake. To the railroad men who have charge of this item of transportation, quality is even more essential than the supply.

Many a great locomotive has gone "dead" at a critical period on a long run because of the fact that the water in her boilers was impure, filled with mineral salts or some other matter equally as deleterious and incapable of producing steam in sufficient volume to give the big engine the needed motive power.

Thousands of travelers who have grown impatient under the delay occasioned by a "dead" engine have never imagined the correct cause. They knew they were provoked and attributed the stop to the incapacity of the locomotive.

In a majority of the instances, perhaps, impure water was the unsolved problem that brought about their own restlessness and the chaos of all the operating staff. To reduce the delays from this cause to the lowest possible minimum and as a long step in the combined and energetic movement for a higher state of efficiency in every department of the system, the Missouri, Kansas and Texas management has created the position of water engineer.

"Treatment of water" may have a peculiar sound to those who don't know, but that is just what the water engineer is expected to do. With skillful chemists and complete laboratories to aid, the water engineer will "treat" every water supply on the system, removing from all water, where such assistance is needed, those alkaline and encrusting salt properties that tend to make water foam and leave hard substances in boilers.

A laboratory equipped with every appliance of modern science has been fitted up in the general office building of the company at Dallas and there are five "water treatment" plants already in operation at other points on the line. Other such plants are to be installed as needed.

It has been demonstrated that water, properly treated by chemists who know their business, can be made to give a maximum amount of efficiency. In addition, the hard encrusting substance that clog boilers and render an engine unfit for service in a comparatively short time are totally eliminated.

Inevitably, the danger of boiler break downs is minimized and the whole traveling and shipping public, to say nothing of dispatchers and superintendents and trainmen, are less inclined to forget the piety of their youth.

Katy's "Water Doctor" and his assistants are one of the innovations established by the new management, a change that is expected to more than counterbalance the expense and that will prove an important unit in the long list of plans for faster and safer service.

No company of the Southwest has taken so much trouble to save trouble. It is simply a big link in the long chain of steps the management is taking to raise the percentage of the system's efficiency and to please its patrons.

Haddon Case Still Mystery.

Houston, May 7.—The action of District Attorney Maury in ordering the discharge of Anderson Castle, held in jail for several days charging him with the murder of his nephew, E. P. Haddon, the night of April 26, leaves the mystery as deep as ever. Haddon was shot down about 10 o'clock at night while returning to his home with purchases from a store and at a point near his residence. "I dismissed the case against Castle," said Maury, "because the evidence against him was entirely too circumstantial and flimsy to admit of a hope of his being held."

H. Jackson Drops Dead.

Jackson, aged 72, a citizen of McKinney for 33 years and one of the wisest known horse trainers in North Texas, who suffered a stroke of paralysis at Dallas about two months ago, dropped dead at the McGary boarding house here this morning. He is survived by one brother, E. M. Jackson, at Bonham.

IN THE LOCAL COURTS

WITNESSES MUST APPEAR AND DEFENDANTS MUST MAKE GOOD ON BONDS.

So Announces Judge Denton in the County Court—Fines Several For Failure.

Judge George N. Denton of the county court yesterday fined three witnesses for contempt of court, on their failure to appear when called, and forfeited the bond of four defendants, who did not respond when their cases were called for trial.

Charles Vincent, witness in the case of Erton Hill, charged with theft, was fined $10 for contempt; Tobe McFarland, witness in Latrick Johnson assault case, fined $10, and Ed Schwartz, witness in the same case, was fined $5 for contempt.

The bond of Erton Hill was forfeited and the case reset for May 10.

Bond of Pig Hardin, charged with theft, forfeited and attachment ordered.

Bond of Latrick Johnson, charged with assault and battery and of John Thompson, charged with swindling, forfeited.

"I have had trouble in getting witnesses and defendants to appear when cases are called and I am going to put a stop to this practice," said Judge Denton. "I will insist on the forfeited bonds being made good and will fine and collect the fine of any witness who does not appear when called." The three witnesses fined for contempt paid their fines and action towards collecting the forfeited bonds will be taken immediately.

County court continues to grind and the criminal docket is fast being disposed of. There were about 150 cases on the docket at the beginning of the term May 1, and it is the intention of the court to call all cases at this term.

Not the Same.

He had attended his partner's wedding and at the reception he stepped gallantly forward to pay his respects. "I hardly feel like a stranger," he said, in his sweetest tones, addressing the bride. "In fact, I feel as though I ought to be well acquainted with my partner's wife, since he has so often done me the honor to read me extracts from his dear Susie's letters."

The faces of the husband and speaker were studied as the bride drew herself up and said, emphatically and distinctly: "I beg your pardon, sir. My name is Helen."—Milwaukee Free Press.

FLOOR SPACE IS BUSINESS NEED

Herrick Hardware Company to Extend Building on Public Square.

Plans for the expenditure of something like $25,000 on additional improvements to the main building of the Herrick Hardware company, corner of Second street and the square, have been outlined by officers of the company. Immediate construction will begin on a portion of the addition, which will be the erection of a building 50x165 feet, two stories on the square and three stories on Washington street, which will adjoin the present building on the west. Contract for the construction of this building has been let to J. B. Harrison. The work of moving out of the present building has begun and it is expected to immediately begin the demolishing of that building and the erection of the new one. This structure will be two stories on the square and will extend through the block to Washington, on which street it will be three stories in height. The new building will cost approximately $25,000. Later the entire main structure of the concern, facing 150 feet on both Washington street and the square and 165 feet on Second street, will be made four stories and a basement on Washington street and the square. This improvement will cost an additional $25,000 to $30,000.

Hadley Will Attend.
Kansas City, May 7.—Former Governor H. S. Hadley today said he expected to attend the conference of progressive republicans in Chicago. The conference, Mr. Hadley said, would be of much the same nature as the governors' conference held at Chicago a year ago, when Colonel Roosevelt was called upon to become a candidate. "I look for the conference to take some definite action, such as asking the national committee to call a republican national convention," Mr. Hadley said. "Three propositions should be considered by such a convention: "The basis of representation should

Suffragette Bomb Is Found in St. Paul's Cathedral, in London

London, May 7.—An attempt to wreck the ancient St. Paul's cathedral by a bomb early today is attributed to militant suffragettes. The keeper who conducts sight tours through the massive structure, was making his round at 8 o'clock this morning when he heard a ticking sound near the high altar. Upon investigation he found hidden a heavy parcel. He immediately placed it in water and handed it over to the police, who found a suffragette newspaper wrapped up with a bomb.

Shortly after the discovery at the cathedral, the police found a similar bomb-like package on the steps of a newspaper office in Fleet street and a tin canister, believed to contain explosives, was picked up on the steps of a wholesale drug establishment near St. Paul's.

No arrests were made.
It is doubtful whether the police have clues to the identity to the bomb placers.

Had Two Detonators.
The bomb from the cathedral was examined by the police and government experts. It was painted black and contained two detonators attached to an electrical battery. It was filled with slugs of a substance resembling coal.

There is no doubt, the police say, that it was placed by militant suffragettes or persons in their employ. The general public is admitted to the choir and aisles of St. Paul's cathedral between 11 a. m. and 3:30 in the afternoon. The cathedral was closed entirely at 6 o'clock last evening and it appears certain that the bomb was deposited before that hour.

It was found beneath a chair beside the bishop's throne at the head of the choir.

The dean conducted an evening song near the bishop's throne last evening, but neither he nor the vergers then noticed the package or heard the ticking.

Plain clothes policemen have been on duty in St. Paul's for several weeks for the express purpose of preventing militant suffragette outbreaks, but they observed nothing wrong last night.

"Arson Squads" Busy.

Suffragette "arson squads" also were busy early today. They burned down a pavilion on the cricket field at Bishop's park, Fuiham, in the west end of London, and set fire to an unoccupied house at Finchley, in the north of London. Suffragette placards and quantities of chemicals were found in the vicinity of both fires.

Another mysterious fire broke out at a timber yard in Lambeth today, the fourth of this kind in London within a few days. It was extinguished before much damage had been done.

"Small but fiendishly powerful," is the police officers' description of the bomb. When it was taken to pieces it was found it was timed to explode at midnight. Apparently only a disarrangement of the clock works prevented great damage.

Women Defeated Themselves.

London, May 7.—The defeat of the woman suffrage bill in the house of commons last night is generally attributed by the morning newspapers to the women themselves—the militant ones, whose wild, lawbreaking tactics alienated the sympathies of suffrage supporters.

The Times says that the embarrassment the militants have inflicted on the cause lay like a dead weight over the whole course of the debate on the bill in commons.

"The change in the political barometer cannot be mistaken. For some years past bills granting suffrage to women have passed their second reading with respectable majorities, they may not have been intended to get any further, and we think there has been a good deal of hypocrisy on the part of some of the members who voted for their second reading, but that success has now been reversed.

"The majority is not very large, but in the circumstances it is decisive. It tells the militants as plainly as anything can that they are on the wrong road if they wish to get votes for women."

Fling at Carnegie.

London, May 7.—Miss Mae Scott-Troy, a San Francisco suffragette, cabled today to Andrew Carnegie as follows:

"What right have you to pose as an American citizen when you are registered as a voter in the parish of Dornoch, in the county of Sutherland, Scotland? You are voter number eleven on the official list. Why did King Edward offer you a dukedom?"

Mr. Carnegie is described on the voting list as "O'Gentleman, place of abode Skibo castle."

Reception to Mrs. Catt.

London, May 7.—The National Union of Women's Suffrage Societies gave a reception tonight in honor of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt of New York, president of the International League of Women Suffragists.

There was a very large attendance of prominent members of the organization.

Cruisers Coming Home.

Washington, May 7.—The armored cruisers Tennessee and Montana, which were sent to the coast of Asia Minor last November when the Balkan war situation made fair to endanger American life and property, have been ordered to return to American waters. Both ships will be placed in the Atlantic reserve fleet. The Tennessee, at Algiers, will sail directly for home. The Montana will proceed to Algiers from the Syrian coast, and will make the homeward trip, followed by the collier Brutus.

—A Piano and a Modern Player—

All in One Instrument

At our Informal Concerts this week we are demonstrating a modern Player-Piano which we are offering at a VERY LOW PRICE and on the most REASONABLE TERMS.

Come in and see this instrument and enjoy some good music.

Your pleasure in the ordinary piano is nearly always limited to a few pieces that are played over and over until you have lost interest in them.

In many homes the piano is merely an ornament, SILENT and USELESS, for the reason that none of the family are skilled performers.

This is Different if you own an instrument that is both a Piano and a Player-Piano.

The above illustration shows one of our Player-Pianos with panels closed and used as an ordinary piano.

The lower picture shows the same instrument with a Player-Piano.

It is a Player-Piano because it makes a machine out of him.

A Woman's Piano, for the reason that she can play it either by hand or with the music roll.

The Children Enjoy it and soon grow familiar with all the best music.

Attend our concerts—learn more of our Player-Pianos and music roll service.

JUST AS A SUGGESTION—Suppose you catch here any hour of the day and select ten or a dozen rolls which you wish to hear. These rolls will be demonstrated to you quite informally and you may play them yourself if you like.

—If you have an old piano that is useless to you—why not exchange it with us for a Player-Piano?

TOBY'S COLLEGE IS FACTOR HERE

IN TWENTY-THREE YEARS IT HAS REACHED FULL STATURE.

STARTS WITH TWO STUDENTS

Soon to Have Own Home—To Be at Fourth and Webster—Four Stories, Costing $80,000.

From a night school of two students, taught in the dining room of the home of Edward Toby, to an all-year round night and day school, employing from ten to fifteen teachers, with an average annual attendance of 450 students, Toby's Practical Business College has grown to be an interesting adjunct to the financial, commercial and educational interests of Waco and Central Texas.

Twenty-three years ago Edward Toby, then cashier of the Provident National bank, agreed to instruct two young business men in bookkeeping. This instruction was given in his dining room in the evenings. Soon others desired to join the class, and it became necessary for Mr. Toby to seek quarters. He located in a room where now stands the Independent Telephone building. The class grew, a larger room in the Provident building was secured; success followed and two rooms were taken. A little later, demands of students resulted in the leasing of rooms over the building now occupied by the Cooper Grocery company. Success continued to follow the Toby flag, and fourteen years ago the present four-story building at 215-217 South Fourth street was leased, and has remained the home of the institution since.

Has Outgrown Its Quarters.

The school has again outgrown its quarters and the college is to build its own home. For this purpose Mr. Toby has purchased a lot at Fourth and Webster street, now valued at $30,000, and a very desirable location. On this lot is proposed to construct a building 165x60 feet, four stories, of concrete and steel. When completed the building will be the largest, most complete, most modern and most elaborately equipped exclusive business college building in the United States. It will have light on every side, contain large and elegantly furnished class rooms, lecture halls, library, fraternity lodge room, large gymnasium, spacious offices, bank rooms, elegant reception rooms; in fact, it will be complete in every sense of the word—an ornament to Waco and a credit to the state of Texas.

To raise the money for the structure the college officials are issuing building and site stock to the amount of $50,000. The stock is in the nature of twenty-year bonds, each bond of the value of $100, and bearing 4 per cent interest. This bond is secured by the building, the site property and Toby's Practical Business College as a corporation. The bond is redeemable at any time by the college and is exchangeable dollar for dollar for schooling. Almost one-third of the bonds have been sold and $45,000 worth have been retired. Outside people are buying the bonds, and they are having a ready sale.

Statistics of the Work.

Toby's college has possibly been the means of bringing more people to live in Waco than any one other institution. As a force in the financial and business life of the city its power is felt as shown by the following statistics, taken from the register of the school: The average daily attendance at the night and day school, 350; actual number of students in attendance at the school during the past ten years, 4500; average annual attendance for ten years, 450 students per year; average number of students outside of Waco, 66.2-3 per cent; average time for each student, six months; average amount spent by each student, including tuition, $250; grand total yearly average amount spent in Waco by outside students, $75,000; total amount spent in Waco by outside students in past ten years, $750,000. In addition to this amount, money spent by families coming here to visit students and placing them in school in ten years will bring this sum to $1,500,000. By reason of the college hundreds of families have taken up their residence here. Toby's school has been the means of advertising Waco throughout the United States; its business comes from all parts. The faculty now consists of ten teachers, and during the past months this number is increased to fifteen. The college has had a wonderful success, and has turned out many men who are now prominent in the business life of the state.

PLAN TO RAISE POSTMASTERS

Second and Third Class to Be Placed in the Classified Service.

Washington, May 7.—Postmaster General Burleson announced today it was the purpose of President Wilson and himself to take into the classified service probably during the next year all postmasters of the second and third classes. Fourth class offices already have been covered by executive order.

The postmaster general declared President Taft's action in putting the fourth class postmasters in the classified service was not sufficient and that the mere placing of a "great horde of persons" in the classified service was not in conformity with the spirit of the civil service, where there were no tests to determine the merits of the applicants.

The new order retains in the classified service all fourth class postmasters but specifically requires a competitive examination and a selection from among the first three eligible applicants.

The order places the age limit for appointees at 55 years.

Mr. Burleson indicated that the Wilson administration wishes to take the fourth postmasters out of politics, but points out that Democrats, as well as Republicans, will have an opportunity to show their fitness.

IF THE EYE SAYS ONE THING AND THE TONGUE ANOTHER

You Will Believe the Former—The Eye is the Most Valuable of All Human Organs, Yet the Most Abused and Neglected, Says Dr. W. B. Georgia.

Of all the endowments of the Creator, the eye is the most valuable. It respects neither age nor rank, poverty nor riches, learning nor power. It speaks all languages, conversing as much as the tongue, with the advantage that it needs no dictionary. If the eye says one thing and the tongue another, you will believe the former. There are asking eyes, asserting eyes, prowling eyes and eyes full of fate, some of good and some of sinister omen. It is a positive index of character, disposition and feeling. Have you not seen it flash with indignation, kindle with enthusiasm, start with fright, leer with villainy, droop with sadness, fire with revenge, twinkle with merriment or beam with love? None but he who has lost it appreciates its value. Samson with his eyes put out was weaker than the dwarf.

While the eye is conceded by all to be the most valuable of the entire human organism, yet it is the most abused and neglected.

We know of people who will buy all sorts of wearing apparel, beautify their homes and spend large sums for luxuries, etc., and then go to the hand-me-down counter and purchase a two-bit pair of glasses when the eyes begin to call for help. The glasses not only mar the features and make the face look hideous, but injure the eyesight as well.

Go to the blind asylums and ask the victims of ophthalmia the value of an eye and then see if you will go on stumbling and blundering with regard to its preservation, trusting the eyeglass counter man, the inexperienced optician and the peddlers for its protection.

The eye is so closely and intimately connected with not only the brain, but the entire nerve system, that the slightest impairment leads to the loss of sight and causes many nervous afflictions. Frontal headache, dizziness, neuralgia in the temples, pains in the back of the head extending down into the shoulders and spine, nervousness and many cases of insomnia are directly caused by the impairment of vision, and will yield to no other treatment than properly prescribed glasses. When your eyes are calling for assistance, why not go to Dr. W. B. Georgia, the expert eyesight specialist?

He is a graduate of optometrical science and has had over twelve years' experience in his practice. That he is thoroughly competent in his work and honorable and upright in his dealings is well substantiated by over twenty thousand people in all parts of the United States who are wearing glasses prescribed by him.

To find his place look for the big electric spectacle sign—Dr. W. B. Georgia & Co., Optometrists & Lens Grinders, 321 Austin street, opposite Sanger Bros. Our service is the most expert—our prices the most reasonable.

DR. W. G. TAYLOR HAS SOME THINGS TO SAY

Well Known Veterinarian, Educated at Famous University, Now Wealthy Stockman, Talks.

Here is a story of a Fort Worth doctor, widely known in this section of the state, that must carry with it weight and conviction. Dr. Taylor is the owner of a fine ranch near Stockton, Texas, and is a practicing veterinary surgeon. He is a native of England and a graduate of the famous Cardiff, Wales, University, having finished there seventeen years ago. Dr. Taylor says:

"I have suffered severely for the last year with a complication of stomach and kidney trouble. Two weeks ago I began taking Plant Juice and now feel that I am all right again. I am recommending it to my friends. Plant Juice is the world's latest, safest, most efficient and reliable nerve tonic, revitalizer and general invigorant. It banishes pain, weakness, dullness and discouragement and in their place brings brightness, energy and strength. It will do you more good than a month spent on the farm. Those who take Plant Juice will find the change comes rapidly and the results are lasting. Men and women whose nerve force is gone, who are run down from work, worry or other causes, who suffer with stomach, liver, kidney and blood derangements, should lose no time in trying Plant Juice. For sale at the Old Corner Drug Store."

CONTROL

The clutch on the Excelsior is operated by means of positive steel rods and forged connections applied to the left-hand grip and is firmly locked in or out of gear by simply turning grip over center either way.

The throttle and valve lift are attached to the right-hand grip. By this method the rider always has his machine

WACOANS HEAR RARE CONCERT

St. Louis Orchestra Is Enjoyed, but Not Liberally Received—Miss Duncan Sings.

We can build here a "great city" without acquiring more than the fundamentals of a metropolitan education generally during the process, of course; and while we have a public chronicle liberal in the use of "great city" soft soap and trading in corner lots continues brisk we take it that as much as any reasonable citizen of Waco ought expect. However, this critic confesses to an unreasonable in this regard: He believes when Waco is given the opportunity for inspiration in that which is worth while and education in that which is desirable in the life of every man who can bring himself occasionally to look away from the cash drawer—meaning good music in the company of educated men—Waco should respond if for no other reason than as a matter of civic pride and self-respecting citizenship. The support, or lack of it, noted at the concert of the Saint Louis Symphony Orchestra in the Auditorium last night was a far from creditable to Waco's reputation for public hospitality; certainly it was no credit at all to Waco's reputation as a university community and a community of far more than the average proportion of educated men and women. It may be the fact that the theatrical season in the Auditorium closed more than a month ago was responsible for the meagre audience; surely one who knows the accustomed liberality, and sees the evidences of culture in the homes of this city is reluctant to believe that the absence of ragtime and turkey trot din from a symphonic program kept Wacoans away. One almost could have wished such stuff had been advertised and a program of good music forced, as it were, on those who would have come to shuffle their feet in time with "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee."

Apologizing for the above to those appreciative persons who heard St. Louis' admirable symphony orchestra last night, these are chiefly to extend to Mr. H. J. Spanell, instructor in vocal music in Baylor, our most cordial congratulations for bringing the musicians to Waco. This young educator has been the leader in the effort to tutor Waco in good music. Through his unselfish effort this city has received several singers and players of high rank the season past. In one or two instances, when the concerts were given in the university, the response has been generous; when the concerts were given in the theatre—Mr. Blapham, for example—the response has been inexcusably narrow. The city should be grateful to Mr. Spanell; it may be the city in time will realize this. It is to hope he will be able to bring the St. Louis talent again to Waco next winter, after its return engagement in Houston and during the heart of the theatre season. Music of the sort it gives appears to be needed here and he may count on the aid of this newspaper to herald the event widely and often.

The concert was unique in the history of the city's musical events; thus our regret for the poverty of patronage. A symphony, three other distinctively orchestral numbers, and accompaniments to vocal and violoncello solos comprised the program, conducted brilliantly by Mr. Max Zach. The symphony was Tchaikovsky's sixth (Pathétique), exquisitely beautiful and impressive in its range of mind and expression from melancholy to peace and resignation, in the closing days of the unique composer; remarkable for its stirring chords in violin music. By the same composer, but widely different in effect and movement, the "Nutcracker Suite" especially pleased—probably the most colorful of Tchaikovsky's work; the dance of the fairy Sugar-Plum ("Danse de la Fee Dragée"), the Russian Dance, the Arabian dance, the dance of the reed instruments ("Danse de Mirtilons") and the waltz of the flowers being the unusual arrangement repaid. It may be phrased, with description, "Valse des Fleurs" was irresistible, in rhythm and beauty of tone.

Mr. H. Max Steindel, violoncelloist of rare skill and sentiment in his rendition, was accompanied by Max Bruch's "Kol Nidrei," the canticle of the service of the Jewish faith on the eve of Yom Kippur, day of atonement, that is a masterpiece of beauty in the exemplification of that spirit in worship that "ranges from humility and abasement to peace and hope." For encore Mr. Steindel played Saint Saens' "The Swan," a soft, sweet reverie.

The overture to Wagner's "Rienzi" and the second of Liszt's stirring Hungarian rhapsodies were the other orchestral numbers. For each the audience gave notable applause and Conductor Zach, whatever he may have thought of the paucity of the attendance, must have concluded those who did come were gratified and genuinely enthusiastic.

The reception accorded Miss Beulah Imogene Duncan, soprano, was well deserved and most pleasing to those in the audience who have enjoyed her splendid singing in concerts and entertainments in this city, of less ambitious and important nature. Her fine personality, the bright, natural young womanliness of her carriage and the enthusiasm of her response to the greeting of her friends did much to mitigate the disappointment many might have felt that her voice was not at its best last night, for, obviously, she was not in the best of health to master the difficult song selected—Moszkowski's waltz in E major. It is a song that makes unusually exacting demand on a soprano's ability for sustained strength in the upper register, especially the "swirl"—if an untechnical terming of it may be permitted. But Miss Duncan sang the waltz well, if she did not sing it as brilliantly as her own ability leads one to believe she could in circumstances that would do thorough justice to that ability. Her encore was Parson's "The Gray Duck," a quiet, tender song that brought out rather more assuredly the clear sweetness of her voice. Mr. Frederick Fischer, assistant conductor, was at the piano for the encore number; the orchestra accompanied Miss Duncan in the waltz song.

Proves She's Alive.

Boston, May 7.—Miss Mabel E. Allen of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has proven herself alive after the Suffolk county probate court, the state supreme court and the United States supreme court had declared her dead, received $2,000 yesterday as her share of the property left by her grandfather, Jonathan Mowry.

Local News Notes

Mrs. Christine McConnell Rousseau's song recital, which was to take place on Thursday of this week, has been postponed owing to the indisposition of Mrs. Rousseau. The recital is to be given a week later, Thursday, May 15, at Carroll chapel. As has been announced, Mrs. Rousseau will be assisted by Mr. Joseph E. Evans, pianist, and Miss Myrtle Thompson, reader.

Sheriff S. E. Fleming is to make each of his deputies a present of a hat. Yesterday he ordered through a local dealer five hats of an extreme "summer variety." They are of the German Basket Weave, said to be the coolest hat manufactured. Soon Deputy Morgan, Jenkins, Roberts, Office Deputy Oliver, and Jailer Costley, as well as the sheriff himself, will appear bedecked in their new headgear. "Mr. Costley, we want you to marry us," said Jonas Mack, as he entered the county jail building early last evening, leading the woman of his choice. Jailer Costley explained that his authority did not include that of tying the nuptial knot, but summoned Justice J. J. Fudgett. The justice performed the ceremony which made Jonas Mack and Anna Jefferson man and wife, the services being conducted in the office of the jail building. The parties are Negroes.

The train on which the Waco delegates to the W. C. T. U. convention at San Antonio left Tuesday morning was wrecked when two hours out of San Antonio and their arrival in the Alamo City was delayed for four hours. W. C. Pyffe received a letter yesterday from Mrs. Pyffe telling of the wreck. Mrs. Pyffe, Mrs. Fannie Roberts and others from Waco; also Dr. Poecua, were aboard the train. No one was injured. A spreading rail caused the wreck.

F. H. Cook, said to also be known as J. B. McDonald, was arrested yesterday morning by Sheriff Fleming and Deputy Lee Jenkins on information from Dallas to hold him. A charge of forgery in two cases are said to be pending against him in Dallas. W. E. Strait, deputy sheriff from Dallas, reached the city yesterday and will return Cook to that place.

A. Stolaroff of El Paso, who is en route to New York, is spending a couple of days in Waco with his daughter, Mrs. Harry Hyman.

COTTON GOES HIGHER WHEAT IS STRONGER STOCKS CLOSE STRONG

CAUSED BY APPREHENSION OF DROUGHT IN THE EASTERN BELT.

Closing Prices Show Reactions—Final Tones to Steady—Closes Shows Not Gains.

New York, May 7.—The cotton market was higher today on covering and a fair centering demand, which seemed to be promoted by apprehensions of drought in the eastern belt and the less favorable average of private crop reports.

Closing prices showed favorable reactions, but the final tone was steady and last prices still showed net gains of from 1 to 11 points.

The market opened firm at an advance of 5 to 9 points, in sympathy with better Liverpool cables than expected and active months sold 5 to 9 points higher right after the call on covering by some of yesterday's late sellers, who evidently were disappointed by the failure of early weather news to show the showers predicted for the eastern belt yesterday.

Realizing and selling for a turn on rumored showers in northwest Alabama caused reactions of 4 or 5 points shortly after the call, but the official eastern belt forecast was for continued clear and cooler weather, and prices firmed up again.

In addition to covering, there appeared to be considerable demand from abroad as well as support from local bulls or reactionists, and there were numerous private reports from east of the river indicating that cotton was getting a poor stand owing to the low temperatures and the dry weather.

Moreover, reiterated predictions of large shipments from the local stock were colored to some extent by the fact that the certificated supply here already has lost 11,000 bales since the end of April and with trade accounts from the continent more optimistic. There was also talk of a considerable July short interest still outstanding in the local market.

After showing a net advance of from 10 to 16 points, the market turned easier under renewed reports of rains in Alabama, unfavorable private crop advice from Vicksburg and Memphis, realizing by early buyers and considerable southern selling.

Closing prices were 5 to 7 points off from the best, in consequence, but offerings were well taken at the decline.

New Orleans, May 7.—The cotton market had a steady undertone today with sentiment less bullish than early in the week.

Professional traders were more inclined to take the long side, but they were satisfied with very moderate profits and their realizing checked the upward movement in the afternoon.

Shorts were inclined to cover on complaints of low temperatures over a large part of the belt and the continued lack of moisture in the Atlantic states.

No great volume of business was done and the market was a waiting appearance at times. The opening was steady at an advance of 3 to 5 points on favorable cables.

The weather map was not any too favorable.

The market gradually rose until around noon it stood 13 to 16 points over yesterday's last figures. This was the high level of the day.

Buyers of the early hours took their profits and the market fell off, closing steady at a net gain of 5 to 13 points.

The scope of the market underwent a decided change today, many of the telegrams and letters circulated tending to show that the new crop is getting a much later start than has been expected right along.

New Orleans, May 7.—Cotton futures opened steady at an advance of 3 to 5 points on much better cables than due and on the absence of needed rains in the eastern portion of the cotton region. Temperatures over the belt were also rather lower, according to the reports received by bullish traders. Selling in the early trading was moderate and a small demand secured 10 to 15 points up. At the end of the first half hour the market stood 5 to 9 points over yesterday's close.

GOOD EXPORT SALES OF CEREAL HELPS A PREVIOUSLY WEAK MARKET.

Corn and Oats Are Higher—Provisions Close Irregular—Large Sales of Lard.

Chicago, May 7.—Good export sales of wheat today gave strength to a previously weak market. Closing figures showed a net gain of 1/4c for July and September, but May was at a net decline of 1/4c. Corn scored a net uplift of 1/4c to 1/2c. Oats finished at a net advance of 1/4c to 1/2c, but provisions closed irregular 2 1/2c off to 5 cents up.

The change from weakness to strength in wheat came in the final hour. Reports of export sales last night and today placed the total at 250,000 bushels. When this was made public the market was already recovering from early weakness, the uplift being helped along by purchases on the part of traders who had oversold.

Thereafter considerable activity marked trading and prices showed firmness, easing off a shade in final figures.

Speculative buying lifted corn. Reports that the Argentine corn harvest was hindered by rains was an additional bullish influence.

Fears of injury to oats by dry weather in Illinois and Indiana caused the upturn noted in that market.

Provisions, after a weak opening, improved, being helped through the whole list by large speculative buying of September lard.

BEARS ARE SUCCESSFUL AT THE OPENING OF SESSION WEDNESDAY.

New York Central Sells Below Par for the First Time Since 1908.

New York, May 7.—After a day of mixed movement in which no well defined trend was discernible, the stock market became distinctly strong in the final trading and closed with substantial gains for many of the important stocks. At the opening of the session bear traders attempted to carry further the decline of yesterday.

They were successful in forcing down prices temporarily, but later met with determined opposition which brought about a smart advance. The demand fell off and movements thereafter were uncertain until the final outburst of buying which lifted prices to the highest of the day. Speculative interest again centered in the Harriman stocks whose heaviness in the early trading was a disturbing feature.

Southern Pacific broke to 93 1/2, a new low price since 1908. That stock and Union Pacific were leaders in the late upturn, being helped by unconfirmed reports that the Pacific management had arranged for quick compliance with the supreme court's dissolution decree, and that the distribution of Union Pacific holdings of Southern Pacific stock would be taken by a syndicate already arranged.

Weakness of stocks other than the Harriman issues acted as a drag on the market.

New York Central sold below par for the first time since 1908. Several other issues made new low records.

London bought stocks here moderately, its purchasing being estimated at about 10,000 shares.

The bond market showed a distinct upward tendency. Total sales, par value, $2,000,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

LIVESTOCK.

Fort Worth, May 7.—Sellers asked for concessions in the cattle division and buyers were unwilling to grant anything better than steady rates in view of lower markets north. As a result the trade was not active, but most of the supply had gone southward by noon. All classes of stuff looked steady.

Hog receipts were limited to 2100 head and quality was good. The market opened steady but eased off to the extent of a nickel and the average was a shade weaker than on Tuesday.

Best stuff commanded $8.50 and the bulk brought $8.30 to $8.47.

Sheep house receipts reached 9000 head, the largest run of the year to date. Several decks were of a good sort, but quite a liberal quota of the supply consisted of common and medium fleeced stuff.

The market was about 15 cents lower and slow at the decline.

Cattle receipts 400; beef steers

HOW MRS. BROWN SUFFERED

During Change of Life—How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a Well Woman.

Iola, Kansas.—"During the Change of Life I was sick for two years. Before I took your medicine I could not bear the weight of my clothes and was bloated very badly. I doctored with three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle. Before it was gone the bloating left me and I was not so sore. I continued taking it until I had taken twelve bottles. Now I am stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the washing. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold. I cannot praise it enough. If more women would take your medicine there would be more healthy women. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. D. H. Brown, 809 N. Walnut St., Iola, Kan.

Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

MAN WOUNDED IN SWORD DUEL

Son of Paris Deputy Cut in Breast. Will Fight Again When Well.

Paris, May 7.—A sword duel arising out of a quarrel three years ago, was fought today between H. C. Berger, son of a Paris deputy, and George Breittmayer, both noted fencers. Berger received a serious wound in the right breast.

As under the French law no duel may be fought in secret, the combat at the Chateau D'Orly was witnessed by 50 well known Parisians and a large body of freepressers.

Breittmayer afterward visited his wounded opponent and a reconciliation was effected.

The duel had been delayed, owing to the marriage of Berger.

A short time ago he quarreled with another man and challenged him to a fight, but, according to the French code of honor, the duel could not be fought until he had first crossed swords with Breittmayer.

The second duel will take place as soon as Berger has recovered.

CARD OF THANKS.

To Our Friends: My children and I are deeply appreciative of the many tokens of sympathy and love which you have brought to us in these days of our great sorrow for the loss of the dear husband and father who was taken from us so suddenly know how kindly ministrations have softened our grief. We thank you and pray that our Father may spare you from such sorrow. We meekly bow under the rod and no question comes to our chastened hearts as to the Providence by which our loved one was taken, but if any have suffered more it was not because their loss was greater, for truer, gentler, tenderer husband and father was never claimed by death. Again we thank you and shall, with the memory of our great loss, treasure your loving sympathy.

MRS. JOHN A. GLENN AND CHILDREN.

CARD OF THANKS.

To Our Friends: We gratefully acknowledge the many expressions of interest and sympathy from our friends in the suffering and sorrow that has come to us as the result of the disastrous accident of last Sunday afternoon. We never quite so well understood how tender and beautiful are the offices of friendship, how much of suffering they can assuage, how much of sorrow they can soften. If in our memories there shall abide a shadow of the tragedy of last Sunday, the recollection of your sympathy and kindly ministrations will take away the pain of it and throw over it a glow and warmth that will rob it of its horror. With all our hearts we thank you.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN F. ROWE.

SCHOOL BOARD COUNTS VOTE

Called Session to Hold and Report Declared—Certificate Ruling is Made.

The school board met in called session in the board room at 10:30 a. m. yesterday. Secretary J. C. Lattimore furnishes the following report of the meeting:

Present, Chairman J. C. West, J. B. Morrison, W. B. Brazelton, W. E. Dar- den, K. H. Ayneworth, S. H. Smith, E. Rotun, Supt. J. C. Lattimore, Clerk E. H. Vaden and Dr. N. A. Olive.

The board instructed Mr. Vaden to see City Engineer Byars again with a view to getting a reliable survey of the North Seventh street school property. Mr. Vaden was also requested to examine the deed again to see in which the title of the property was vested.

The vote for the school trustee election on May 1 was canvassed and found to stand as follows: K. H. Ayneworth 692, W. B. Brazelton 688, N. A. Olive 686, S. H. Smith 684, Mrs. T. H. Claypool 408, Mrs. W. C. Harmon 423, W. W. Lattimore 324, J. M. Nash 351, D. M. Wilson 1 and J. J. Powers 1.

Thereupon Ayneworth, Brazelton, Olive and Smith were declared duly elected for the ensuing two years.

These gentlemen were requested to qualify in the next few days so that the board at its next meeting might organize for the ensuing year.

The resignation of Miss Minnie Elliott, a grade teacher, was read and accepted.

The superintendent was authorized to make a temporary appointment of a substitute to fill her place for the remaining weeks in the present term.

The superintendent was instructed to secure the blue room of the city hall for the graduating exercises of the colored high school, failing in this, he was authorized to secure another suitable place paying a small fee if necessary.

The superintendent was authorized to have at the close of the school term suitable exhibits of the industrial work in both high schools and the Central Grammar school.

The board expressed itself as desirous of securing for the board room portraits of the former president and the retiring president of the board.

A certificate regulation was adopted under which applicants for teacher positions in the future shall hold grade or permanent certificates.

Teachers elected under emergency conditions not holding state certificates may be examined by the city board of examiners and granted a city certificate valid for two years at the end of which time they must have secured state certificates.

Teachers now holding city first grade certificates may raise them to permanent ones by completing a prescribed course of professional study. They are allowed two years in which to raise their first grade certificates to permanent certificates.

TROUBLE OVER RED FLAG.

Authorizing of Ohio Town and Schools Are in a Mix-Up.

East Liverpool, Ohio, May 7.—Continued controversy between the patriotic societies of the city and the patriotic societies, over whether the societies should fly a red flag from their headquarters, reached a crisis today when Mayor Marshall ordered the fire department to remove the offensive flag.

It was taken down, but within half an hour another red flag was flying from the same staff.

At noon parole under the earliest headquarters were filled with people anxiously awaiting the next move of the authorities.

The Committee declared they would resist any attempt to remove their banner.

Old Hollander Is Dead. New York, May 7.—The death of William A. Townsend, for nearly five years secretary to the late Senator Sanger, president of the Southern railroad, occurred at his home in Brooklyn Monday night. He was 80 years old. He was widely known among railroad officials of the country and at the time of his death was secretary of the annual conference of the Southern. He was 55 years old.

Pupils Win Victory. New York, May 7.—Fifty hundred pupils on strike at the City School high school won recognition of their cause today. The students struck the school building after noon and the quality of the fare. Also the students may they are dissatisfied with the "same old same" song every day and want "better music."

Struck to Make a Protest. Kalamazoo, Mich., May 7.—In the presence of thousands of persons and hundreds of Catholic priests and nuns, Father P. A. O'Brien of the city today made a domestic disturbance during mass after noon and the order of Pope Pius X. Archbishop of Chicago of Chicago.
